Clothing Up, Repairs More

WASHINGTON (UPI) —In spite of a sharp drop in food prices, the cost of living rose in September by two tenths of one per cent, the government reported today.

A decline of six-tenths of one per cent in over-all food prices from August was more than offset by a continued rise in costs of clothing and a variety of services, such as medical treatment and home repairs.

The two-tenths of one per cent increase in the Consumer Price Index, which is based on 1957-59 price levels, was the smallest since March.

The index stood at 117.1 at the end of September, meaning it cost $11.71 to buy the same goods and services that $10 bought some 10 years ago.

Even though the September rise was the smallest since Spring, the news could increase the heat on Congress to pass the tax increase that President Johnson says is needed to prevent inflation.

Wholesale prices, which economists consider a better inflationary storm signal, advanced one tenth of one per cent in September, but were down one tenth of one per cent in October, according to preliminary figures.

But the key index of industrial commodities, which had been stable earlier this year, registered an increase in September for the third straight month. It advanced two-tenths of one per cent. Another rise of two tenths of one per cent appears to be in the cards for October.

Arthur Ross, commissioner of labor statistics, told a news conference that the jump in industrial commodity prices, plus a recent acceleration in consumer prices, "both corroborate the need for a tax increase."

While food prices were going down —as they often do in the early fall —costs went up for clothing, gasoline, used cars, tires, furniture, appliances, doctor and dentist fees, hospital charges, home repairs, and rates also rose on property taxes, insurance, rents, electricity and parking lot rates.

MOST OIL FIRES OUT

Egyptians Report Battling Planes

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Egyptian antiaircraft batteries opened fire three times today on what a spokesman said were Israeli aircraft flying high above the Suez oil refineries set ablaze Tuesday by Israeli shelling.

Hundreds of weary firemen managed by today to extinguish all but one of the fires which at one time could be seen 40 miles away.

The fires knocked out up to 80 per cent of Egypt's oil production facilities, but one official of the Suez Refinery Co., which suffered less damage than the neighboring El Nasser Refinery, said some operations could resume within three days.

The Israeli planes were reported over Suez City at 3 a.m., at 9:30 a.m. and again at 11:15 a.m.

Egyptian officials said Israeli reconnaissance planes flew over yesterday but denied the planes strafed firemen at the blaze. British television reporter Sandy Gall who was at the scene also said there were no strafing attacks.

Officials of the two burned out refineries put the loss at $50 million, without taking any account of the cost to the nation's economy.

UPI correspondent Michael Dennigan reported from Cairo that Soviet Deputy Premier Marshal Matvei Zahkarov flew home today from a four-day visit with a military mission that arrived one day after the Israeli destroyer Elath was sunk by missiles.

President Gamal Abdel Nasser met with Soviet Ambassador Sergei Vinogradov who had been briefed earlier on the shelling of the oil refineries.

The Soviet officials departed as Egypt awaited the arrival at Port Said and Alexandria of most of Russia's 15-ship Mediterranean fleet.

Meanwhile the United Nations Security Council today sought a long-range peace formula in the Middle East crisis after unanimously approving a stop-

Navy Hits Red Power

SAIGON (UPI)—U.S. Navy planes bombed Hanoi's main power plant today in the third consecutive day of all out air war against the North Vietnam war potential. Gen. William C. Westmoreland said the raids had "inflicted great damage on the North Vietnamese Air Force."

In raids Tuesday and yesterday against the Paul Doumer bridge in Hanoi, Haiphong's power plant and MIG airfields at Phuc Yen and Hoa Lac, both near Hanoi, the American planes destroyed or damaged 23 MIG fighters at a cost of seven planes and seven pilots.

In Saigon a spokesman issued figures for the week ending Oct. 21 which showed American casualties had climbed for the third straight week to 1,149—193 killed, 7 missing and 949 wounded to bring total casualties for the war to 14,100 killed, 89,451 wounded and 791 missing, many of them pilots over North Vietnam. South Vietnam losses last week were 81. Other Allies lost 7 dead and the Communists 1,227.

Only one major ground action was reported. A spokesman said Korean and South Vietnamese troops had trapped 300 to 350 Viet Cong in the Ninh Hoa coastal area 200 miles north of Saigon and were systematically wiping them out. Communist

Send Doves Into Field

EDITOR'S NOTE: Antiwar demontrators demand the bombing of North Vietnam be stopped. The same argument is raised inside the Senate and other forums as a first gesture toward peace. But in Vietnam, the men fighting the war feel otherwise. UPI combat correspondents sampled serviceman opinion. Here is their report.

SAIGON (UPI)—The tired and muddy yunog Marine had just returned from the frontier forts along the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ) and a month of North Vietnamese shelling.

PFC. James B. Bassano, 19, from Philadelphia, was irritated at the question occupying much of the thoughts of Americans back home.

"We should get all the people who say 'stop the bombing' and take them up to the DMZ and let them stay at a place like Con Thien where they're hit every day with mortars and everything," he said.

Bassano was one of 100 American soldiers, sailors, Marines and airmen sampled about the bombing controversy.

The poll showed U.S. fighting men overwhelmingly opposed to a pause—unless there were concrete assurances from Hanoi that it would lead to peace negotiations.

Only two of the 100 wanted it stopped—and both of them were men newly arrived in Vietnam who had not yet reached their duty stations.

Slightly less than half were officers. There were 60 career men, the rest draftees and volunteers who expect to leave the service after their hitch.

Maj. Robert P. Morris, 35, Melrose, Fla., who is on his second tour in Vietnam, said bombing pauses have been tried before.

"They produced very questionable results," he said.

"Everytime I've seen us give in to the enemy or compromise, like a truce, it's a truce for us, but not for the enemy," said Capt. Robert N. Leary, 24, Buffalo, N.Y.

Rear Adm. Frederick H. Michaelis, the man who sends carrier based planes to North Vietnamese targets, has the job of seeing as few supplies as possible reach the South to be used against soldiers like Leary and his men.

"Anytime the (bombing) pressure comes off, I think you run the risk of permitting the North Vietnamese a buildup," he said.

Jury Urges A Reduced Penalty On Marijuana

Resolution Carries Stiffer LSD Charge

By ROSS DAVIS

The Marin County Grand Jury last night passed a resolution asking the state Legislature to give a sentencing judge authority to make marijuana possession a misdemeanor rather than a felony.

But the resolution also recommends that laws now making possession of LSD and similar dangerous drugs only a misdemeanor be changed to make them a felony violation.

Clifford S. Lund, jury foreman, said today the resolution will be sent to the legislature and will also be presented to the county board of supervisors Tuesday for possible endorsement.

The action followed a lengthy study of narcotic laws by the panel and a series of meetings of the jury's law enforcement committee with Marin chiefs of police, Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos, Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales, and state Narcotic Bureau agents.

Said Lund, "Basically we're asking the Legislature to consider changing the narcotic laws. First of all, we are asking it to increase the severity of the crime of possessing LSD or like dangerous drugs to a felony."

"However, we also are recommending that the law which now controls marijuana have an alternative felony-misdemeanor (category) at the point of sentencing," he said. "This means at the discretion of the judge."

He said the discretion would also be given to the judge in

Bridge Painter Falls To Death

Lee R. Patrick, a Golden Gate Bridge painter from San Anselmo, fell to his death yesterday when a scaffold reportedly gave way and his safety line snapped.

It was the first fatal accident among the paint crew since the bridge opened in 1937.

Today, Painters Union Local 4 in San Francisco, to which Patrick belonged, charged bridge officials with negligence in the 48-year-old painter's death.

Patrick, of 9 Stone Court, plunged 70 feet to the top of a huge concrete cable anchor at Fort Point about 12:45 p.m., fellow workers said.

His safety line had snapped six feet from his belt, the San Francisco coroner's office said.

Morris Evenson, secretary of Local 4, charged the death was caused by "faulty rigging" and "improper inspection of equipment," and demanded the resignations of James Adam, bridge general manager, and Hale Sharrett, paint superintendent.

"These two are individually responsible for the death of Lee Patrick," Evenson asserted. The union official charged that Adam had ignored recent telephone and mail pleas to meet on painters' reports of faulty equipment, including the scaffold from which Patrick fell.

Fund Bills To Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House grudgingly approved $10 million to continue the rent subsidy program today as it sent two more big compromise appropriation bills to the Senate.

The bills, passed in different form previously by the House and the Senate, would appropriate a total of $14.728 billion. This is about $1.2 billion less than the President requested for more than a score of agencies affected.

The longer of the two would provide $10.139 billion for a group of independent agencies and the Department of Housing and Urban Development. Included was $10 million of the $40 million requested for the rent subsidy program and $312 million of the $662 million requested for the model cities program.

The House twice before refused any new financing for the rent program, but the Senate voted the entire $40 million and the House agreed to the $10 million by roll-call vote of 198 to 184.

The second bill, passed by voice vote, would provide $4.689

Bridge Leap Brings Fourth Death In Two-Day Period

A former Fairfax man jumped to his death from the Golden Gate Bridge yesterday — the third suicide from the span and the fourth fatality in two days.

He was identified by the California Highway Patrol as William Lyon, 51, of San Francisco, formerly of 317 Scenic Road, Fairfax.

Vincent C. Weiner, an off-duty highway patrolman, said he saw the man leaning against a bridge railing about 2:30 p.m. Ten minutes later, the highway patrol said, persons on a 30-foot boat, the "Cecilia 5," saw the man plunge into the water.

No notes were found.

The San Francisco coroner's office said Lyon had been unemployed since his wife's death two years ago. A brother, Howard Lyon of La Canada, was the lone survivor.

Tuesday, Gardner Acton Dailey, 72, an internationally known architect from San Francisco, and John M. Harte, 42, a San Francisco roofer, leaped from the span.

A 27-year-old Tiburon man, John Christopher Hester III, was arraigned in Marin Municipal Court yesterday on a complaint of battery on a fellow motorist Oct. 8.

Plea entry was scheduled for 2 p.m. Wednesday.

Hester, of 23-B Circle Road, is accused of striking Harry K. Griffin, 49, of 217 Meda Lane, Mill Valley, in the mouth at the intersection of Tiburon Boulevard and Cecilia Way.

Griffin told sheriff's officers Hester pulled his sports car up near Griffin's car, got out and approached him, and called him a dirty name. Hester then struck Griffin and left, Griffin said.

Griffin, who told officers he didn't know why he was assaulted, got the departing vehicle's license plate number and gave it to police. He was treated at Marin General Hospital for a cut lip

Girl Hurt In Base Accident

A 6-year-old Hamilton Air Force Base girl was reported in good condition today at Letterman General Hospital in San Francisco with head injuries she received yesterday in a car-pedestrian car accident on the base.

Tamera Janice Abbott, daughter of S/Sgt. and Mrs. William G. Abbott of 388 Bolling Drive, was playing in the 600 block on Bolling Drive when she ran into the right rear of a car driven by Margaret Lee Drown of 3 Wallace Court, Novato, according to Novato police.

Tamera was first taken to the Hamilton hospital before going to Letterman for treatment, according to base officials.

$4,980 Contract For Fire House

The Albro Fire Equipment Co. of Emeryville, lowest of six bidders, last night was awarded a $4,980 contract for fire hose by the Novato Fire District board at its regular meeting in the main fire station.

The contract called for 3,000 feet of 2 and one-hald inch hose at $3,720 and 1,500 feet of one and one-half inch hose at $1,260.

The commission, after a public hearing at which there were no objections, passed an ordinance requiring that flamable liquids must be in metal containers, not plastic or glass, at time of sale.

The board paid Ghilotti Brothers of San Rafael $9,105 for grading on the Atherton Avenue station site; $100 to Marin County for fees in rezoning the Ignacio station site, and $15,152 in monthly bills.

BIRTH PILLS BRINGING BETTER EGGS

FORT COLLINS, Colo. (UPI) — Hens at Colorado State University are recharging their "egg batteries" by gobbling down birth control pills.

Poultry scientist Dr. Raymond B. Herrick said the drugs give the hens a two-week breather from egg laying and the end result is better omelets.

"Chickens ovulate almost every day," he said. "One result of this fast pace is poor-quality eggs after 12-months production. Putting them on these drugs gives them a breather."

Herrick said when hens resume their normal egg laying activity, the result is "noticeably higher" quality eggs.

Joan Baez Is Out Of Jail

PLEASANTON (AP)—Pacifist folk singer Joan Baez was released from Santa Rita jail this morning after serving 10 days for taking part in antidraft demonstrations in Oakland.

"It was worth it," Miss Baez said. "I probably will do it again."

Released with Miss Baez, 26, were her mother, also named Joan, and her younger sister, Mimi Farina, and Ira Sandperl, the singer's adviser.

New Trial To Be Set In Slaying

UKIAH, (UPI) — Superior Judge Robert L. Winslow yesterday vacated the Nov. 6 trial date of two 18-year-old youths from Washington State accused of murder, kidnap, rape and murderous assault.

Winslow said he would set a new trial date at a change of venue hearing Nov. 3. Attorneys for Leonard E. Maine and Thomas E. Braun, both of Ritzville, Wash., asked that the trial be moved out of Mendocino County because the suspects could not get a fair trial there.

Braun and Maine are accused of the fatal shooting in August of Timothy Luce, 17, son of the Lake County district attorney. They also have been charged with the kidnaping, raping and wounding Luce's girlfriend, Susan Bartolemie, 16, who still is in critical condition at a San Francisco hospital.

Braun and Maine also have been charged with murders in Oregon and Washington during a weekend rampage ahrough three states.

Population Boom

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica (UPI)—Costa Rica's population of 1.5 million is the fastest growing in the Western Hemisphere. If its growth rate of 3.8 per cent annually continues, the Central American country's population will double by 1986.

LSD-Taker Is Ruled Insane During Slaying

NEW YORK (AP) — A jury has found Stephen Kessler not guilty by reason of insanity in the LSD slaying of his mother-in-law —believed one of the first homicide cases to involve the hallucinogenic drug.

Tree times the state Supreme Court jury of 11 men and a woman had reported itself hopelessly deadlocked and each time the court directed the panel to try again. The verdict came at 6:20 p.m. yesterday.

Justice Edward Thompson ordered the 32-year-old former medical student, who has admitted taking marijuana and LSD, placed in the custody of the State Mental Hygiene Authority.

With the announcement of acquittal after 12 hours of deliberation, the Harvard-educated Kessler burst into tears. Throwing his glasses on the defense table, he buried his face in his hands and sobbed: "I still say I don't know what happened. I had no reason to kill her. I loved her."

The lone spectator in the courtroom when the verdict arrived was his mother, Mrs. Henrietta Kessler, a tall gray-haired woman who was a faithful attendant during her son's four-week trial. She also wept.

Kessler could gain his freedom by proving that his insanity was temporary and that he is now of sound mind.

The lanky, stoop-shouldered Kessler went on trial Sept. 26 charged with the first-degree murder April 11, 1966, of Florence Cooper, 57, his mother-in-law. She was stabbed 105 times in her Brooklyn apartment.

Mario Savio Out Of Jail

Savio

BERKELEY (AP) — Mario Savio was released from jail yesterday after serving 120 days of a 200-day jail term stemming from his leadership of the free speech movement on the University of California Berkeley campus in 1964.

Municipal Court Judge Floyd Talbot suspended a $366 fine and the remaining 80 days in jail. He said Savio was a model prisoner.

"It appears Mario has reformed," said the judge in putting the 24-year-old Savio on probation for a year.

Car Thief Upstages Carson

Carson

NEW YORK (AP)—Television star Johnny Carson was upstaged last night by a fleet-footed thief who drove off with a rented limousine while Carson stood watching.

The spisode took place outside the RCA building where the National Broadcasting Co. has studios, police said.

It was raining and Carson stood in the Sixth Avenue lobby entrance waiting to enter his car less than 20 feet away at the curb.

His chauffeur, Clarence Leonard, went to meet him with an umbrella, leaving the car door open and the motor running.

SON RETURNS — Mrs. Theodore Burkan kisses her son, Bruce, who was presumed dead after being missing two months. The 19-year-old college youth walked into his Parsippany, N.J., home Tuesday, telling his mother he had no idea what had happened to him. (AP Wirephoto)

PRESUMED DEAD

New Jersey Youth Among The Living

PARSIPPANY, N.J. (AP) — "This is unbelievable. It's like returning from the dead," said 19-year-old Bruce Burkan.

Bruce—missing and presumed dead for two months—walked into his home and told his mother that he had no idea of what happened or where he had been.

"He looked very confused and had several cuts on his face," said Mrs. Theodore Burkan, who was Mrs. New Jersey of 1966.

Her son had been missing since Aug. 22, when he left his fiancee, Valerie Schnetzer, 19, on an Asbury Park beach to put a coin in a parking meter.

Bruce said yesterday he remembers being in Asbury Park and leaving the beach. The next thing he remembers, he said, was being in a bus terminal Tuesday in Newark.

Mrs. Burkan said she was upstairs on the phone Tuesday when Bruce walked in. She stood in complete shock for a few minutes and then "flew" down to him.

She said similar scenes took place as his three brothers, Barry, 13, Lee, 9, and Wayne, 15, came home from school.

Mrs. Burkan showed Bruce a rememberance book she kept, showing pictures and stories of memorial services conducted for him. More than 200 area residents attended.

"I never dreamed so many people cared about me," the youth said.

"No one even knows how much he will be mourned at his funeral. I've had the golden opportunity of returning."

COMBINED AP & UPI

MANHATTAN, Kan.—California Gov. Ronald Reagan told Kansas State University faculty and students today that he justifies higher education tuition on the theory that the user of a service should help pay for it.

"Good tax policy involves assessing at least a part of the charge for a service against those who receive the service," Reagan declared.

He spoke in remarks prepared for delivery in the annual Alf Landon lecture, named after the Republican presidential candidate of 1936.

The California governor noted that "the cost of education is increasing faster than the increase in public funds." So, he recalled for the Kansas audience, "I proposed tuition at our state university and colleges. The result was cataclysmic. I could not have branded myself as any more 'anti-intellectual' if I had said, " 'Me Tarzan, you Jane'."

Defending the proposal, Reagan contended that "if education demands an increase in funds greater than the normal workload increase occasioned by growth and higher prices, then it must be taken from some other program."

The governor, considered a potential GOP presidential nominee in 1968, was on the first stop of a five-state, three-day speaking tour.

Yesterday at Des Moines, Iowa., Reagan suggested treating anti-Vietnam protesters the same as wartime law breakers who give "aid and comfort to the enemy."

Before the dinner speech, which he devoted largely to a call for governmental economy and a denunciation of the administration, Reagan told newsmen, protesters of the Vietnam conflict should be treated the same as they would be in wartime for "giving aid and comfort to the enemy."

He did not directly call for a declaration of war in Vietnam, saying he did not know if persons outside the Johnson administration had been given enough information to determine whether a declaration of war would be the correct move at present.

Fine In Speeding, Suspended License

LBJ Claims No Fear Of Asian Peril

WASHINGTON (AP) — America, says President Johnson has "utterly repudiated the racist nonsense of an earlier era."

Therefore, he said, "any charge that the United States fears a "Yellow Peril" in Asia is absurd.

"Indeed," the President said, "we have made a commitment in Asia because we do believe that no men, whatever, the pigmentation of their skins, should be delivered over to totalitarianism. Race has no place in our purpose."

Johnson made the remarks as he presented a Medal of Honor—the nation's highest military award—to Marine Maj. Howard V. Lee.

His words were directed against some commentators and congressmen who accused Secretary of State Dean Rusk of raising the "Yellow Peril" issue during an Oct. 12 news conference when he warned of the threat of the great population masses of Communist China now that that nation has nuclear weapons.

Lee was decorated yesterday for heroism in battle during action at Cam Lo on Aug. 8-9, 1966 when he disregarded his own wounds to lead a relief force through enemy forces to one of his outnumbered platoons.

Motor Taken

The disappearance of an outboard motor from the family garage was reported to Belvedere police yesterday by Gerald Rumsey, 118 Bella Vista Avenue, Belvedere. Rumsey said the motor was stored in the garage Saturday.

Ethics Panel Clears Long In Union Case

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate ethics committee says it finds no facts to support misconduct accusations against Sen. Edward V. Long, D-Mo.

The panel now plans to push forward with its efforts to develop a code of standards and conduct for senators and Senate employees.

WORK IS HIT

The bipartisan committee's work on a code has twice been interrupted, first by its investigation into misconduct charges against Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., and then by its inquiry into the affairs of Long.

Chairman John Stennis, D-Miss., said despite the delays the committee may submit a code for Senate action before Congress adjourns this year.

The committee's report yesterday to the Senate on its closed inquiry into Life magazine allegations against Long said it found no basis for conducting public hearings.

Long said he regarded the ethic panel's unanimous report as a complete vindication. He told the Senate his honor and integrity had been questioned for the first time in his career and the report had lifted a great burden.

LIFE ARTICLE

The May 26 Life article said that in 1963 and 1964 Long had received $48,000 in legal fees from Morris A. Shenker, a St. Louis attorney for imprisoned Teamsters Union President James R. Hoffa. The magazine suggested Long misused a Senate probe of wiretapping—which he headed—in an effort to keep Hoffa out of jail.

Hoffa has based attempts to overturn his conviction for jury tampering for the most part on grounds evidence against him was gained through illegal wiretapping.

Long never denied receiving money from Shenker. But he said it represented fee splitting in connection with legal services having nothing to do either with Hoffa or the Teamsters.

The committee said five clients were involved in the Shenker-Long payments.

Kindergarten Drop Reported

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Enrollment in kindergartens in California may have dropped by 40,000 to 50,000 this year, a state official has estimated.

The actual enrollment figures for the schools, for the fall semester, won't be reported until the end of this month and probably won't be compiled for some time after that.

But there are indications that the unexpected decrease has taken place. Several years ago, there had been forecasts that school enrollment would begin to level out in the mid-1960s. However, this had been primarily that the school pupils would be increasing at a decreasing rate. No one had expected an actual reduction.

Bruce said yesterday he remembers being in Asbury Park and leaving the beach. The next thing he remembers, he said, was being in a bus terminal Tuesday in Newark.

Mrs. Burkan said she was upstairs on the phone Tuesday when Bruce walked in. She stood in complete shock for a few minutes and then "flew" down to him.

She said similar scenes took place as his three brothers, Barry, 13, Lee, 9, and Wayne, 15, came home from school.

Mrs. Burkan showed Bruce a rememberance book she kept, showing pictures and stories of memorial services conducted for him. More than 200 area residents attended.

"I never dreamed so many people cared about me," the youth said.

"No one even knows how much he will be mourned at his funeral. I've had the golden opportunity of returning."

COMBINED AP & UPI

MANHATTAN, Kan.—California Gov. Ronald Reagan told Kansas State University faculty and students today that he justifies higher education tuition on the theory that the user of a service should help pay for it.

"Good tax policy involves assessing at least a part of the charge for a service against those who receive the service," Reagan declared.

He spoke in remarks prepared for delivery in the annual Alf Landon lecture, named after the Republican presidential candidate of 1936.

The California governor noted that "the cost of education is increasing faster than the increase in public funds." So, he recalled for the Kansas audience, "I proposed tuition at our state university and colleges. The result was cataclysmic. I could not have branded myself as any more 'anti-intellectual' if I had said, " 'Me Tarzan, you Jane'."

Defending the proposal, Reagan contended that "if education demands an increase in funds greater than the normal workload increase occasioned by growth and higher prices, then it must be taken from some other program."

The governor, considered a potential GOP presidential nominee in 1968, was on the first stop of a five-state, three-day speaking tour.

Yesterday at Des Moines, Iowa., Reagan suggested treating anti-Vietnam protesters the same as wartime law breakers who give "aid and comfort to the enemy."

Before the dinner speech, which he devoted largely to a call for governmental economy and a denunciation of the administration, Reagan told newsmen, protesters of the Vietnam conflict should be treated the same as they would be in wartime for "giving aid and comfort to the enemy."

He did not directly call for a declaration of war in Vietnam, saying he did not know if persons outside the Johnson administration had been given enough information to determine whether a declaration of war would be the correct move at present.

Fine In Speeding, Suspended License

The fine was imposed by Judge David R. Baty in Northwest Marin Justice Court at Point Reyes Station. Evans was arrested by Highway Patrolmen.

LBJ Claims No Fear Of Asian Peril

WASHINGTON (AP) — America, says President Johnson has "utterly repudiated the racist nonsense of an earlier era."

Therefore, he said, "any charge that the United States fears a "Yellow Peril" in Asia is absurd.

"Indeed," the President said, "we have made a commitment in Asia because we do believe that no men, whatever, the pigmentation of their skins, should be delivered over to totalitarianism. Race has no place in our purpose."

Johnson made the remarks as he presented a Medal of Honor—the nation's highest military award—to Marine Maj. Howard V. Lee.

His words were directed against some commentators and congressmen who accused Secretary of State Dean Rusk of raising the "Yellow Peril" issue during an Oct. 12 news conference when he warned of the threat of the great population masses of Communist China now that that nation has nuclear weapons.

Lee was decorated yesterday for heroism in battle during action at Cam Lo on Aug. 8-9, 1966 when he disregarded his own wounds to lead a relief force through enemy forces to one of his outnumbered platoons.

Motor Taken

The disappearance of an outboard motor from the family garage was reported to Belvedere police yesterday by Gerald Rumsey, 118 Bella Vista Avenue, Belvedere. Rumsey said the motor was stored in the garage Saturday.

Ethics Panel Clears Long In Union Case

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate ethics committee says it finds no facts to support misconduct accusations against Sen. Edward V. Long, D-Mo.

The panel now plans to push forward with its efforts to develop a code of standards and conduct for senators and Senate employees.

WORK IS HIT

The bipartisan committee's work on a code has twice been interrupted, first by its investigation into misconduct charges against Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., and then by its inquiry into the affairs of Long.

Chairman John Stennis, D-Miss., said despite the delays the committee may submit a code for Senate action before Congress adjourns this year.

The committee's report yesterday to the Senate on its closed inquiry into Life magazine allegations against Long said it found no basis for conducting public hearings.

Long said he regarded the ethic panel's unanimous report as a complete vindication. He told the Senate his honor and integrity had been questioned for the first time in his career and the report had lifted a great burden.

LIFE ARTICLE

The May 26 Life article said that in 1963 and 1964 Long had received $48,000 in legal fees from Morris A. Shenker, a St. Louis attorney for imprisoned Teamsters Union President James R. Hoffa. The magazine suggested Long misused a Senate probe of wiretapping—which he headed—in an effort to keep Hoffa out of jail.

Hoffa has based attempts to overturn his conviction for jury tampering for the most part on grounds evidence against him was gained through illegal wiretapping.

Long never denied receiving money from Shenker. But he said it represented fee splitting in connection with legal services having nothing to do either with Hoffa or the Teamsters.

The committee said five clients were involved in the Shenker-Long payments.

Kindergarten Drop Reported

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Enrollment in kindergartens in California may have dropped by 40,000 to 50,000 this year, a state official has estimated.

The actual enrollment figures for the schools, for the fall semester, won't be reported until the end of this month and probably won't be compiled for some time after that.

But there are indications that the unexpected decrease has taken place. Several years ago, there had been forecasts that school enrollment would begin to level out in the mid-1960s. However, this had been primarily that the school pupils would be increasing at a decreasing rate. No one had expected an actual reduction.

He said span officials had begun an investigation of Patrick's death.

Two painters were seriously injured in falls in 1961 and 1965, and Evenson charged both accidents were caused by bad equipment. One of the victims, Owen H. Dittmore of 12 Rollingwood Drive, San Rafael, is totally disabled, Evenson said.

Evenson charged that Patrick's scaffold slipped because ropes connecting it with the bridge structure above had not been inspected property. He urged use of steel suspension cables for the scaffolds.

Patrick was a painter on the bridge 20 years. Born in Middlesboro, Ky., he came to Marin about 23 years ago.

Students Riot Over Policies

MADRID (UPI)—Thousands of rock-throwing university students skirmished with riot police today after an anti-government march on the ministry of education was dispersed by police cavalry charges.

The clashes came after mounted police swinging long leather-bound riot crops galloped full tilt into a group of demonstrators silently marching to protest "the general repressive policies of the government."

The march, which began after an estimated 3,000 students massed around the faculties of philosophy and letters and sciences

Minister Says He Can't Advise Anti-War Youth

SANTA MONICA (AP) — A leader of the American Council of Christian Churches says he can't advise a young man opposed to the Vietnam war as immoral to follow his conscience and refuse the draft.

Rev. Edgar R. Koons, a General Association of Regular Baptist Churches minister, said draft protestors "are building a revolution whenever they show disrespect for the laws of the land."

Asked what he would advise an 18-year-old who said he could not in good conscience register for the draft under present circumstances, Koons said:

"I would try to get him to see that he has no basis of judgment that this is an unjust war. If he remained unconvinced, I couldn't advise him to follow his conscience."

Costs Lowered For Field Use

Directors of the San Rafael Parks and Recreation Commission last night lowered the charges for use of Albert Field at the request of Redwood High School.

High school officials had asked a drop in the 15 per cent of gross admissions which parks and recreation policy set for use of the field. The school plans an invitational baseball tournament there next May 30 through June 1.

Commsisioners agreed to change the policy to charge 15 per cent of net receipts for the school and for all groups, said Andrew J. Snyder, director of parks and recreation.

Director Dino J. Ghilotti was absent from the meeting at the city hall.

"If their intention is to continue the war, you're making it three times harder on yourself."

Marines in the northern quarter of South Vietnam, probably under the greatest pressure from the Communists, have the same idea. "We've already got artillery bombing our bases," said Lance Cpl. Gordon E. Hollister, 27, Woodbury, Conn. "If they stop the bombing, it's going to mean they'd be killing off our own men."

A large number of the men not only wanted to continue the bombing, but felt that the lid should be lifted from more strategic military targets.

"I think if you are going to fight a war, you might as well get on with it and quit playing around," said Pfc. Thomas Flower, 19, a Marine from Bessemer City, N.C.

Among the other comments were these

Capt. Kenneth R. Desser, 27, Great Neck, N.Y.: "From my aspect, from what I've learned from the war, it's a simple question of seeing Americans maimed, killed. It's quite obvious the supplies come from the north, so for that reason alone, the bombing should not be stopped.

Hospitalman Douglas Sites, 24, Modesto, a Navy corpsman with the 7th Fleet: "If they think they can settle the war by stopping the bombing, I'm all for it. But we need promises from somebody that something will come of it. All the other pauses we've had have just let the North Vietnamese stock up for more fighting."

terrorism in the area had sent 3,841 civilians fleeing.

B52 bombers also joined the war against North Vietnam, striking Communist troop concentrations just north of the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ). But it was the Air Force and Navy that carried the war to Hanoi and Haiphong with devastating effect.

Hanoi broadcasts reported greatly increased antiaircraft activities against the American raiders and the Soviet news agency Tass said five American planes were shot down over Hanoi today and several pilots captured. There were no immediate reports of dogfights.

One Hanoi broadcast, accusing the Americans of "particularly savage" raids on populated areas, said some American bombs had hit the Gia Lam district town. Gia Lam is the site of Hanoi's international airport, the only air base still on the American restricted list.

U.S. Navy Skyhawks from the carrier Oriskany hit Hanoi's main power plant 1.1 miles from the center of the city at mid-afternoon, the second raid on the plant since Aug. 21. There were no immediate U.S. reports of plane losses.

Westmoreland, commander of U.S. forces in Vietnam, spoke to reporters at Chu Lai at ceremonies formally reactivating the American division which was formed from troops already in Vietnam and recent arrivals.

He took note of fears that air attacks against the big Phuc Yen airbase might be too costly and said, "Our losses were very small—much smaller than anticipated."

"The American pilots inflicted great damage on the North Vietnamese Air Force, particularly on the MIG17s and MIG21s," he said.

Westmoreland also said that with growing troop strength American forces would be prepared to handle anything the Communists throw at them in the DMZ.

billion for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, but none of it could be used for the Voyager program and the second stage of the Nerva program without later congressional approval.

The Voyager is a long-range interplanetary project. The Nerva project, now in its second stage, is designed to develop nuclear-power rockets.

In advance of action on the two bills, House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford of Michigan said a compromise between the Senate and the House to force spending cuts by President Johnson is "certainly possible."

Ford told a news conference he was impressed by the close votes in the Senate yesterday when the three GOP economy moves were rejected.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen, of Illinois, commented that "some very selective arm-twisting" was applied in the Senate.

Ford said that he expects the house to stand firm in its demands. And he said that if it does, a compromise that will bring about a reduction in government expenditures may be worked out.

JURY

LSD and other dangerous drug cases.

Lund said the discretionary power is important because it means that marijuana, LSD, and other dangerous drugs would be a felony at time of the arrest and trial, and could only be considered a misdemeanor after conviction.

"So there's no intent here to lessen the severity of the law," he said. "Actually, what we're recommending is that they make the law more severe in the case of LSD and similar drugs, and that judges be given a little more flexibility at the point of sentencing for marijuana."

He said the stand on narcotic laws followed hearings with county and state law enforcement officers by the jury's law enforcement committee. With only one exception, the officers agreed that laws governing marijuana and dangerous drugs today "are just not realistic," he said.

Lund declined to identify the officer who was an exception.

"Take a youth 21 or 22 years old," he cited. "He's never been in trouble in his life. At a party, he gets caught with a marijuana cigarette. If the judge follows the book, he either turns him loose or he sends him to state prison for 2 to 10 years."

"Let's face it," said Lund, "this just isn't realistic. On the other hand, if somebody takes a trip on LSD and creates some bodily harm to someone else, at its worst it is only a misdemeanor."

Lund said the jury's recommendations do not affect the sellers, pushers, and suppliers of marijuana, but only deals with possession of marijuana and drugs. For the former, he said, his panel is "absolutely (for) leaving the laws as they are."

"Our feeling is that the seller belongs in prison," Lund said.

He said copies of the resolution will be sent to the 57 other grand juries in the state.

LBJ Welcomes Mexico's Chief

WASHINGTON (UPI) —President Johnson welcomed his good friend, Mexican President Gustavo Diaz Ordaz, to the White House today with high tribute to Mexico's "spectacular gains" of the past half century.

In a statement prepared for a welcoming ceremony on the South lawn of the White House, Johnson said relations between the two countries are closer than ever before.

Johnson praised Mexico for achieving political stability and personal freedom in the half century since its people underwent a major social revolution.

OBITUARIES

Mardakis, Ex-Taxi Owner, Dies

Chris Mardakis, retired owner of a San Francisco taxi company, died at his Larkspur home Tuesday after a brief illness. He was 70 years old.

Mardakis, a native of Greece, came to California in 1916 and became a limousine driver in 1920. He founded the Golden Gate Taxi Co. in 1922, sold it to Yellow Cab Co., and then organized the Home Cab Co. in 1924. He retired last year.

He was a member of Chauffeurs' Union Local 265 and the Churc hof the Annunciation, San Francisco.

Mardakis is survived by his wife, Poleyteme of 214 Harvard Drive, Larkspur; a son, John Mardakis of Larkspur; a daughter, Sia Kanios of San Francisco; three brothers, Tom Mardakis of San Francisco and Efthemios and Basillios Mardakis of Greece, and five grandchildren.

A Trisagion service will be held at 7:45 p.m. today at Daphne's Funeral Service, San Francisco. Funeral will be tomorrow at 1:30 p.m. at Annunciation Cathedral, San Francisco. Burial will be in the Greek Orthodox Memorial Park, Colma.

LAWRENCE CAMPBELL

Lawrence G. Campbell, 43, of Novato, died yesterday in his sleep in Los Angeles while on a business trip. Death came from apparent natural causes, the Los Angeles coroner's office reported.

Campbell, of 1411 Dawes Street, was a salesman for Scholle Container Corp. He was born in Chicago and had resided in Novato for four years.

He was a member of Thousand Oaks Lodge of Free and Accepted Masons, Berkeley.

Campbell is survived by his wife, Barbara P. Campbell, a son, Glenn, and two daughters, Gail and Jean; by his mother, Mrs. Harriet Campbell of San Francisco, and a sister, Mrs. Katherine Harper of San Diego.

The funeral will be at 1 p.m. Saturday at Keaton's Chapel of Marin, Novato. Interment will be private.

MILDRED DUPRE

Mildred Josephine Dupre, long-time Mill Valley resident, died yesterday morning at her home. Mrs. Dupre had been under a doctor's care and the Marin County Coroner's office said death was due to apparent natural causes.

Mrs. Dupre, 58, of 41 Valley Circle, was born in San Francisco and had lived in Mill Valley for 51 years. Retired, she had worked for 20 years as a bottler for the American Distilling Co., which was at Sausalito until the distillery burned in 1963. She was a member of Teamsters Union Local 624 of San Rafael.

She is survived by her mother, Mrs. Susan Giannini, and a brother, Charles Giannini, both of Mill Valley, and by a sister, Mrs. Shirley F. Wright of Novato.

Requiem Mass will be at 9:30 a.m. tomorrow at Our Lady of Mount Carmel Catholic Church, Mill Valley. Burial will be at Mount Olivet Cemetery, San Rafael. The Rosary will be receited at 8 p.m. today at Russell and Gooch Funeral Chapel, Mill Valley. The family prefers contributions to the March of Dimes.

HAROLD CONNOLLY

Requiem Mass was held today at St. Dominic's Roman Catholic Church in San Francisco for Harold F. Connolly of San Francisco, father of Mrs. Jack L. Rosenberg of San Anselmo.

Connolly, an accountant, died Monday in San Francisco.

Also surviving are his wife, Anne E., and two daughters, Mrs. William Bedford of Vista, San Diego County, and Mrs. Gladys Griffith of Seaside, Ore.

SHERMAN SHAFFER

Funeral was held this week in Beppu, Japan, for Sherman S. Shaffer of 193 Altura Way, San Rafael, who died suddenly there Friday while on a vacation trip with his wife. He was 66.

Shaffer had been west coast representative for the American Chemical Society in San Francisco since 1961, when he moved to San Rafael. Prior to that time he had worked as a research chemist for an oil company in Baytown, Texas for many years.

A native of Missouri, he was a graduate of Cornell College, Iowa, and received the Ph.D. degree from the University of California.

He was a member of the Rotary Club in San Francisco.

Dr. Shaffer is survived by his wife, Vera; two sisters, Mrs. Virginia Williams of Oshkosh, Wis., and Mrs. Rachel Wurster of Media, Pa., and a brother, Thomas H. Shaffer, of Chicago, Ill.

EVERETT TODD

Funeral was to be held today for Everett L. Todd of Santa Cruz, retired aircraft electrician at Hamilton Air Force Base.

Todd, 80, died Monday in Santo Cruz. He lived at the base and in San Rafael from 1946 to 1959. Retiring in 1956, he moved to the Santa Cruz area.

Survivors are his wife, Daphine E.; two sons, Everett L. Jr. and Leonard F., both of Chicago, and a daughter, D. Elizabeth Regan of San Gabriel.

Interment was to be in Belmont Memorial Park in Fresno. The family asked contributions to cancer research.

MADRID (UPI)—Thousands of rock-throwing university students skirmished with riot police today after an anti-government march on the ministry of education was dispersed by police cavalry charges.

The clashes came after mounted police swinging long leather-bound riot crops galloped full tilt into a group of demonstrators silently marching to protest "the general repressive policies of the government."

The march, which began after an estimated 3,000 students massed around the faculties of philosophy and letters and sciences

Minister Says He Can't Advise Anti-War Youth

SANTA MONICA (AP) — A leader of the American Council of Christian Churches says he can't advise a young man opposed to the Vietnam war as immoral to follow his conscience and refuse the draft.

Rev. Edgar R. Koons, a General Association of Regular Baptist Churches minister, said draft protestors "are building a revolution whenever they show disrespect for the laws of the land."

Asked what he would advise an 18-year-old who said he could not in good conscience register for the draft under present circumstances, Koons said:

"I would try to get him to see that he has no basis of judgment that this is an unjust war. If he remained unconvinced, I couldn't advise him to follow his conscience."

Costs Lowered For Field Use

Directors of the San Rafael Parks and Recreation Commission last night lowered the charges for use of Albert Field at the request of Redwood High School.

High school officials had asked a drop in the 15 per cent of gross admissions which parks and recreation policy set for use of the field. The school plans an invitational baseball tournament there next May 30 through June 1.

Commsisioners agreed to change the policy to charge 15 per cent of net receipts for the school and for all groups, said Andrew J. Snyder, director of parks and recreation.

Director Dino J. Ghilotti was absent from the meeting at the city hall.

"If their intention is to continue the war, you're making it three times harder on yourself."

Marines in the northern quarter of South Vietnam, probably under the greatest pressure from the Communists, have the same idea. "We've already got artillery bombing our bases," said Lance Cpl. Gordon E. Hollister, 27, Woodbury, Conn. "If they stop the bombing, it's going to mean they'd be killing off our own men."

A large number of the men not only wanted to continue the bombing, but felt that the lid should be lifted from more strategic military targets.

"I think if you are going to fight a war, you might as well get on with it and quit playing around," said Pfc. Thomas Flower, 19, a Marine from Bessemer City, N.C.

Among the other comments were these

Capt. Kenneth R. Desser, 27, Great Neck, N.Y.: "From my aspect, from what I've learned from the war, it's a simple question of seeing Americans maimed, killed. It's quite obvious the supplies come from the north, so for that reason alone, the bombing should not be stopped.

Hospitalman Douglas Sites, 24, Modesto, a Navy corpsman with the 7th Fleet: "If they think they can settle the war by stopping the bombing, I'm all for it. But we need promises from somebody that something will come of it. All the other pauses we've had have just let the North Vietnamese stock up for more fighting."

VIETNAM

terrorism in the area had sent 3,841 civilians fleeing.

B52 bombers also joined the war against North Vietnam, striking Communist troop concentrations just north of the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ). But it was the Air Force and Navy that carried the war to Hanoi and Haiphong with devastating effect.

Hanoi broadcasts reported greatly increased antiaircraft activities against the American raiders and the Soviet news agency Tass said five American planes were shot down over Hanoi today and several pilots captured. There were no immediate reports of dogfights.

One Hanoi broadcast, accusing the Americans of "particularly savage" raids on populated areas, said some American bombs had hit the Gia Lam district town. Gia Lam is the site of Hanoi's international airport, the only air base still on the American restricted list.

U.S. Navy Skyhawks from the carrier Oriskany hit Hanoi's main power plant 1.1 miles from the center of the city at mid-afternoon, the second raid on the plant since Aug. 21. There were no immediate U.S. reports of plane losses.

Westmoreland, commander of U.S. forces in Vietnam, spoke to reporters at Chu Lai at ceremonies formally reactivating the American division which was formed from troops already in Vietnam and recent arrivals.

He took note of fears that air attacks against the big Phuc Yen airbase might be too costly and said, "Our losses were very small—much smaller than anticipated."

"The American pilots inflicted great damage on the North Vietnamese Air Force, particularly on the MIG17s and MIG21s," he said.

Westmoreland also said that with growing troop strength American forces would be prepared to handle anything the Communists throw at them in the DMZ.

billion for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, but none of it could be used for the Voyager program and the second stage of the Nerva program without later congressional approval.

The Voyager is a long-range interplanetary project. The Nerva project, now in its second stage, is designed to develop nuclear-power rockets.

In advance of action on the two bills, House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford of Michigan said a compromise between the Senate and the House to force spending cuts by President Johnson is "certainly possible."

Ford told a news conference he was impressed by the close votes in the Senate yesterday when the three GOP economy moves were rejected.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen, of Illinois, commented that "some very selective arm-twisting" was applied in the Senate.

Ford said that he expects the house to stand firm in its demands. And he said that if it does, a compromise that will bring about a reduction in government expenditures may be worked out.

JURY

LSD and other dangerous drug cases.

Lund said the discretionary power is important because it means that marijuana, LSD, and other dangerous drugs would be a felony at time of the arrest and trial, and could only be considered a misdemeanor after conviction.

"So there's no intent here to lessen the severity of the law," he said. "Actually, what we're recommending is that they make the law more severe in the case of LSD and similar drugs, and that judges be given a little more flexibility at the point of sentencing for marijuana."

He said the stand on narcotic laws followed hearings with county and state law enforcement officers by the jury's law enforcement committee. With only one exception, the officers agreed that laws governing marijuana and dangerous drugs today "are just not realistic," he said.

Lund declined to identify the officer who was an exception.

"Take a youth 21 or 22 years old," he cited. "He's never been in trouble in his life. At a party, he gets caught with a marijuana cigarette. If the judge follows the book, he either turns him loose or he sends him to state prison for 2 to 10 years."

"Let's face it," said Lund, "this just isn't realistic. On the other hand, if somebody takes a trip on LSD and creates some bodily harm to someone else, at its worst it is only a misdemeanor."

Lund said the jury's recommendations do not affect the sellers, pushers, and suppliers of marijuana, but only deals with possession of marijuana and drugs. For the former, he said, his panel is "absolutely (for) leaving the laws as they are."

"Our feeling is that the seller belongs in prison," Lund said.

He said copies of the resolution will be sent to the 57 other grand juries in the state.

gap resolution condemning both Israel and the Arabs for violations of the existing cease-fire.

The Big Four powers planned joint private meetings to work out guidelines for the troubleshooter the U.N. is expected to end to the Mideast.

Secretary General Thant was reported ready to name Swedish Ambassador to Moscow Gunnar Jarring to the job as soon as the council authorizes the mission.

The stopgap resolution passed late yesterday mentioned neither the Egyptian sinking of the destroyer nor the Israeli shelling of two major refineries.

LBJ Welcomes Mexico's Chief

WASHINGTON (UPI) —President Johnson welcomed his good friend, Mexican President Gustavo Diaz Ordaz, to the White House today with high tribute to Mexico's "spectacular gains" of the past half century.

In a statement prepared for a welcoming ceremony on the South lawn of the White House, Johnson said relations between the two countries are closer than ever before.

Johnson praised Mexico for achieving political stability and personal freedom in the half century since its people underwent a major social revolution.

OBITUARIES

Mardakis, Ex-Taxi Owner, Dies

Chris Mardakis, retired owner of a San Francisco taxi company, died at his Larkspur home Tuesday after a brief illness. He was 70 years old.

Mardakis, a native of Greece, came to California in 1916 and became a limousine driver in 1920. He founded the Golden Gate Taxi Co. in 1922, sold it to Yellow Cab Co., and then organized the Home Cab Co. in 1924. He retired last year.

He was a member of Chauffeurs' Union Local 265 and the Churc hof the Annunciation, San Francisco.

Mardakis is survived by his wife, Poleyteme of 214 Harvard Drive, Larkspur; a son, John Mardakis of Larkspur; a daughter, Sia Kanios of San Francisco; three brothers, Tom Mardakis of San Francisco and Efthemios and Basillios Mardakis of Greece, and five grandchildren.

A Trisagion service will be held at 7:45 p.m. today at Daphne's Funeral Service, San Francisco. Funeral will be tomorrow at 1:30 p.m. at Annunciation Cathedral, San Francisco. Burial will be in the Greek Orthodox Memorial Park, Colma.

LAWRENCE CAMPBELL

Lawrence G. Campbell, 43, of Novato, died yesterday in his sleep in Los Angeles while on a business trip. Death came from apparent natural causes, the Los Angeles coroner's office reported.

Campbell, of 1411 Dawes Street, was a salesman for Scholle Container Corp. He was born in Chicago and had resided in Novato for four years.

He was a member of Thousand Oaks Lodge of Free and Accepted Masons, Berkeley.

Campbell is survived by his wife, Barbara P. Campbell, a son, Glenn, and two daughters, Gail and Jean; by his mother, Mrs. Harriet Campbell of San Francisco, and a sister, Mrs. Katherine Harper of San Diego.

The funeral will be at 1 p.m. Saturday at Keaton's Chapel of Marin, Novato. Interment will be private.

MILDRED DUPRE

Mildred Josephine Dupre, long-time Mill Valley resident, died yesterday morning at her home. Mrs. Dupre had been under a doctor's care and the Marin County Coroner's office said death was due to apparent natural causes.

Mrs. Dupre, 58, of 41 Valley Circle, was born in San Francisco and had lived in Mill Valley for 51 years. Retired, she had worked for 20 years as a bottler for the American Distilling Co., which was at Sausalito until the distillery burned in 1963. She was a member of Teamsters Union Local 624 of San Rafael.

She is survived by her mother, Mrs. Susan Giannini, and a brother, Charles Giannini, both of Mill Valley, and by a sister, Mrs. Shirley F. Wright of Novato.

Requiem Mass will be at 9:30 a.m. tomorrow at Our Lady of Mount Carmel Catholic Church, Mill Valley. Burial will be at Mount Olivet Cemetery, San Rafael. The Rosary will be receited at 8 p.m. today at Russell and Gooch Funeral Chapel, Mill Valley. The family prefers contributions to the March of Dimes.

HAROLD CONNOLLY

Requiem Mass was held today at St. Dominic's Roman Catholic Church in San Francisco for Harold F. Connolly of San Francisco, father of Mrs. Jack L. Rosenberg of San Anselmo.

Connolly, an accountant, died Monday in San Francisco.

Also surviving are his wife, Anne E., and two daughters, Mrs. William Bedford of Vista, San Diego County, and Mrs. Gladys Griffith of Seaside, Ore.

SHERMAN SHAFFER

Funeral was held this week in Beppu, Japan, for Sherman S. Shaffer of 193 Altura Way, San Rafael, who died suddenly there Friday while on a vacation trip with his wife. He was 66.

Shaffer had been west coast representative for the American Chemical Society in San Francisco since 1961, when he moved to San Rafael. Prior to that time he had worked as a research chemist for an oil company in Baytown, Texas for many years.

A native of Missouri, he was a graduate of Cornell College, Iowa, and received the Ph.D. degree from the University of California.

He was a member of the Rotary Club in San Francisco.

Dr. Shaffer is survived by his wife, Vera; two sisters, Mrs. Virginia Williams of Oshkosh, Wis., and Mrs. Rachel Wurster of Media, Pa., and a brother, Thomas H. Shaffer, of Chicago, Ill.

EVERETT TODD

Funeral was to be held today for Everett L. Todd of Santa Cruz, retired aircraft electrician at Hamilton Air Force Base.

Todd, 80, died Monday in Santo Cruz. He lived at the base and in San Rafael from 1946 to 1959. Retiring in 1956, he moved to the Santa Cruz area.

Survivors are his wife, Daphine E.; two sons, Everett L. Jr. and Leonard F., both of Chicago, and a daughter, D. Elizabeth Regan of San Gabriel.

Interment was to be in Belmont Memorial Park in Fresno. The family asked contributions to cancer research.

TAKES UP FLYING

Marinite Conquers Fear Of Airliners

By ALAN JONES

Mrs. Amy Belle Althausen of Mill Valley used to be afraid to fly in airliners, so she cured her fear the only way she knew how. She became a flying instructor.

"My husband said if I wanted to know the time, I'd probably make a watch," she said.

FLYING FEAR

Her fear of flying was interfering with family trips, for instance. Her husband, Dr. Theodore L. Althausen Jr., would fly to a vacation site and Mrs. Althausen would drive with the children to meet him there.

But when she began flying in March 1965, she found she loved it — and she's racked up 335 hours of flying time since then in earning her private, commercial and now her instructor's license.

Many pilots require several tries to pass the rigid Federal Aviation Authority tests for an instructor's rating, but Mrs. Althausen passed on her first try early this month at Oakland. She had to pass stiff written tests and a two-and-a-half-hour oral exam before the flight test.

Mrs. Althausen, of 172 Tamalpais Avenue, began flying at Novato's Marin County airport and got her private license there. Then she transferred to Sonoma where she worked toward her commercial license with flying service director John Thomas.

PAY FOR WORK

But the hours and the bills started piling up, and "with three kids to put through college, I asked how I could keep this up." That was when she decided to get her instructor's license and start getting paid for flying.

She is now instructing, part-time by her own choice—she still has her family to take care of —at Sonoma Skypark, a new field where Thomas has moved his flying service.

Mrs. Althausen, who is in her late 30s, has arranged her instructing schedule so that most days she will be home in time to meet the children—who are still a long way from college age.

THREE CHILDREN

The oldest is Norman, 13, a freshman at Lick-Wilmerding High School in San Francisco. Teddy, 12, is a seventh grader at San Rafael Military Academy, and Amy, 10, is in fifth grade at Old Mill School, Mill Valley.

Mrs. Althausen plans eventually to start working for an instrument rating, but "at the moment, I'm sick of putting in four hours a night studying," she said. "For the time being, I may just try to recoup what I've put out so far."

While theoretically she is rated to teach in any single-engine land plane, Mrs. Althausen is instructing only in Piper Cherokees of varying engine size. "I love teaching," she said. Flight instruction, she said, is better than classroom work because "you're always teaching one person only," instead of a roomful.

Oh, yes. It's incidental by now, but she is no longer afraid of airliners. She will admit, however, getting nervous just sitting in a plane and not knowing what is going on.

Like many persons, she would rather do it herself.

Giant Members To Be Honored

The "Dads Club" plans to honor several members of the San Francisco Giants Dec. 6 at an unselected site as its first benefit.

The fathers' group will elect officers at 8:30 p.m. Nov. 7 at 1608 Grant Avenue, according to Steven Marshall of 1202 Ridge View Heights, an organizer of the group.

Viet War Poll Shows No Vote

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — "Are we winning the war in Vietnam?" station WTIC-TV asked its viewers last night in its nightly audience-response program "Big Question."

Of the 3,840 who answered by phone, 42 per cent said "yes" and 58 per cent said "no."

"We're calling the Pentagon next to let them know," said a station spokesman reporting the results.

Hearing On Marijuana Is Waived

A Mill Valley cab driver pleaded innocent in Marin Municipal Court yesterday to a charge that resulted when he blew cigarette smoke into a policeman's face.

Peter Lee Arbuthnot, 29, of 247 Corte Madera Avenue, waived preliminary hearing on a charge of marijuana possession before Judge Alvin H. Goldstein Jr. The case was transferred to Superior Court for trial.

Mill Valley police charged that Arbuthnot walked into police headquarters Oct. 7 and blew smoke into an officer's face in apparent protest over marijuana laws.

Reagan To View Chile Relations

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Ronald Reagan plans to meet next Tuesday with representatives of Chile to discuss California's relationship with the South American country.

Reagan's office said Tuesday that the purpose of the meeting is to "focus attention on the fact that this administration is interested in a continuing relationship with Chile."

Local Issues Keeping Ford Plants Stilled

DETROIT (UPI — Striking United Auto Workers have ratified the most expensive national contract in the history of auto labor negotiations. But the Ford Motor Co. strike continued today as both sides tried to settle local issues.

More than 160,000 UAW members throughout the nation voted the new three-year pact their overwhelming approval. About 90 per cent of the company's, production workers approved the new agreement while skilled tradesmen, who had the power to veto the contract, approved it by a majority of 70 per cent.

But local issues at 33 of 101 plants, according to a Ford spokesman, were holding up the return to production for the nation's No. 2 auto maker. Ford has been shut down since midnight, Sept. 6.

The new contract will increase the average Ford worker's pay by $1,700 in the third year of the pact.

The average auto worker now gets $7,092 per year. The new contract will boost his pay to $8,798 three years from now. It will cost the auto industry close to $3 billion over the life of the contract if General Motors Corp., Chrysler Corp. and American Motors Corp. decide to go along with the Ford settlement.

Reuther's next move will be to head for either G. M. or Chrysler to begin working on them with the Ford agreement as his main bargaining tool.

PAY FOR WORK

But the hours and the bills started piling up, and "with three kids to put through college, I asked how I could keep this up." That was when she decided to get her instructor's license and start getting paid for flying.

She is now instructing, part-time by her own choice—she still has her family to take care of—at Sonoma Skypark, a new field where Thomas has moved his flying service.

Mrs. Althausen, who is in her late 30s, has arranged her instructing schedule so that most days she will be home in time to meet the children—who are still a long way from college age.

THREE CHILDREN

The oldest is Norman, 13, a freshman at Lick-Wilmerding High School in San Francisco. Teddy, 12, is a seventh grader at San Rafael Military Academy, and Amy, 10, is in fifth grade at Old Mill School, Mill Valley.

Mrs. Althausen plans eventually to start working for an instrument rating, but "at the moment, I'm sick of putting in four hours a night studying," she said. "For the time being, I may just try to recoup what I've put out so far."

While theoretically she is rated to teach in any single-engine land plane, Mrs. Althausen is instructing only in Piper Cherokees of varying engine size. "I love teaching," she said. Flight instruction, she said, is better than classroom work because "you're always teaching one person only," instead of a roomful.

Oh, yes. It's incidental by now, but she is no longer afraid of airliners. She will admit, however, getting nervous just sitting in a plane and not knowing what is going on.

Like many persons, she would rather do it herself.

Giant Members To Be Honored

The "Dads Club" plans to honor several members of the San Francisco Giants Dec. 6 at an unselected site as its first benefit.

The fathers' group will elect officers at 8:30 p.m. Nov. 7 at 1608 Grant Avenue, according to Steven Marshall of 1202 Ridge View Heights, an organizer of the group.

Viet War Poll Shows No Vote

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — "Are we winning the war in Vietnam?" station WTIC-TV asked its viewers last night in its nightly audience-response program "Big Question."

Of the 3,840 who answered by phone, 42 per cent said "yes" and 58 per cent said "no."

"We're calling the Pentagon next to let them know," said a station spokesman reporting the results.

Hearing On Marijuana Is Waived

A Mill Valley cab driver pleaded innocent in Marin Municipal Court yesterday to a charge that resulted when he blew cigarette smoke into a policeman's face.

Peter Lee Arbuthnot, 29, of 247 Corte Madera Avenue, waived preliminary hearing on a charge of marijuana possession before Judge Alvin H. Goldstein Jr. The case was transferred to Superior Court for trial.

Mill Valley police charged that Arbuthnot walked into police headquarters Oct. 7 and blew smoke into an officer's face in apparent protest over marijuana laws.

Reagan To View Chile Relations

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Ronald Reagan plans to meet next Tuesday with representatives of Chile to discuss California's relationship with the South American country.

Reagan's office said Tuesday that the purpose of the meeting is to "focus attention on the fact that this administration is interested in a continuing relationship with Chile."

Local Issues Keeping Ford Plants Stilled

DETROIT (UPI — Striking United Auto Workers have ratified the most expensive national contract in the history of auto labor negotiations. But the Ford Motor Co. strike continued today as both sides tried to settle local issues.

More than 160,000 UAW members throughout the nation voted the new three-year pact their overwhelming approval. About 90 per cent of the company's, production workers approved the new agreement while skilled tradesmen, who had the power to veto the contract, approved it by a majority of 70 per cent.

But local issues at 33 of 101 plants, according to a Ford spokesman, were holding up the return to production for the nation's No. 2 auto maker. Ford has been shut down since midnight, Sept. 6.

The new contract will increase the average Ford worker's pay by $1,700 in the third year of the pact.

The average auto worker now gets $7,092 per year. The new contract will boost his pay to $8,798 three years from now. It will cost the auto industry close to $3 billion over the life of the contract if General Motors Corp., Chrysler Corp. and American Motors Corp. decide to go along with the Ford settlement.

Reuther's next move will be to head for either G. M. or Chrysler to begin working on them with the Ford agreement as his main bargaining tool.

REUNION AFTER 57 YEARS

ABAG Asks Reaction To Regional Proposal

Marin cities were urged last night to make known by Jan. 31 their reactions to a tentative regional plan drawn up by the Association of Bay Area Governments.

James H. Hickey, ABAG planning director, told the Marin Council of Mayors and Councilmen last night that ABAG is seeking direction from the cities for development of a recommended plan by January, 1969.

Supervisor John F. McInnis assured councilmen that the plan "is not to be enforced by some outside agency on you or the county."

The purpose is to provide a "yardstick" by which cities can measure their planning in the light of regional planning, he said.

Hickey said there will be a public hearing on the tentative plan at 8 p.m. Dec. 14 at the Novato Community Hall.

The plan introduced more than a year ago designates most of Marin's hills and western slopes for open space, and favors the "city-centered concept," for development of existing or newly developed cities.

Hickey said ABAG wants the cities' responses to "goals and policies" rather than details.

The council, meeting at the San Geronimo Golf Club also had a brief review of another regional problem, air pollution control.

Thomas F. Brennan, of the Bay Area Pollution Control enforcement division, showed a film entitled "Cleaner Air, A Progress Report."

"Automobiles are 60 per cent of the problem," but the district doesn't have jurisdiction over autos, Brennan noted.

The district is limited to stationary sources, except for deisel locomotives and ships, Brennan reported.

Behr Nominated To Study Group

Supervisor Peter H. Behr has been nominated to represent the Bay Area Transportation Study Commission on the San Francisco Bay Conservation and Development Commission. The nomination by the chairman of the study commission, Nils Eklund, is to be confirmed Nov. 9 by the full commission.

Landslide Protection Is Endorsed

The Marin Council of Mayors and Councilman last night backed a resolution urging the state to require insurance companies to provide coverage for land slides.

Councilmen, with memories of last winter's slides still fresh, voted 9-0 to send the resolution to the League of California Cities and state legislators.

San Rafael Councilman Louis H. Baar noted that the coverage used to be provided, but in recent years insurance companies have not included land slide coverage in their contracts.

Windshield Hit

John Skavaril of 10 Rowley Circle, Tiburon, reported to the sheriff's department that something, "possibly a bullet," cracked his car's windshield at 6:05 p.m. yesterday as he passed the intersection of Tiburon Boulevard and Reed Ranch Road.

Another Tax Hike Is Held Necessary

FRESNO (AP)—The Republican legislator who introduced Gov. Ronald Reagan's massive $1 billion tax increase bill last session said today that another major tax bill "should be introduced at the 1968 session of the legislature."

"But this time," said Sen. George Deukmejian, R-Long Beach, "the tax bill should not raise taxes to meet a financial crisis. Rather, it should constitute a program of thoroughgoing tax reform."

Deukmejian's remarks were prepared for delivery to the Valley Tax Conference, sponsored by the State Chamber of Commerce.

Deukmejian defended Reagan's tax program, saying that the Republican governor inherited a cash deficit from the former Democratic administration.

He said a tax reform program should explore alternatives to the property tax. "We must attempt to modify our tax base so that the tax burden is more equitably distributed . . ." he said.

He said Reagan is "committed to a tax reform."

He said this year's tax bill has provided property tax relief by adding $145 million to school aid, establishing a $155 million fund for property tax relief for next year and providing $55 million for local government through cigarette taxes.

Congressional Splitting Of Marin Draws A Big 'No'

Opposition to any congressional reapportionment which would split Marin County was unanimous last night at a meeting of the Marin Council of Mayors and Councilmen.

The council voted to send letters to State Sen. John F. McCarthy and Assemblyman William T. Bagley opposing a split and urging the legislators to keep fighting.

Mayor Edward W. Colthurst of Corte Madera, referring to an Independent-Journal story yesterday, argued against "a defeatist attitude."

Bagley and McCarthy were quoted in the story as saying "we just don't have the votes," and Bagley as saying "the odds are five to one against us."

Colthurst said, "I don't want to take a negative attitude." No matter what the odds, "we should keep fighting," he said.

Actress Named In Divorce Case

LONDON (UPI) — Actress Hayley Mills, 21, the darling of a dozen Disney films, was named as "the other woman" today in a divorce suit filed by the wife of director Roy Boulting.

The suit was filed by Boulting's South African born wife, Enid, whom he married in 1951.

Lawyers said Boulting, 54, would contest the action.

Leaving Soon

NEW YORK (AP) — Mrs. John F. Kennedy will leave for Europe over the weekend on a trip that is to take her to Thailand and Cambodia, Nancy Tuckerman, her press secretary, said today.

The Great Garter-Length, Garter-less Stay-Up Sock That's Going Nowhere.

Mid-Lengths t.m. by Burlington.

It's a fact. Mid-Lengths won't dip. Or droop. Or slip. They stay a hip half-calf high without garters. Even after lots of fancy footwork.

Burlington used Lycra spandex in a special construction to put stay-up power throughout the entire sock. This makes Mid-Lengths conform to the shape of the calf, caress the entire leg. Gives them a snug-feeling hug that won't give in under action, won't give out even after the longest wear.

ROAD TOWARD UNITY

Pope Paul VI and Patriarch Athenagoras, spiritual leader of the world's Orthodox churches, embrace at the door of St. Peter's Basilica in a milestone meeting on the road toward Christian unity. The meeting today was the first in Rome between the church's leaders since the two churches separated 900 years ago. The split in 1054 came when the Orthodox refused to accept the primacy of the Pope. (AP Wirephoto via cable from Rome)

Unified Police Agency Study Flatly Rejected

The Marin Council of Mayors and Councilmen last night flatly rejected any study of the possibility of forming a countywide unified law enforcement agency.

"It was previously considered and we don't want it," said Larkspur Councilman Vaughn Marker at the council's meeting at the San Geronimo Golf Club.

"Ross is flatly against any merger of police departments," said Ross Councilman Roy Farrington Jones.

Their comments came as the council considered a letter from Hugh Dougherty of Stinson Beach, which had been referred to it by the Marin County Board of Supervisors.

Dougherty, a member of the Marin County Planning Commission, suggested an ad hoc citizens committee to study the possibility of a unified law enforcement agency for the entire county.

Town Mgr. Ronald L. Usher of Corte Madera said, "If someone thinks there should be consolidation, they should make a case why there should be consolidation. But it has never been made."

Mayor Albert E. White of Mill Valley said Dougherty's goal is a city-county of Marin "unified law enforcement is the first step."

White noted that there are differences in cities and services that people demand, "that are removed from the ken of the county."

Supervisor John F. McInnis said "It would cost more in the long run and involve a greater structure of administrative personnel."

The council voted to notify supervisors that it would take no action on Dougherty's suggestion, and its previous opposition to a countywide law enforcement agency would stand. The vote was 10-0 with Novato abstaining.

The council also gave a cold shoulder to an invitation from Supervisor Thomas T. Storer for the council to meet with the Marin County Board of Supervisors.

"I think it's all political, and I'd just as soon see cities meet individually with the board of supervisors if they have a problem," said San Rafael Councilman Louis H. Baar.

Council Chairman Neil Brixon, a Larkspur councilman, asked if the group would be interested in an afternoon meeting with supervisors before the next council session.

When there were no takers, Brixon said, "I gather there's not enough interest to accept the offer, and we'll table the letter."

The Marin Council of Mayors and Councilmen also:

TRANSIT DIRECTOR — Welcomed Seymour Kashin, newly appointed manager of the Marin Transit District, who commented, "we can do nothing better than you people want us to."

NEXT MEETING — Adjourned until Nov. 29 in San Rafael, at a place to be determined, with San Rafael as the host city.

Hocus-Pocus Revives Ancient God's Name

DETROIT (UPI)—When you say something is hocus-pocus, you're using the name of an ancient Saxon god.

Ochus Bochus was described as a demon of the forests who tricked men to destruction by the use of magic, according to the Handy Book of Literary Curiosities.

Seventh, Last Child Dies Of Insecticide Poisoning

ARACADIA, Fla. (AP)—The last of James and Annie Mae Richardson's seven children died today—poisoned by an agricultural insecticide.

Dianne, 3, died at 5:30 a.m., more than 12 hours after her six brothers and sisters died, one-by-one.

"If I could only have my children back," Richardson said last night. "I don't understand how it all happened so fast."

By 1:30 p.m. yesterday, six of the children, who ate a lunch of rice and beans flavored with pieces of hog's head, were dead.

DeSoto County Sheriff Frank Cline said the children's parents insisted there was no poison in the crowded, four-room apartment where the family lived.

"We're analyzing the food to see if it contained any traces of poison," the sheriff said today, "but we haven't received any report as yet."

Pathologist Millward White of Sarasota, who performed autopsies on six of the dead children, said they definitely died of parathion or malathion poisoning. Both are chemicals used in the control of insects in agriculture.

Cline said four of the children attended school yesterday morning and went home for lunch. The younger ones were left unattended, he said, when a baby-sitter did not show up.

Cline and Asst. State Atty. John Treble III searched the apartment yesterday afternoon and locked it pending the investigation. He said the couple was staying with neighbors.

"We don't know if they got down and rolled in it—or swallowed it. We just don't know what the means of intake was," Cline said.

Last Lincoln Note: $6,000

NEW YORK (AP) — The last letter Abraham Lincoln wrote, a message to the commissioner of Indian affairs, brought $6,000 last night at an auction of Lincolniana that sold for a total of $145,307.

Other than a brief note to Gen. Ulysses S. Grant, the letter was the only one Lincoln wrote on the day of his assasination. It was sold to the Lincoln Bookshop, of Chicago which also bought Lincoln's seal for $12,000.

ROAD TOWARD UNITY

Pope Paul VI and Patriarch Athenagoras, spiritual leader of the world's Orthodox churches, embrace at the door of St. Peter's Basilica in a milestone meeting on the road toward Christian unity. The meeting today was the first in Rome between the church's leaders since the two churches separated 900 years ago. The split in 1054 came when the Orthodox refused to accept the primacy of the Pope. (AP Wirephoto via cable from Rome)

Unified Police Agency Study Flatly Rejected

The Marin Council of Mayors and Councilmen last night flatly rejected any study of the possibility of forming a countywide unified law enforcement agency.

"It was previously considered and we don't want it," said Larkspur Councilman Vaughn Marker at the council's meeting at the San Geronimo Golf Club.

"Ross is flatly against any merger of police departments," said Ross Councilman Roy Farrington Jones.

Their comments came as the council considered a letter from Hugh Dougherty of Stinson Beach, which had been referred to it by the Marin County Board of Supervisors.

Dougherty, a member of the Marin County Planning Commission, suggested an ad hoc citizens committee to study the possibility of a unified law enforcement agency for the entire county.

Town Mgr. Ronald L. Usher of Corte Madera said, "If someone thinks there should be consolidation, they should make a case why there should be consolidation. But it has never been made."

Mayor Albert E. White of Mill Valley said Dougherty's goal is a city-county of Marin "unified law enforcement is the first step."

White noted that there are differences in cities and services that people demand, "that are removed from the ken of the county."

Supervisor John F. McInnis said "It would cost more in the long run and involve a greater structure of administrative personnel."

The council voted to notify supervisors that it would take no action on Dougherty's suggestion, and its previous opposition to a countywide law enforcement agency would stand. The vote was 10-0 with Novato abstaining.

The council also gave a cold shoulder to an invitation from Supervisor Thomas T. Storer for the council to meet with the Marin County Board of Supervisors.

"I think it's all political, and I'd just as soon see cities meet individually with the board of supervisors if they have a problem," said San Rafael Councilman Louis H. Baar.

Council Chairman Neil Brixon, a Larkspur councilman, asked if the group would be interested in an afternoon meeting with supervisors before the next council session.

When there were no takers, Brixon said, "I gather there's not enough interest to accept the offer, and we'll table the letter."

The Marin Council of Mayors and Councilmen also:

TRANSIT DIRECTOR — Welcomed Seymour Kashin, newly appointed manager of the Marin Transit District, who commented, "we can do nothing better than you people want us to."

NEXT MEETING — Adjourned until Nov. 29 in San Rafael, at a place to be determined, with San Rafael as the host city.

STUDENTS ESCAPE INJURY

A gas explosion rocked a large men's dormitory at Georgetown University in Washington, D. C., early this morning, dropping part of a ceiling into the lobby. All 450 students were evacuated after a spark from an electric light switch apparently ignited leaking gas. It caused the wire mesh and plaster ceiling in the lobby to drop down within five feet of the floor. (UPI Telephoto)

TIRE CUTTER GOES TO WORK ON FIREMEN

Someone there is who does not love the firemen — at least some of the Novato firemen.

Of the nine cars parked at the rear of the main fire station on Grant Avenue last night during the commissioner's meeting, five had tires slashed, according to Novato police. The culprit skipped the cars of the three commissioners and the chief, but slashed tires on the other five cars.

Asst. Chief James W. Kidder found both rear tires on his pickup truck had been cut with a sharp instrument when the meeting was over, according to Novato police.

The others were discovered this morning, but were thought to have been done at the same time, according to police. The vehicles each had one flat tire and belonged to Fire Lt. Walter J. Nolan and Firemen James G. Cavallero, Donald C. Ross and James E. Bowers.

Garden Hobbyist Finds Booster For Hair, Too

NORTH WINGFIELD, England (UPI) — A 73-year-old amateur gardener has found a new way to grow more tomatoes—and hair.

Les Hoten accidentaly rubbed his hands on his balding head after using a new fertilizer formula on his tomato plants. Then his hair began to grow First it covered a bald patch in the middle.

"Now it's starting to get really thick," Hoten said. He added "I read about the fertilizer in a paper. It's made up of fowl manure, fine sand and potash. But I changed the mixture around a bit to suit my own plants."

Hoten now plans to add some lavender to the formula to add a little more pleasant scent.

Republicans In Harmony On Not Tolerating Any Rioters

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Republican congressional leadership called on public authorities today to put "the violent few" among demonstrators on notice that their actions will no longer be tolerated.

"There is no right to act against the public safety by anyone, anywhere, any time—for any reason," the Senate and House GOP leaders declared in a statement.

They said they were talking not only about anti-Vietnam war demonstrations, such as the one here last weekend, but racial rioting and any other violence and violations of law.

Rep. Gerald R. Ford, of Michigan, the House GOP leader, read the statement at a joint news conference with Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, his counterpart in the Senate.

Dirksen noted that Dr. Martin Luther King had made a statement that there might be a demonstration or sit-in or "some kind of in" at the Capitol in an effort to prod Congress into action on antipoverty measures and other legislation. King did not take part in the antiwar demonstration.

Dirksen said government authorities should make it clear that if demonstrators violate the law, "whether it is Martin Luther King or anyone else," there will be punishment.

Ten women and 13 men among those arrested last weekend reportedly have refused to eat.

No Warning Of Quakes Desired

Special to the I-J

SANTA BARBARA — Advance-warning of major earthquakes would cause more upheaval than the quakes themselves, believes Dr. Garrett Hardin, professor of biology at the University of California at Santa Barbara.

He warns that vested interests would soon muzzle a proposed $100 million federal warning system. Writing in a recent issue of Per Se magazine, Hardin observes that earthquakes exist in "some operationally potential sense" for months and even years before a big shake occurs.

"Think what would happen to real estate values on the day some federal bureau announced: "There is a high probability of a severe earthquake in your town within the next six months," Dr. Hardin writes.

"It would not take many such disastrous financial experiences to produce a mobilization of various interested parties to suppress the predictions," the UCSB biologist believes.

The Shah Of Iran Crowns Himself King Of Kings

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — Guns and drums boomed and planes bombed Tehran with roses today as the Shah of Iran set a jeweled crown on his head and named himself King of Kings and Light of the Aryans.

It was the longest delayed coronation in history. Mohammed Reza Pahlevi had ruled for 26 years but delayed his coronation until his 48th birthday, after his campaign to modernize Iran was firmly established and after he had an heir.

The Shah crowned himself, then rose from the fabled Peacock Throne and placed a crown on the head of his kneeling third wife, Empress Farah, 20 years his junior. She was the first woman ever crowned in Iran's 2,513 years as a monarchy.

Calls to prayer echoed from minarets through the land and crowds dropped to their knees shouting "Javid Shah!" (Long Live the Shah!). The coronation was broadcast and televised from the glittering Golestan Palace opposite Tehran's old bazaar.

Iran, which has been transformed into the fastest developing and most stable nation in the Middle East by the Shah's revolution, erupted in a fervor of celebrations.

By donning the Pahlevi crown with its 3,755 jewels and the pearl-embroidered coronation cape, the son of a semiliterate Cossack officer named himself heir to Cyrus the Great, the Persian emperor who ruled the civilized world 25 centuries ago before the Roman Empire was born.

The Pahlevi dynasty dates back only to 1926, when the Shah's father—an officer in the Persian army, led a military coup, seized the throne and crowned himself Reza Shah the Great.

Reza Shah's son came to power in 1941 when British and Russian troops occupied the country and deposed the father for allegedly being pro-German. But the son refused to be crowned for more than two decades because "there is no pride in being the king of a poor people" and also because his first two wives failed to give him an heir.

Sidewinder Missile Is Reported Missing

AUGSBURG, Germany (AP) — A Sidewinder air-to-air missile was reported missing from a West German air force base near here. A military spokesman said the theft seemed to be the work of an expert burglar.

The 155-pound missile has an explosive warhead and an infrared locator device that is "electronically very interesting,' 'the spokesman said. It is part of the armament of Germany's F104G Starfighters.

Youth Held On Suspicion Of Marijuana

Brian Leslie Berry, 19, was arrested on suspicion of possessing marijuana last night after police arrested three young persons for trespassing in a downtown apartment.

The manager of the Del Monte Hotel complained to police that the three were trespassing in an Excelsior Lane apartment that was supposed to be vacant.

Police entered the apartment at 9:30 p.m. and found Berry, a 15-year-old girl later identified as a runaway, and Thomas Michael Mullaney, 20. Neither Berry nor Mullaney gave an address.

Police said Berry threw a cellophane bag out a window as they entered. The bag contained one and a half ounces of suspected marijuana.

Berry and Mullaney were also booked for investigation of trespassing and contributing to the delinquency of a minor. The girl was taken to Juvenile Hall.

Berry was held at Marin County Jail with no bail set and Mullaney was held in lieu of $550 bail. Both were to appear today in Marin Municipal Court.

Hughes Seeks To Buy Las Vegas TV Station

WASHINGTON (AP) —The Hughes Tool Co., of Houston, Tex., owned by Howard Hughes, has asked the Federal Communications Commission for permission to buy KLAS television station for $3,650,000, papers on file at the FCC showed today.

Greenspun said he wishes to sell the station because of a disastrous fire five years ago which jeopardized many of his interests, particularly the Las Vegas Sun. He said it was therefore necessary to dispose of some of his property, "in the interest of financial stability."

Greenspun places the replacement value of the station facilities at $1,525,000.

Hughes, 61, listed his residence as the Desert Inn at Las Vegas. The application also lists him as owner of the Sands Inc., which owns the Sands Hotel in Las Vegas.

Pair Is Found Dead By Nephew

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Ruth Moran, 51, cared tenderly for her 71-year-old invalid mother for 18 years, leaving her side only to work at Columbia Stuidos.

The two were found dead side by side yesterday.

A nephew, William Moran, 24, discovered the bodies after going to Mae Moran's apartment so her daughter could go to work. The place was filled with oxygen used in treatment of the elderly woman, a cancer victim.

On the door was pinned this note: "Billy don't smoke when you come in. The oxygen is on."

Police listed the cause of deaths as natural, pending autopsies.

FAR FROM SOLVED

U.N. Still Not Out Of Woods In Financial Housekeeping

By TOM HOGE

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The United Nations' financial plight has eased since it plugged up its two big peacekeeping operations, but the crisis is far from solved.

Noting recently that the world orgainzation is still more than $60 million in the red, Secretary-General U Thant warned that "prospects continue to give little cause for optimism."

A group of 14 experts who studied the financial situation said the main problem still was the failure of more than half of the organization's members to keep up with all their required payments.

REGULAR BUDGET

The regular budget of the United Nations is financed by contributions from member states on a scale determined periodically by the assembly. At least that is the way it works out on paper.

A recent analysis, however, showed that from Jan 1, 1957 through Sept. 30, 1965, the United Nations spent $1,170,500,000 and took in $976,600,000, leaving a shortfall of $193,900,000. This was partially offset after the United Nations issued $173,100,000 in emergency bonds.

The biggest drain on U.N. resources has come from the Congo and Middle East peacekeeping forces which required an outlay of more than half a billion dollares between 1956 and 1967. The UNEF operation alone cost the United Nations nearly $200 million over the years and the big Congo force ran up a whopping tab of $393 million.

Refusal of the Soviet Union, France and others to pay peacekeeping costs for one or both operations lies at the heart of the U.N.'s current deficit.

U.N. diplomats are hopeful that with the drain of these two operations cut off, the organization's deficits can eventually be wiped out by voluntary contributions.

Thant has proposed a 1968 budget for regular U.N. activities of $141.8 million, an increase of $12.4 million over 1967 expenditures. Main reason for the jump was a plan to add 524 persons to the U.N. staff, mainly in the economic and social fields. This would raise the U.N. payroll to 8,102.

The advisory Committee on Administrative and Budgetary Questions has also submitted to the assembly a recommendation of its own that only 271 new staff members be added, cutting Thant's figure almost in half.

OTHER FUNDS

These budget estimates do not include funds for related but specialized agencies such as the U.N. Scientific and Cultural Organization (UNESCO); the Food and Agriculture Organization (FAO), and the World Health Organization (WHO).

The United States, Britain and most West European countries are fully paid up on their U.N. commitments. So are the members of the British Commonwealth, the Scandinavians and a scattering of Asian, African and Latin American countries.

The United States, by far the biggest single donor, pays 30 per cent of the regular budget, or about $33 million a year.

RUSS DEFAULT

Biggest defaulter is the Soviet Union which owes $21,483,000 on UNEF and $39,223,000 on the Congo.

Others more than $1 million in arrears include:

UNEF: National China $4,894,000, Czechoslovakia $1,354,000, Poland $1,927,000, Spain $1,024,000, Soviet Ukraine $2,660,000.

Congo: Byelorussia $1,353,000, Nationalist China $6,687,000, Czechoslovakia $2,757,000, France $17,031,000, Poland $2,466,000, South Africa $1,503,000, Soviet Ukrainc $5,185,000.

Drunken Driving

John Paul Huzzy of San Mateo was fined $150 and placed on a year's probation yesterday in Marin Municipal Court for drunken driving. Sheriff's officers arrested him Sept. 19 on Highway 101.

This Saturday send a high school boy to jail.
Make it easy for him to steal your car.
Leave it unlocked. Leave the keys.
76% of stolen cars were left unlocked.
About half still had keys in them.
If he gets away with it, he'll try again next Saturday. Then he'll get caught. And our prisons are full of criminals who started their criminal lives as teen-age joyriders.
Some high school boys may be irresponsible. Are you, too?
Don't help a good boy go bad.

FAR FROM SOLVED

U.N. Still Not Out Of Woods In Financial Housekeeping

By TOM HOGE

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The United Nations' financial plight has eased since it plugged up its two big peacekeeping operations, but the crisis is far from solved.

Noting recently that the world orgainzation is still more than $60 million in the red, Secretary-General U Thant warned that "prospects continue to give little cause for optimism."

A group of 14 experts who studied the financial situation said the main problem still was the failure of more than half of the organization's members to keep up with all their required payments.

REGULAR BUDGET

The regular budget of the United Nations is financed by contributions from member states on a scale determined periodically by the assembly. At least that is the way it works out on paper.

A recent analysis, however, showed that from Jan 1, 1957 through Sept. 30, 1965, the United Nations spent $1,170,500,000 and took in $976,600,000, leaving a shortfall of $193,900,000. This was partially offset after the United Nations issued $173,100,000 in emergency bonds.

The biggest drain on U.N. resources has come from the Congo and Middle East peacekeeping forces which required an outlay of more than half a billion dollares between 1956 and 1967. The UNEF operation alone cost the United Nations nearly $200 million over the years and the big Congo force ran up a whopping tab of $393 million.

Refusal of the Soviet Union, France and others to pay peacekeeping costs for one or both operations lies at the heart of the U.N.'s current deficit.

U.N. diplomats are hopeful that with the drain of these two operations cut off, the organization's deficits can eventually be wiped out by voluntary contributions.

Thant has proposed a 1968 budget for regular U.N. activities of $141.8 million, an increase of $12.4 million over 1967 expenditures. Main reason for the jump was a plan to add 524 persons to the U.N. staff, mainly in the economic and social fields. This would raise the U.N. payroll to 8,102.

The advisory Committee on Administrative and Budgetary Questions has also submitted to the assembly a recommendation of its own that only 271 new staff members be added, cutting Thant's figure almost in half.

OTHER FUNDS

These budget estimates do not include funds for related but specialized agencies such as the U.N. Scientific and Cultural Organization (UNESCO); the Food and Agriculture Organization (FAO), and the World Health Organization (WHO).

The United States, Britain and most West European countries are fully paid up on their U.N. commitments. So are the members of the British Commonwealth, the Scandinavians and a scattering of Asian, African and Latin American countries.

The United States, by far the biggest single donor, pays 30 per cent of the regular budget, or about $33 million a year.

RUSS DEFAULT

Biggest defaulter is the Soviet Union which owes $21,483,000 on UNEF and $39,223,000 on the Congo.

Others more than $1 million in arrears include:

UNEF: National China $4,894,000, Czechoslovakia $1,354,000, Poland $1,927,000, Spain $1,024,000, Soviet Ukraine $2,660,000.

Congo: Byelorussia $1,353,000, Nationalist China $6,687,000, Czechoslovakia $2,757,000, France $17,031,000, Poland $2,466,000, South Africa $1,503,000, Soviet Ukraine $5,185,000.

Youth Held On Suspicion Of Marijuana

Brian Leslie Berry, 19, was arrested on suspicion of possessing marijuana last night after police arrested three young persons for trespassing in a downtown apartment.

The manager of the Del Monte Hotel complained to police that the three were trespassing in an Excelsior Lane apartment that was supposed to be vacant.

Police entered the apartment at 9:30 p.m. and found Berry, a 15-year-old girl later identified as a runaway, and Thomas Michael Mullaney, 20. Neither Berry nor Mullaney gave an address.

Police said Berry threw a cellophane bag out a window as they entered. The bag contained one and a half ounces of suspected marijuana.

Berry and Mullaney were also booked for investigation of trespassing and contributing to the delinquency of a minor. The girl was taken to Juvenile Hall.

Berry was held at Marin County Jail with no bail set and Mullaney was held in lieu of $550 bail. Both were to appear today in Marin Municipal Court.

Hughes Seeks To Buy Las Vegas TV Station

WASHINGTON (AP) —The Hughes Tool Co., of Houston, Tex., owned by Howard Hughes, has asked the Federal Communications Commission for permission to buy KLAS television station for $3,650,000, papers on file at the FCC showed today.

Greenspun said he wishes to sell the station because of a disastrous fire five years ago which jeopardized many of his interests, particularly the Las Vegas Sun. He said it was therefore necessary to dispose of some of his property, "in the interest of financial stability."

Greenspun places the replacement value of the station facilities at $1,525,000.

Hughes, 61, listed his residence as the Desert Inn at Las Vegas. The application also lists him as owner of the Sands Inc., which owns the Sands Hotel in Las Vegas.

Pair Is Found Dead By Nephew

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Ruth Moran, 51, cared tenderly for her 71-year-old invalid mother for 18 years, leaving her side only to work at Columbia Stuidos.

The two were found dead side by side yesterday.

A nephew, William Moran, 24, discovered the bodies after going to Mae Moran's apartment so her daughter could go to work. The place was filled with oxygen used in treatment of the elderly woman, a cancer victim.

On the door was pinned this note: "Billy don't smoke when you come in. The oxygen is on."

Drunken Driving

John Paul Huzzy of San Mateo was fined $150 and placed on a year's probation yesterday in Marin Municipal Court for drunken driving. Sheriff's officers arrested him Sept. 19 on Highway 101.

Debate Snags Remapping House Action

WASHINGTON (AP) — House action on a congressional redistricting bill was delayed yesterday by lengthy consideration of other legislation.

The bill, under heavy attack in both the House and Senate, might not be called up until next week, House leaders said.

The bill would provide that no state could be required to redistrict until after the 1970 census unless it takes a special census before then. It also would bar at-large elections for the House except in Hawaii and New Mexico.

Although it was worked out in a House - Senate conference, it bears little resemblance to versions passed several months ago by each body.

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., is leading the attack on the measure, charging the conferees with trying to block the Supreme Court from carrying out its one-man, one-vote directive until the 1972 elections.

Candidates To Report Tonight

Southern Marin voters will get their first chance tonight to hear views of the three people who thus far have announced their candidacy for supervisor from the third district.

An informal meeting with the candidates has been set by Mill Valley American Association of University Women today at 8 p.m. at the Community Church, Mill Valley, Mrs. Paul Geerlings, legislative chairman, announced.

Band Commenting On Rectitude?

JACKSON, Miss. (UPI)—Jackson police may never forget their reception at a local night spot when they dropped in to raid the place just before Mississippi's prohibition was lifted.

California Training Center Hit In Paper

WASHINGTON (AP) — A government report circulating on Capitol Hill under a "confidential" label present a picture of high cost, waste and disciplinary problems at a Job Corps center in California.

The Office of Economic Opportunity says the paper is not secret at all—that the agency itself had made it available to members of Congress—and that conditions have been corrected.

On the other hand the copy made available to a reporter carries a memorandum from the General Accounting Office which says the GAO had submitted the findings to the anti-poverty agency, had received no response, and felt Congress should be informed for its guidance on legislation.

The report says that after two years of operation, the estimated cost of the California center had jumped from $12.8 million to $25.5 million, the dropout rate was 55 per cent and only 8 per cent of the enrollees were placed in jobs related to their training.

It also relates that within a 60-day period, dismissal was recommended for 93 enrollees on disciplinary grounds ranging from assault, robbery and extortion to use of marijuana and sex perversion.

A spokesman for the Office of Economic Opportunity said the report was completed almost a year ago and was based on 1965-66 operations. He added that since 1966 operations have been tightened up at all such centers.

'Safe' Brands Advertising Hit

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Trade Commission rejected today the idea of advertising some brands of cigarettes as safe or safer than their competitors.

In a review of its policies on advertising the tar and nicotine content of cigarettes, the commission said scientific data indicate that a substantial reduction of tar and nicotine intake may lower the harmful effects of smoking.

But it added "there is no reliable evidence that the health hazards of cigarette smoking are thereby eliminated or avoided."

Poison Warning

BAKERSFIELD (UPI)—Farmers and farm workers should never place a pesticide in a container where it could be mistaken for drinking water, warns the U.S. Department of Agriculture Extension Service.

Sophisticated Jet Crashes, But Crew Ejects To Safety

LOVELOCK, Nev. (AP)—One of the fastest and highest flying reconnaissance aircraft in the United States crashed 35 miles north of Lovelock last night. Its two crewmen ejected safely.

The SR-71, assigned to the Strategic Air Command, was on a training flight out of Beale Air Force Base near Marysville, Calif.

Cause of the crash was not known. The scene was sealed off from newsmen and the fate of the craft could not be determined.

Maj. Roy L. St. Martin, 36, pilot from Omaha, Neb., and Maj. John A. Carnochan, 33, navigator from Denville, N.J., landed apparently unhurt. They are at Beale AF Bhospital for observation.

At Beale a spokesman said the SR-71 flies at more than three times the speed of sound and at an altitude in excess of 80,000 feet. It is a sister ship to the Air Force's new prototype YF-12A interceptor.

The spokesman said it carries sophisticated observation equipment and, for example, could fly from Los Angeles to Washington, a distance of about 2,000 miles in one hour and at the same time survey 60,000 square miles of the earth's surface, from an altitude of 80,000 feet.

Bootleg Evidence Destroys Itself

A LEGGY PIANO IN INDIA

Mrs. Vaughan C. Hill, Sleepy Hollow resident until moving with her family to India in June, directs 10 men (some not visible here) moving a grand piano in Hyderabad.T he photographer was a former Marin neighbor, Louis F. Czufin, 35 Green Valley Road, who visited the Hills last month. The men moved the piano at a full trot in unison, he reports. Mrs. Hill's husband is directing development of the largest fertilizer plant in India.

Classrooms Needs Study Set In Dixie

A finance study group of 75 members was appointed last night by the Dixie School District board of trustees to study methods of providing needed classrooms for the district.

The committee, composed of 70 citizens and five teachers as non-voting members, will hold its first meeting at Miller Creek School tonight at 8.

The trustees asked that the committee report back with recommendations no later than Dec. 1.

Preliminary plans for a five-classroom building were approved for addition to the Miller Creek School. Also approved were preliminary plans for addition of eight classrooms, administration facilities and library to the Oak View School.

Supt. Dennie B. Willis made it clear that the request for the building plans to continue at this time was made so that trustees would have alternate methods of providing building space after the finance study group submits its recommendations.

The Discie . School District Board of Trusteees also:

LIBRARY BOOKS — Approved an application for $8,893 in state aid for library books and materials.

PORTABLE Authorized rental of a portable classroom to be located at Miller Creek School at a cost of $2,100.

IMPROVEMENTS — Authorized $2,000 for concrete work and sprinkler system at Nova Albion School, fencing at Mary Silveira School, and $4,000 from community services fund for turfing and automatic sprinkler system at Dixie School.

BICYCLE — Set up a time schedule for bicycle licensing as required by the Terra Linda Community Services District ordinance so that bicycles not licensed by Nov. 15 would not be allowed at school.

Drug Abuse Bureau To Open Monday

Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos said the four-man squad will share offices with the existing sheriff's juvenile bureau in the San Rafael courthouse.

The four, each with the rank of inspector, are Garritt Van Raam, 39, who has been a senior narcotics agent with the state narcotics bureau; William G. Burgess, 28, formerly of San Diego Police Department; and Dennis B. Sawdon, 31, and James C. Schwendhelm, 34, who were with Oakland Police Department.

The bureaul approved by the board of supervisors, provides for consolidation of narcotics information by Marin law agencies into a central index file, and the exchange of information on investigations between county law enforcement officers and law officers of Marin's 11 cities.

Supervising the pooled efforts of the bureau will be a five-member council composed of the sheriff, district attorney, two police chiefs from the cities, and a city manager from one of the cities.

The bureau will maintain working relationships with the California State Bureau of Narcotics and federal agencies.

Walking To Health With Heart Trouble

SAN FRANCISCO (SS) — Victims of angina pectoris, the painful and disabling blockage of an artery, can frequently walk their way to health, the American Heart Association has been informed.

Seventy-five per cent of angina victims who are placed on a mild but steady exercise regimen showed "gratifying" improvement in a Los Agneles experiment, the association learned.

Dr. Albert A. Cattus, professor of medicine and chief of cardiology at the University of California at Los Angeles Medical School, reported on the walking cure.

He said his research group was trying to find out which is best for angina victims — the traditional complete rest or a mild program of exercise. He couldn't explain the physiological mechanism by which the exercise regimen did its work.

Dr. Cattus said 50 patients were started walking on a treadmill every day, with their hearts monitored by instruments so the doctors could keep a steady watch on them.

"Their symptoms got better and their capacity to perform exercise was greatly improved," Dr. Cattus said.

The improvement was so great with some patients they were able to do almost any kind of exercise, he added.

Dr. Cattus said that drugs, such as nitroglycerine, were administered during the walking exercise to minimize pain and discomfort.

"Approximately 75 per cent had very gratifying results," the physician claims.

He said walking is the best kind of exercise for angina victims because it deesn't require any quick spurts of energy such as when a cyclist suddenly has to climb a hill.

Dr. Cattus said the 75 per cent who got relief actually showed physical improvement in their arteries.

Those who suffered complete blockage were able to improve their collaterals, the tiny vessels which take over the load of blood from a blocked artery.

When there was constriction of arteries without complete blockage, the artery itself got bigger as the exercise continued, he said.

Heart physicians at the meeting were unanimous in blamed lack of exercise for the mounting incidence of heart disease in America.

"People in our society really have to go out of their way to get any exercise at all," complains Dr. William E. Kannel, Framingham, Mass. "Exercise has practically been engineered out of existence in this country."

Actor Convicted In Auto Death

LUCCA, Italy (UPI) —Actor William Holden was convicted of manslaughter today and given a suspended eight-month jail sentence in the 1966 auto death of an Italian salesman.

The 49-year old Holden, a resident of Switzerland, was found guilty following a 90-minute trial of causing the death of Valerio Giorgio Novelli in an auto accident near here July 26, 1966.

Holden was not present.

The three-judge court also suspended his driving privileges in Italy for eight months.

DEEP STEAM

Carpet Cleaning

NEW

Deep Steam removes soil from both the pile of the carpet and the carpet backing. Since no brushes or scrubbing action is used, there is no distortion of the carpet pile. The powerful extraction action of the DEEP STEAM process lifts matted pile to 'like new' appearance. The need for frequent professional cleaning is reduced because deeply embedded soil is removed and leaves no residue in the carpet fibers to collect dirt. During this cleaning operation every fiber is coated with a Soil Retardant to keep your carpet clean longer.

The old equipment with brushes, using liquid detergent or powder, scrubs the soil DEEPER into the fabric . . . and even with the help of a vacuum fails to remove soil or residue. The detergent or powder left in the fabric soon attracts more soil and it is not long before the soil works back to the surface. Soon your carpets appear more soiled than before!

Orange-Red Object Reported Over Marin

A bright orange-red object, moving back and forth across the night sky over Marin, occasionally shooting off sparks, was sighted by about 15 Marinites Tuesday, R. L. Johnstone of Mill Valley reported today.

Johnstone, president of a wholesale textile firm in San Francisco, said he and about 15 other members of the Scott Valley Homeowners Association saw the object at 8:20 p.m. as they were about to enter Enda Maguire School for a homeowners meeting.

The object first was seen over San Rafael, then moved northeast, then west, Johnstone said. It appeared to be larger than any planet which can be seen with the eye, he said, and it moved at the speed a jet plane appears to move when it is at 25,000 feet and seen from the ground, Johnstone said.

The object sometimes had sparks shooting from it; sometimes its orange-red color would fade to return again, he said.

Johnstone could not remember the names of any others standing in the group with him watching, saying that he had met only some of them and that very recently.

But Mrs. Alvin Sargent, treasurer of the association, said her husband, now out of town, had seen something, and that she had noticed the group looking at the sky.

H. H. Korner, another homeowner association member, said he had not seen anything Tuesday but saw a strange object in the sky about three weeks ago.

He, his wife, and Dr. and Mrs. Elliot Liff of Mill Valley were in the Korner home, 8 Eton Way about 10 p.m. when what Korner described as a yellowish object was seen in the sky.

It moved across the sky, having a circle of light rotating around it, then went up in flames, he said.

Mrs. Liff said that the date was Oct. 6 when the two couples watched for about 10 minutes as a shining object was seen to move "very rapidly" across the sky. It had a shining halo around it, she said, and made no noise as it moved, then disappeared.

Police in Mill Valley and Sausalito said they had received no reports of strange objects in the sky, nor had Hamilton Air Force Base. Base spokesmen said there were no aircraft in the sky at that time which might fit the descriptions observers gave.

Joint Session

Fairfax City Council and the planning commission will meet in joint session to study the proposed city zoning ordinance at 7:30 p.m. Monday at the Fairfax Women's Club, 46 Park Road.

Bus Drivers Are Honored

Honored were Herman F. Buettner and Lawrence R. Sager, both of San Rafael, for 20 years of accident-free driving, and Richard C. Doggett of San Anselmo, for 15 years of accident-free driving.

Buettner and Sager have driven an estimated 500,000 bus commuter miles; Doggett about 375,000 commuter miles.

Disposable Artificial Kidney

Special to the I-J

SAN FRANCISCO — Extensive human trials of a small, disposable artificial kidney will be made at the Artificial Kidney Center, San Francisco General Hospital, before the first of the year, according to Dr. Frank A. Gotch, co-director of the center and associate clinical professor of medicine at the University of California's San Francisco Medical Center.

The new artificial kidney has been extensively tested on animals and on two human patients in Michigan.

Dr. Gotch says there are 40,000 Americans "with incurable kidney disease."

Artificial kidney therapy presently costs $10,000 to $12,000 a year per patient. "This presents medicine and society with a real dilemma," says Dr. Gotch. "Are only the wealthy to be saved? If all are to be saved, who is to pay the costs?"

The development of home treatment with the artificial kidney now used in hospitals and the successful development of the new kidney under study will greatly decrease those costs.

Jury Returns Guilty Verdict In Gun Case

A Marin Superior Court jury last night convicted John Thomas Norton, 25, of illegal possession of a sawed-off rifle, but couldn't agree on charges of assaulting a police officer and marijuana possession.

Judge Thomas F. Keating scheduled judgment on the gun possession for Nov. 27. He then transferred the other two counts to the master calendar at 9:30 a.m. Monday for setting of another trial.

Norton, of Muir Beach, has pleaded innocent and innocent by reason of insanity to felony assault with the gun on Sheriff's Deputy Ronald Spurrell in Tamalpais Valley on June 23, and with having marijuana when he was arrested.

Throughout the trial, which started Tuesday, he refused to talk with his court-appointed attorney, Harold J. Truett of the public defender's office. No defense witnesses took the stand and Norton, ruled able to cooperate with his attorney and to understand trial proceedings during a jury sanity hearing on Aug. 20, did not take the stand himself.

The jury deliberated four hours. Asst. Dist. Atty Leonard Shaw prosecuted.

Mississippi Woman Knows Her Governors

Her husband served as Mississippi's chief executive from 1940 to 1943 and her son, Paul B. Johnson Jr., will wind up a four-year term as governor in January, 1968.

Halloween Festivities Open To The Public

The public will be admitted free of charge to both the Halloween parade on Saturday and the spook house next Tuesday at the Marinwood Community Center, recreation director William A. Gordon announced today.

The Halloween parade starts at 10 a.m. near the Marinwood tennis courts. The procession, led by a fire engine, will proceed to the center for judging and awarding of prizes.

On Tuesday, Oct. 31, the spook house will be open from 3 to 5 p.m. at the community center. It is sponsored by the Marinwood Funsters, a senior citizens group.

Gordon also announced that a bus will leave the Marinwood Center at 11 a.m. on Nov. 5 for Kezar Stadium where the Forty Niners play the Los Angeles Rams. "Those who want a ride to Kezar on Nov. 5 should make reservations at the community center," said Gordon.

Gas and oil burners operate on the argand burner principle of admitting air to the interior of the flame.

Vocational School Eyed For Marin City

The possibility of light industry and a vocational training school in Marin City was discussed last night by the Marin City Foundation, an "action group" newly organized by the Marin Council for Civic Affairs to hasten the physical completion of Marin City.

The foundation, headed by Margaret Azevedo of Tiburon, met at Saint Andrew United Presbyterian Church and set up committee chairmen to report back at the next meeting scheduled for 8 p.m., Nov. 8.

Pollster Mervin D. Field of Belvedere will head a committee to study and report back on the "redevelopment apparatus in Marin City and why it failed."

Nancy Swadesh of Tiburon, teacher and lecturer, will report on the possibility of setting up a light industrial plant in Marin City and incorporate on the spot training.

Harold Stockstad, Marin City structural engineer, will report back on the possibility of setting up a vocational training school in Marin City.

Mrs. Ida Geary, public relations chairman, reported the group's emphasis is on action rather than structure. Aim of the organization is to develop Marin City into an attractive community, said Mrs. Geary.

Children Die In House Fire

LONDON (AP) — Two young sons of Nigeria's deputy high commissioner in London died with their teen-age nurse today in a fire at their home in London's Belgravia district.

The deputy, Balarabe Balewa, saved two more of his children—both girls—after a blaze swept through a bedroom of the house in Chester Street.

The dead boys were Ibrahim, 5, and Hadijatu, 1. They were found with the body of the nurse, 17-year-old Risi Adegoke, in a rear bedroom on the fourth floor.

Finch Stays Neutral In Candidate Bidding

SACRAMENTO (AP) — With strong ties to two of the potential candidates, Bob Finch remains nervously neutral in the maneuvering for the 1968 Republican presidential nomination.

The 42-year-old attorney and Marine veteran also is former administrative assistant to Richard M. Nixon when Nixon was vice president, and was Nixon's presidential campaign manager in 1960.

Should Reagan be drafted for the GOP nomination next year and win, Finch would become governor of the nation's largest state.

"If a Republican president is elected, there always is the possibility for federal service," Finch said while discussing his future during an interview this week.

But Finch's political fortunes aren't just tied to the coattails of others. Republicans see Finch as one of their brightest prospects following his 1.2 million vote victory in the 1966 election — a wider margin than Reagan's.

Finch, often leaning back and propping his feet on a cluttered desktop, makes no secret of his desire to be a U.S. senator. But, he adds, "I'd never take on one of the incumbents."

Sen. Thomas Kuchel is up for re-election next year and is expected to seek another six-year term. There is some speculation that Sen. George Murphy might not run for re-election in 1970. Both are Republicans.

If either decided to give up his Senate seat, Finch would seriously consider becoming a candidate, he said.

Meanwhile, Finch is building a reputation as an active, hard-working lieutenant governor — as post normally fraught with anonymity. Finch now holds the potential controlling vote in the state Senate, where he is the presiding officer and Republicans and Democrats each have 20 seats.

Despite his personal interest in the developing campaign for the GOP presidential nomination, Finch discusses the situation with the cool detachment of the political strategist he is.

Nixon, Finch said, "has to prove he can win some primaries." The early primary elections are particularly important, Finch said. But he doubts any candidate can sweep the primaries.

"It'll be a mixed bag," he said. "The great problem in each state is who gets on the ballot and how many get on the ballot. It's not like the same two boxers meeting in a series."

Reagan could be nominated, Finch said, if: 1. He continues to impress the people with the job he's doing in California; 2. If he moves up in the public opinion polls; 3. If no one else has emerged from the primaries with a commanding lead in the race; and 4. If Reagan makes a creditable showing in those primaries where he'll appear on the ballot.

Finch doesn't believe Reagan will become an avowed candidate, but thinks it possible that pressure could build into a Reagan draft, particularly if Nixon doesn't score well in the primaries.

Guilty Pleas To Robbery

Two of four persons accused in the April 29 armed robbery of Bottle Shop in Sausalito pleaded guilty yesterday in Marin Municipal Court.

The pair, Frank Henry Brown, 23, and Robert James McFate, 22, both already serving time at San Quentin Prison for robbery in Los Angeles County, also pleaded guilty to shooting at Sausalito Patrolman Robert Glynn following the holdup.

The other two, Peggy Ann Priesman, 26, and Joseph Jarvis, were convicted to the Sausalito robbery earlier. McFate and Brown will be sentenced in Marin Superior Court.

Bike Safety Program Set

The Sausalito Police Department will hold a bicycle safety program at 10 a.m. Nov. 4 at Bayside School. Bike-owning children will be given safety tips and asked to register and license their bicycles.

Under the new licensing program, which is not mandatory, each bicyclist would buy a permanent license which will be registered with police. The aim is to cut down bicycle thefts and improve the recovery rate, police Sgt. James Nunes said.

Police Protection Proposal Will Be Viewed Once Again

A proposed county service area for police protection in unincorporated areas will be discussed again by the City-County Services Committee at its meeting Monday night.

The meeting will be held at 8 p.m. in Room 343 of the Civic Center.

The committee is proposing the county service area because city taxpayers are bearing the cost of their own police deparemen's in addition to the cost of the sheriff's office. The county administrator estimates that such a service area could raise the tax rate in unincorporated areas by 9.5 cents and lower the over-all countywide tax rate by 3.3 cents.

Several city officials have spoken in favor of the county service area for police protection, but many groups and individuals in unincorporated areas are vigorously opposed.

At the last hearing before the Marin County Board of Supervisors on Oct. 3, Hugh Dougherty of Stinson Beach called for a county share of city sales tax receipts if the cities want unincorporated areas to pay a bigger share of the sheriff's cost. The supervisors continued the controversial issue for another hearing on Nov. 14.

Two other items to be discussed Monday night are the possibility of consolidating all law enforcement agencies in Marin, and a proposed joint powers agreement between the county and the 11 cities for consolidation of narcotics information into a central file, and mutual exchange of other police information.

Center's Work To Be Viewed

Dr. Arnold B. Nurock, coordinator of the March of Dimes Defects Center of Children's Hospital of the East Bay, will tell of the center's work at a meeting tomorrow of the executive board of the Marin March of Dimes.

Contributions to the National Foundation — March of Dimes given by Marinites help support the center, to which Marinites may be referred.

Mrs. Walter F. Johnson of San Anselmo and Mrs. Melvin Hammond of Terra Linda are co-chairmen of the Marin March of Dimes campaign which will begin in January.

California Duck Count —Nearing 800,000

SCRAMENTO (UPI) —Nearly 800,000 ducks were counted in California's Central Valley during the State Fish and Game Department's 1967 aerial waterfowl survey.

The 791,000 ducks included 671,000 pintails and 50,765 mallards. The total was the second highest on record.

Finch Stays Neutral In Candidate Bidding

The 42-year-old attorney and Marine veteran also is former administrative assistant to Richard M. Nixon when Nixon was vice president, and was Nixon's presidential campaign manager in 1960.

Should Reagan be drafted for the GOP nomination next year and win, Finch would become governor of the nation's largest state.

"If a Republican president is elected, there always is the possibility for federal service," Finch said while discussing his future during an interview this week.

But Finch's political fortunes aren't just tied to the coattails of others. Republicans see Finch as one of their brightest prospects following his 1.2 million vote victory in the 1966 election — a wider margin than Reagan's.

Finch, often leaning back and propping his feet on a cluttered desktop, makes no secret of his desire to be a U.S. senator. But, he adds, "I'd never take on one of the incumbents."

Sen. Thomas Kuchel is up for re-election next year and is expected to seek another six-year term. There is some speculation that Sen. George Murphy might not run for re-election in 1970. Both are Republicans.

If either decided to give up his Senate seat, Finch would seriously consider becoming a candidate, he said.

Meanwhile, Finch is building a reputation as an active, hard-working lieutenant governor — as post normally fraught with anonymity. Finch now holds the potential controlling vote in the state Senate, where he is the presiding officer and Republicans and Democrats each have 20 seats.

Despite his personal interest in the developing campaign for the GOP presidential nomination, Finch discusses the situation with the cool detachment of the political strategist he is.

Nixon, Finch said, "has to prove he can win some primaries." The early primary elections are particularly important, Finch said. But he doubts any candidate can sweep the primaries.

"It'll be a mixed bag," he said. "The great problem in each state is who gets on the ballot and how many get on the ballot. It's not like the same two boxers meeting in a series."

Reagan could be nominated, Finch said, if: 1. He continues to impress the people with the job he's doing in California; 2. If he moves up in the public opinion polls; 3. If no one else has emerged from the primaries with a commanding lead in the race; and 4. If Reagan makes a creditable showing in those primaries where he'll appear on the ballot.

Finch doesn't believe Reagan will become an avowed candidate, but thinks it possible that pressure could build into a Reagan draft, particularly if Nixon doesn't score well in the primaries.

Guilty Pleas To Robbery

Two of four persons accused in the April 29 armed robbery of Bottle Shop in Sausalito pleaded guilty yesterday in Marin Municipal Court.

The pair, Frank Henry Brown, 23, and Robert James McFate, 22, both already serving time at San Quentin Prison for robbery in Los Angeles County, also pleaded guilty to shooting at Sausalito Patrolman Robert Glynn following the holdup.

The other two, Peggy Ann Priesman, 26, and Joseph Jarvis, were convicted to the Sausalito robbery earlier. McFate and Brown will be sentenced in Marin Superior Court.

Bike Safety Program Set

The Sausalito Police Department will hold a bicycle safety program at 10 a.m. Nov. 4 at Bayside School. Bike-owning children will be given safety tips and asked to register and license their bicycles.

Under the new licensing program, which is not mandatory, each bicyclist would buy a permanent license which will be registered with police. The aim is to cut down bicycle thefts and improve the recovery rate, police Sgt. James Nunes said.

Police Protection Proposal Will Be Viewed Once Again

A proposed county service area for police protection in unincorporated areas will be discussed again by the City-County Services Committee at its meeting Monday night.

The meeting will be held at 8 p.m. in Room 343 of the Civic Center.

The committee is proposing the county service area because city taxpayers are bearing the cost of their own police deparemen's in addition to the cost of the sheriff's office. The county administrator estimates that such a service area could raise the tax rate in unincorporated areas by 9.5 cents and lower the over-all countywide tax rate by 3.3 cents.

Several city officials have spoken in favor of the county service area for police protection, but many groups and individuals in unincorporated areas are vigorously opposed.

At the last hearing before the Marin County Board of Supervisors on Oct. 3, Hugh Dougherty of Stinson Beach called for a county share of city sales tax receipts if the cities want unincorporated areas to pay a bigger share of the sheriff's cost. The supervisors continued the controversial issue for another hearing on Nov. 14.

Two other items to be discussed Monday night are the possibility of consolidating all law enforcement agencies in Marin, and a proposed joint powers agreement between the county and the 11 cities for consolidation of narcotics information into a central file, and mutual exchange of other police information.

Center's Work To Be Viewed

Dr. Arnold B. Nurock, coordinator of the March of Dimes Defects Center of Children's Hospital of the East Bay, will tell of the center's work at a meeting tomorrow of the executive board of the Marin March of Dimes.

Contributions to the National Foundation — March of Dimes given by Marinites help support the center, to which Marinites may be referred.

Mrs. Walter F. Johnson of San Anselmo and Mrs. Melvin Hammond of Terra Linda are co-chairmen of the Marin March of Dimes campaign which [illegible] begin in January.

California Duck Count —Nearing 800,000

SCRAMENTO (UPI) —Nearly 800,000 ducks were counted in California's Central Valley during the State Fish and Game Department's 1967 aerial waterfowl survey.

The 791,000 ducks included 671,000 pintails and 50,765 mallards. The total was the second highest on record.

The Haunted House Beckons—

Caldrons bubble with evil spirit and creepy creatures drift about in the eerie atmosphere of the Haunted House now open at the Old Coleman School, Linden and Grand avenues, San Rafael.

Sponsors of the Haunted House are members of the Jolly Rogers Chapter of the Children's Home Society. Old favorites the Mad Scientist, Purple People Eater, and the Friendly Pumpkin have returned to their creepy haunts along with the Red Devil.

The House opened Tuesday and will be open through Halloween. Week day hours are 3 to 9 p.m., and on Halloween the Haunted House will be open from 3 to 6 p.m.

Co-chairmen of the event are Mesdames Richard Miller and Ruben Valtierra. Assisting them are Mesdames Charles Jones, stores-decorators; Paul Coutlee, rooms-decorating; Wayne Easton, staffing; James Kean, awards; Tony Albini and Dietrich Stroeh, costumes and makeup; Robert Banfield, posters and flyers, and Richard Chapman, publicity.

Members and their husbands staffing the House are Messrs. and Madames Tony Albini, Douglas Ascher, O. Phillip Baker, Robert Banfield, George Barnwell, Paul Bates, Randall Bechtel, Clifford Bunds, Thomas Burford, Richard Chapman, John Colombo, Paul Coutlee, Raymond Dallara, Wayne Easton, Floyd Fisher, Robert Freeman, Wayne Hathaway, Kenneth Howard, Charles Jones, James Kean, Denis Kim, Salvador Lenci, Robert Lillie, Noel McCarthy, James McConnell, Richard Miller, Lee Moon, Phillip Roark, George Schilling, Dietrich Stroeh, Charles Stumpf, Robert Taverna, Frank Turner, Ruben Valtierra, William Wilson, James Winter, Dr. and Mrs. Anthony Trevor and Dr. and Mrs. Gerald Vonderahe.

Crittenton Membership Lunch Set

The fall membership luncheon of the Marin Circle of the Florence Crittenton Home will be held Nov. 14 at Tiburon Tommie's, beginning at 11:30 a.m.

Special guests will be Gardiner Johnson, president of the Florence Crittenton board of directors; Mrs. Victors Furst of Ross, member of the board of the San Francisco Crittenton Home, and Mrs. Martha Cummings, its volunteer services coordinator.

Mrs. Gerald Elbert and Mrs. William Fuss, who were cochairmen for the Concours d'Elegance in September will present the Marin Circle's proceeds check to the home.

Improvement Club Chinese Luncheon, Auction Planned

A "Sip, Sup and Bid" Chinese luncheon and silent auction will be the double feature at the Tuesday meeting of the San Rafael Improvement Club.

The club's annual fund-raising event, the auction will provide funds for the San Rafael Improvement Club's scholarship program. Decorative and kitchen accessories will be among items going to the highest bidder.

A social hour will begin at 11:30 a.m., with luncheon at 12:30, followed by the auction.

Marin Horsey Set To Attend Opening

By MOLLY MARIN

A number of Novatans will be among the horsey set attending the opening night of the Grand National at the San Francisco Cow Palace tomorrow to see the Novato Horsemen's Association color guard: Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Montgomery and Lloyd Loftus and Mrs. Michael Cullins will make up the color guard, and in the viewing stands will be Mrs. Lloyd Loftus, Messrs. and Mesdames Al Galvin, Neil Cullins, James Prince and James Kimball, all members of the Novato Horsemen.

A NOSTALGIC and stirring finale at Tuesday night's 35th anniversary banquet of the Business and Professional Women's Club of Marin at Sabella's Restaurant was the surprise appearance of College of Marin choir members from the years 1944 to 1958 who sang under the direction of Clinton Lewis, choir director at the college in those years. The choir tribute was for the honored charter members among whom was Ada Fusselman, long a board member of the College of Marin Elsie P. Mazzini was chairman of the anniversary gathering which also honored Dr. Mary Harris and Letha Jenkins, charter members, along with Florence Donnelly, historian for the Independent-Journal.

MR. AND MRS. MADISON DEVLIN were hosts at a dinner party at their Mill Valley home Saturday evening honoring Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Biiss of Walnut Creek, who recently returned from Hong Kong. The men were all fraternity brothers. Other guests were Messrs. and Mesdames Eliot Swan of Berkeley, Harold Hawes and Wendell Spackman of Orinda and Ralph Pollack of Woodland.

A TIBURON COUPLE, Mr. and Mrs. William Howell, who are traveling around the world, happened to find themselves in Tehran during the excitement in connection with the coronation of the King of Iran which took place today.

In a letter to us, Bill Howell, president of the Tiburon Chamber of Commerce, describes the scene, ". . . every city, town or village or group of two farm houses are now decorated with Iranian flags. Temporary arches are decorated and lighted on the highways any place there is a village all over Iran. . . The coronation festivities will last 10 days. . ."

The Park Hotel where the Howells are staying will be the headquarters for international press and distinguished guests. Other hotel guests have been asked to leave by Saturday, when the Howells depart for Kabul, Afghanistan. The coronation of the king, who has actually been ruling for years, is traditionally held upon the seventh birthday of his son. The crown prince was seven today.

Mr. and Mrs. Howell were disappointed not to have been able to see the crown jewels. Both the bank vault where they are kept and the Golestan Palace have been closed to visitors since March in preparation for the coronation. The Marin couple were told that the fabulous jewels are the base for the Iran currency. The Iranian people will share in the national happiness — all babies born Oct. 26 are to be given free life insurance, couples marrying will receive wedding gifts, and thousands of prisoners are freed under the terms of a royal amnesty.

PART OF THE fun of little theater productions is recognizing members of the cast . . . Mrs. Phillip Schneider, owner of a yarn shop in Strawberry, appears in "Catch Me If You Can," the Cove Players offering on Main Street, in Tiburon. Her role as a humorous delicatessen proprietor is quite a contrast to her own life as wife of Phillip Schneider, superintendent of schools in Sausalito, and mother of three college-age children. She has been a member of the Cove Players for nine years.

THE ART AUCTION to be held Sunday at the Fantasticks Theater in San Francisco is being aided by Marinites Mesdames Jack Carney of San Anselmo, Lloyd Ulberg of Tiburon, and Herbert Jaffe of San Anselmo. Jack Carney will be among the auctioneers for the San Francisco Psychiatric Day Center benefit.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Professional Ballplayer Operates Furiously On And Off The Field

DEAR HELEN:

I've been going with a guy since February. But he went away in March to play professional baseball. When he came home he wasn't at all like his letters. He had a big new convertible and a fabulous wardrobe, and I was just the girl he dated between fast girls. He'd come to my house and talk, more than he'd take me out.

Now he's back in Florida. We write to each other, but I know he's chasing around while I'm sitting home being true — and dumb! I just heard from his mother that she thought he was with me every evening while he was home. I think I was being used for a cover, to keep her from knowing he was out with the honky-tonk girls.

Should I write and call it quits? — STRIKE OUT

DEAR S.O.:

Don't blow the ball game! Put this "play-the-fielder" in your minor league, and let him know he's just one of the reserves. In other words, keep him on the string and hope for improvement, but, meanwhile, keep scouting for better prospects.—H.

DEAR HELEN:

We dug each other on sight, and we've been having a groove and a half ever since we met two weeks ago. He's the most wonderful guy in the world, but he has this one phobia.

He said if a couple wants to stay together forever, they have to belong to each other. Without making love, he says, it's incomplete and we'll break up inside of six months if I haven't changed my mind. He isn't threatening me and he's very logical. He says he went with a girl for three years, and when they finally decided to go all the way, he found out what he was missing. They were fulfilled!

Helen, I'm torn between love and my pride in being a virgin. If you say forget him—ha:forget you! I don't want to give in, but I want us to be for always. Help.—TEEN

DEAR TEEN:

One question: If sex — and, believe me, after a mere two weeks, it's sex, not "making love" — if sex makes couples stay together forever, then how come your boyfriend and his girl parted shortly after she gave in?

In these columns I've given teens every possible reason for staying virgin. So now I'll only say — Look, little stupid, can't you recognize the line your mother laughed at 25 years ago? The trouble with modern girls is they're 10 times as gullible as we elders used to be — and the guys are sure as heck making points with that creaky old psychology routine.—H.

DEAR HELEN:

"A guy says he doesn't like promiscuous girls and he would never marry one that is "easy." So why does he try so hard to "find out" what she is?

If he wants to marry a good girl, let him play fair and be good himself! Honest, we won't think he's unmanly if he acts like a gentleman.—A.R.A.

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen help you. Address Helen Bottel in care of the Independent-Journal.

Mill Valley Championship Aftermath—

Mill Valley Women's Golf Club will have its annual captain's party honoring winners following the final round of the club's championship tournament, starting at 8:30 a.m. Friday.

Cocktails will be served at 1 p.m. preceding the 1:30 luncheon.

Mrs. Frank Kern is golf captain, and runnersup in the tournament are Mrs. George Prydz, and Mrs. Don Roberts.

Holloween Party For Kindergarten

Alpha Tau Chapter of Kappa Phi Sigma sorority in Novato will host a Halloween party at the Kindergarten for Mentally Retarded School in Santa Venetia on Monday for both morning and afternoon sessions.

Mrs. Colin White is service chairman and is assisted by Mesdames John Bassett, Earl Aurelius, Leo Horton, Carl Windh, and John Colistra.

WISCONSIN nuptials united in marriage John M. Jacobs of Greenbrae and Judith R. Wallander of Cato, Wis. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Donovan Jacobs of Greenbrae. The couple will make their home in San Rafael.

Belvedere Woman Heading Red Cross

Elected last week to the job of chairman of Marin County Chapter, American National Red Cross was Mrs. E. Gould Ingram of Belvedere, succeeding Mrs. William R. Eastman Jr. of San Rafael, who has held the post for two years.

MRS. E. GOULD INGRAM

Mrs. Ingram began association with American Red Cross as a staff assistant in Okinawa at the end of World War II, when she worked at a club for members of all branches of the armed forces.

She has been active in the Marin Chapter for 10 years during which she has served in office of volunteers and in fund raising capacities, and as a member of the board of directors.

Jo Ingram is an avid tennis player and lists among her other interests community affairs. She serves as a trustee of the United Bay Area Crusade in Marin County, and has been associated with them in other county-wide assignments in recent years. The Ingrams' two sons are students, one at Denver College and the younger at Dunn Preparatory School.

Also serving on the board of directors will be John D. LaNoue, first vice chairman; Mrs. Harry D. Rothrock, second vice chairman; the Rev. Henry Kent, third vice chairman; Mrs. Susan Hossfeld, treasurer; Mrs. Jordan Martinelli Jr., secretary; Mrs. Douglas Christensen, Mrs. Oscar Olsen, Thomas Larke Jr., Mrs. Edward J. Ruff and Lee C. Wise, members at large.

Wine Party For Tri-Delt

A wine tasting party will be given by the Marin Alumnae Chapter of Delta Delta Delta from 5 to 7 p.m. Saturday at Marinwood Community Center.

Paintings and sculpture by Bay Area artists will assist the chapter's scholarship benefit.

This year's scholarship winner was Rebecca Bill, an honor student from Sir Francis Drake High School, who is attending the University of California at Santa Cruz.

Mrs. John Wingate of San Rafael, is chairman and awards chairman; Mrs. Edward Burke of Greenbrae, assistant; Mrs. Howard Adams of San Rafael, reservations chairman.

Book Review Set

Daughters of the Shepherd will meet at the Shepherd of the Hills Lutheran Church at 7:45 p.m. today. The Rev. Clavin Frisch will review the biography of Marin Luther, "Here I Stand," written by Roland Bainton.

APPLES, GRAPES

Some Best Bargains For The Table

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Weekend shoppers will find ample displays of meat and poultry and fruits and vegetables from which to select to replenish their home supplies.

At fresh produce counters, cabbage, onions, and potatoes are considered to be abundantly available.

Apples again are in excellent supply and so are grapes.

Broiler-fryer chickens continue to be good sources of economical protein. There are also ample supplies of beef roasts and steaks, and bacon and Boston butts.

In the West:

Wholesale beef is generally steady in all West Coast markets, though loins have dropped 1 to 4 cents in Portland. Pork prices are mixed—spareribs are down 4 cents in San Francisco, down 2 cents in Portland where loins are 1 to 2 cents higher per lb. Sliced bacon has declined 2 to 4 cents in San Francisco, is a cent less in Los Angeles, and Boston butts are slightly lower in all Western markets. In Seattle, 14 to 16 lbs. ready-to-cook turkey hens and 16 to 24 lb toms are up 1 cent. Veal is 3 cents higher in Portland, and lamb has moved a cent higher in all regional outlets.

Prices remain unchanged on eggs and butter.

Fruits & vegetables in best supply include apples, bananas, grapes, lemons, oranges, cabbage, cauliflower, corn, cucumbers, lettuce, onions, peppers, potatoes and tomatoes.

Best fish buys in the West are: Rockfish fillets, Pacific oysters, canned tuna, fish sticks and portions, sole and cod fillets.

Sao Paulo, Brazil, Wedding For Harry Hersh Of Marin

Harry E. Hersh, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hersh of Mill Valley, claimed Nanci Maria Sardenberg as his bride on Oct. 2 in a 5 p.m. wedding at Santa Terezina Church in Sao Paulo, Brazil.

The bride, who is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Aroldo Sardenberg of Sao Paulo, recited her vows wearing a floor length gown of white satin with crepe de chine overlay. Her floor length veil was tulle and French lace.

A reception was held after the wedding at the home of the bride's parents. The couple spent a week on the island of Guaruja, off the coast of Sao Paulo and stopped in Mexico City two days en route to Mill Valley, where they are living.

The new Mrs. Hersh is a graduate of Santa Marcelina College in Rio de Janeiro. She has two brothers, Luis and Sergio Sardenberg, living in Sao Paulo.

A graduate of Tamalpais High School, the bridegroom served in the U.S. Army three years in Europe. He attended the College of Marin and plans to continue his education there.

He is the brother of Nicola Hersh of Mill Valley.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Professional Ballplayer Operates Furiously On And Off The Field

DEAR HELEN:

I've been going with a guy since February. But he went away in March to play professional baseball. When he came home he wasn't at all like his letters. He had a big new convertible and a fabulous wardrobe, and I was just the girl he dated between fast girls. He'd come to my house and talk, more than he'd take me out.

Now he's back in Florida. We write to each other, but I know he's chasing around while I'm sitting home being true — and dumb! I just heard from his mother that she thought he was with me every evening while he was home. I think I was being used for a cover, to keep her from knowing he was out with the honky-tonk girls.

Should I write and call it quits? — STRIKE OUT

DEAR S.O.:

Don't blow the ball game! Put this "play-the-fielder" in your minor league, and let him know he's just one of the reserves. In other words, keep him on the string and hope for improvement, but, meanwhile, keep scouting for better prospects.—H.

DEAR HELEN:

We dug each other on sight, and we've been having a groove and a half ever since we met two weeks ago. He's the most wonderful guy in the world, but he has this one phobia.

He said if a couple wants to stay together forever, they have to belong to each other. Without making love, he says, it's incomplete and we'll break up inside of six months if I haven't changed my mind. He isn't threatening me and he's very logical. He says he went with a girl for three years, and when they finally decided to go all the way, he found out what he was missing. They were fulfilled!

Helen, I'm torn between love and my pride in being a virgin. If you say forget him—ha:forget you! I don't want to give in, but I want us to be for always. Help.—TEEN

DEAR TEEN:

One question: If sex — and, believe me, after a mere two weeks, it's sex, not "making love" — if sex makes couples stay together forever, then how come your boyfriend and his girl parted shortly after she gave in?

In these columns I've given teens every possible reason for staying virgin. So now I'll only say — Look, little stupid, can't you recognize the line your mother laughed at 25 years ago? The trouble with modern girls is they're 10 times as gullible as we elders used to be — and the guys are sure as heck making points with that creaky old psychology routine.—H.

DEAR HELEN:

"A guy says he doesn't like promiscuous girls and he would never marry one that is "easy." So why does he try so hard to "find out" what she is?

If he wants to marry a good girl, let him play fair and be good himself! Honest, we won't think he's unmanly if he acts like a gentleman.—A.R.A.

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen help you. Address Helen Bottel in care of the Independent-Journal.

Mill Valley Championship Aftermath—

Some Best Bargains For The Table

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Weekend shoppers will find ample displays of meat and poultry and fruits and vegetables from which to select to replenish their home supplies.

At fresh produce counters, cabbage, onions, and potatoes are considered to be abundantly available.

Apples again are in excellent supply and so are grapes.

Broiler-fryer chickens continue to be good sources of economical protein. There are also ample supplies of beef roasts and steaks, and bacon and Boston butts.

In the West:

Wholesale beef is generally steady in all West Coast markets, though loins have dropped 1 to 4 cents in Portland. Pork prices are mixed—spareribs are down 4 cents in San Francisco, down 2 cents in Portland where loins are 1 to 2 cents higher per lb. Sliced bacon has declined 2 to 4 cents in San Francisco, is a cent less in Los Angeles, and Boston butts are slightly lower in all Western markets. In Seattle, 14 to 16 lbs. ready-to-cook turkey hens and 16 to 24 lb toms are up 1 cent. Veal is 3 cents higher in Portland, and lamb has moved a cent higher in all regional outlets.

Prices remain unchanged on eggs and butter.

Fruits & vegetables in best supply include apples, bananas, grapes, lemons, oranges, cabbage, cauliflower, corn, cucumbers, lettuce, onions, peppers, potatoes and tomatoes.

Mary Ann Crozier Wed In Korea Rite

A ceremony at the South Post Chapel, Eighth Army Headquarters in Seoul, Korea united in marriage Mary Ann Crozier of San Rafael and Lt. Russell L. Hobbs of Soquel. The nuptials were held Oct. 14, performed by an Army chaplain.

Following the ceremony a reception was given at the Officers Club in Seoul. After a wedding trip to Walker Hill, Korea, the newlyweds will make their home in Seoul, where the bridegroom is stationed as transportation officer at the Eighth Army Headquarters.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Crozier of San Rafael, the bride was graduated from San Rafael High School and Chico State College. She is the sister of Bonnie Jean Crozier and the gradddaughter of Mrs. Martha D. Conrow, both of San Rafael.

Mr. and Mrs. Marion Hobbs of Soquel are parents of the bridegroom. A graduate of Santa Cruz High School and Chico State College, he is the brother of Mrs. Gary Minaldi and Carol and Jimmy Hobbs, all of Soquel.

Blair-Williams Vows Traded In Presbyterian Ceremony

The Rev. Kent Miller officiated when Gail Anne Williams of San Anselmo became the bride of Richard Elliott Blair of Fairfax at the First Presbyterian Church of San Anselmo on Oct. 7.

Steven Blair of Chico was his brother's best man and ushering guests were Raymond Sehrutz of Fairfax and Gregory Williams of San Anselmo, the bride's brother.

Both the bride and bridegroom are graduates of Sir Francis Drake High School and attended College of Marin where they plan to continue their studies.

Messrs. and Mesdames John Megas of San Anselmo and Percy Moore of Napa are the bride's grandparents.

Richard is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Blair of Fairfax and the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Elliott of Fairfax and Mrs. Hazel Richard of El Cerrito. He is employed with British Auto Parts in San Rafael.

Blair-Williams Vows Traded In Presbyterian Ceremony

The Rev. Kent Miller officiated when Gail Anne Williams of San Anselmo became the bride of Richard Elliott Blair of Fairfax at the First Presbyterian Church of San Anselmo on Oct. 7.

For the 2 o'clock nuptials, Gail chose a white crepe mini dress with tunic trimmed in a row of small bows down the back. Her maid of honor, Sandi Inselman of San Francisco was gowned in an orange street-length dress.

Steven Blair of Chico was his brother's best man and ushering guests were Raymond Sehrutz of Fairfax and Gregory Williams of San Anselmo, the bride's brother.

Both the bride and bridegroom are graduates of Sir Francis Drake High School and attended College of Marin where they plan to continue their studies.

Messrs. and Mesdames John Megas of San Anselmo and Percy Moore of Napa are the bride's grandparents.

Richard is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Blair of Fairfax and the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Elliott of Fairfax and Mrs. Hazel Richard of El Cerrito. He is employed with British Auto Parts in San Rafael.

Grandmothers Club Appoints Chairmen

Serving as chairmen are Mesdames Reed Heustis, membership; Sam Marzell, refreshments; Lee Wise, birthday; Ethel Murphy, sunshine; Ross Stangle, autumn leaves, George Weatherstone, publicity and historian; Denver Wilson Jr. and John Wilson, properties; and Charles Freeman, official hostess.

Mrs. Charles Royce has been appointed vice president to replace Mrs. Robert Farrell, who resigned. Mrs. Robert McKeay is treasurer. Mrs. Evangeline Green is chaplain.

To Attend Conclave

Mrs. Samuel Irving, grand regent of Fairfax Court St. Agnes 1428, her officers and members will attend the district meeting for the Archdiocese of San Francisco Catholic Daughters of America which will be on Nov. 4 and 5. Saturday at Our Lady of Perpetual Help, 80 Wellington Ave., Daly City, with Court St.

Novato Councilman Adams Will Not Run

Novato City Councilman William Jack Adams, elected in 1964, announced last night that he will not seek re-election next April.

The council had appointed Adams to the Marin Transit District Board as one of two cities' representatives, and he gave them notice so they would have time to select his successor to that post.

He said he would have to be succeeded on the transit district board in January.. Larkspur Councilman Neil Brixon, council chairman, urged members to give the matter thought, so they could select a successor at either the November or December council meeting.

Adams also serves as the cities' alternate representative to the Association of Bay Area Governments, and that post also will have to be filled.

Diver Fails To Come Up

ALAMEDA (UPI)—The Navy today sought a solution to the mystery of what happened to a diver who failed to emerge from the waters of San Francisco Bay after a routine hull inspection of the aircraft carrier Enterprise.

The names of the missing man and another diver who participated in yesterday's inspection were withheld until notification of kin. They were stationed on the repair ship Delta.

A Navy spokesman said the two divers, clad in wet rubber suits with scuba gear, went down together but the missing man's oxygen suddenly ran out after about 20 minutes.

Income Tax Plan Working, State Says

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The state reported today that affluent Californians are cooperating with a new law that requires them to pay part of their 1967 personal income taxes by the end of October.

Bruce W. Walker, assistant executive officer of the Franchise Tax Board, reported, "Progress is pretty good. Mail is coming in fairly heavily. Things are going pretty favorably."

As of yesterday, he explained, 92,000 returns totaling $33 million had been received from those subject to the new law.

Some 370,000 bills were mailed out, which would bring in $145 million if all were returned. The State Finance Department estimated that about 80 per cent, or $115 million, would actually be brought in by the plan.

Involved out of California's 5.2 million taxpayers are 370,000 whose 1966 state income tax bill hit $200, or $100 each if it was the relatively rare case of a married couple filing separate returns. By Oct. 31, they must pay half that amount, or $100 in most cases.

Tea is the world's most popular beverage, according to National Geographic.

McNear's Beach Set For Rock, Jazz Event

Both rock and jazz groups will perform from noon until dusk Saturday and Sunday at the music and art event being sponsored by the New Establishment at McNear's Beach.

Appearing both days will be the Youngbloods, and the Sopwith Camel, both rock groups, and Tom and Lee, who are Bolinas singers. Big Brother and The Holding Company with their singer, Janis Joplin, will appear on Saturday along with pianist Vince Guaraldi, Turk Murphy, and a new rock group called "Psycle."

The Youngbloods is a Marin group.

Sunday's fare will include the Chris Ibanez Trio and the George Duke Trio.

Ed Hepp, KMPX disc jockey, will be master of ceremonies both days.

Arts and crafts will also be on display and for sale at the event.

A portion of the receipts will be put into a special fund for Marin County youth projects, spokesmen said, with the major part earmarked for Marin City clubs.

Arraignment On Marijuana Count

Chico Marcado, 50, of 585 Midway Street, Novato, was arraigned in Marin Municipal Court yesterday on a felony complaint of marijuana possession.

Plea entry was scheduled for 2 p.m. Nov. 1. Marcado was arrested Sunday after police, suspicious of his erratic driving, chased him on Tiburon Boulevard. He is accused of carrying two marijuana cigarettes.

Mill Valley Art Representative To Fair/Marin

Gary Philp was named Tuesday night as the Mill Valley Art Commission's representative to Fair/Marin, the countywide body which will run the Planned Civic Center auditorium.

The art commission also started planning policy for use of the public library gallery for art exhibits. Exhibits will be scheduled six months ahead, and application forms will be prepared for artists who want to exhibit in the gallery.

Commissioner Laura Devendorf told the group a citizens' organization has volunteered to provide galley attendants. Lack of attendants has been a stumbling block in use of the gallery, which cannot be watched over from the main part of the gallery.

The commission also recommended the city council recognize the Center for the Performing Arts as an autonomous group like the Fall Arts Festival Association.

Novato Councilman Adams Will Not Run

Novato City Councilman William Jack Adams, elected in 1964, announced last night that he will not seek re-election next April.

The council had appointed Adams to the Marin Transit District Board as one of two cities' representatives, and he gave them notice so they would have time to select his successor to that post.

He said he would have to be succeeded on the transit district board in January.. Larkspur Councilman Neil Brixon, council chairman, urged members to give the matter thought, so they could select a successor at either the November or December council meeting.

Adams also serves as the cities' alternate representative to the Association of Bay Area Governments, and that post also will have to be filled.

Diver Fails To Come Up

ALAMEDA (UPI)—The Navy today sought a solution to the mystery of what happened to a diver who failed to emerge from the waters of San Francisco Bay after a routine hull inspection of the aircraft carrier Enterprise.

The names of the missing man and another diver who participated in yesterday's inspection were withheld until notification of kin. They were stationed on the repair ship Delta.

A Navy spokesman said the two divers, clad in wet rubber suits with scuba gear, went down together but the missing man's oxygen suddenly ran out after about 20 minutes.

Income Tax Plan Working, State Says

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The state reported today that affluent Californians are cooperating with a new law that requires them to pay part of their 1967 personal income taxes by the end of October.

Bruce W. Walker, assistant executive officer of the Franchise Tax Board, reported, "Progress is pretty good. Mail is coming in fairly heavily. Things are going pretty favorably."

As of yesterday, he explained, 92,000 returns totaling $33 million had been received from those subject to the new law.

Some 370,000 bills were mailed out, which would bring in $145 million if all were returned. The State Finance Department estimated that about 80 per cent, or $115 million, would actually be brought in by the plan.

Involved out of California's 5.2 million taxpayers are 370,000 whose 1966 state income tax bill hit $200, or $100 each if it was the relatively rare case of a married couple filing separate returns. By Oct. 31, they must pay half that amount, or $100 in most cases.

EX-GOVERNOR WOULD RUN ANOTHER SHIRLEY

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—A suggestion that an actress named Shirley run for Congress has come from Edmund G. Brown, former Democratic governor of California who was defeated for re-election by Ronald Reagan.

Brown was thinking not of Shirley Temple Black, currently campaigning as a Republican in a special election for a vacant seat, but of Shirley MacLaine. He met her in Miami last week and was "surprised at her knowledge of foreign affairs."

Brown said he had suggested to her that she run for the 28th District seat currently held by Alphonzo Bell, a Beverly Hills Republican. Brown said Miss MacLaine is "considering" his suggestion.

Nixon Not Candidate, But Predicts Victory

MANCHESTER, N.H. (UPI)—Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon still hasn't made up his mind about entering the 1968 New Hampshire presidential primary. But if he does, he predicts victory.

Nixon arrived in the state yesterday for a couple of days of unofficial visiting, seeing friends instead of testing the political weather. But he had time for a news conference and a speech in Laconia.

"I don't expect to lose," Nixon told the news conference here, stressing he still hasn't decided if he will run. "I expect it to be a long hard fight."

New Hampshire's primary—March 12—is the nation's first.

Nixon, who said he would reveal his decision after the first of the year, added he "would not consider a loss in any one primary as being decisive."

He discounted reports he is leading in polls across the state, saying he would cover "the whole state" on his campaign tour.

"I must be the decisive winner of the primaries. But that does not mean winning them all.

"The people of New Hampshire are unpredictable because they are individualists and don't want to be taken for granted," he said.

"New Hampshire has picked presidents and it also has dashed the hopes of candidates."

Session Postponed

The meeting of directors of the Marin Municipal Water District scheduled for yesterday was postponed to 1:30 p.m. Tuesday at the district office, 220 Nellen Avenue, Corte Madera, because of the absence of district manager William R. Seeger at a professional meeting out of the area, a district spokesman said.

Pair Arrested For LBJ Threat

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — Two persons have been arrested by federal officers in connection with alleged threats on the life of President Johnson, who is to be in El Paso Saturday for signing of the Chamizal border treaty.

Shirley Rucker, 60, Albuquerque, N.M., was being held under $20,000 bond in Albuquerque after arraignment on a charge of threatening the President's life.

Robert Allen Moll, 29, was ordered jailed Wednesday in El Paso under $10,000 bond on the same charge after being arrested Tuesday by a deputy U.S. marshal at the office in El Paso where he is employed.

They Live Without Visitors

By DON BRANNING

Pointing to a dashing blonde who was conversing with a resident at the long table, Philip Thomas Brylke, 30, a robber and forger, said, "Who would I like a visit from? I would like a visit from her."

You could say hello to her when you leave," said Walter E. Clark, a 26-year-old murderer from Oakland.

JUST A HELLO

"I said hello to her on the way in," replied Brylke.

There were four of them, Brylke, Clark, Billy Ray Lawhon, 29, a murderer from St. Joseph, Mo., and Sheridan Thaddeus Fagans, 40, Los Angeles, who is, this time, doing five to 20 years for possession of narcotics.

Nobody ever comes to see them at San Quentin.

There are perhaps 500 of the 3,600 inmates at San Quentin who seldom or never get a visitor. Each inmate is allowed 10 persons on his visiting list. People in his family may visit him four times a month, friends three times.

CLOSE INSPECTION

The visitors empty their pockets at the gates and pass through a metal detector that can be adjusted to such sensitiviy it will pick up the eyelets on shoes. The inmate fills out a questionaire about the visitor and the visitor fills out one about himself. Sometimes the answers —about how long they have known each other, whether or not the visitor has a criminal record — do not gibe, and the officials become interested.

"We don't want the inmates to keep bad company," said Associate Warden James W. L. Park. "Some of them don't know what to say to each other and they have trouble filling up the hour. Some of the others throw themselves into it. For an hour, their families become the biggest reality to them, so much so that the walls of the prison fade away. It's a jolt when they have to go back inside again."

Fagans, Brylke, Clark and Lawhon had, for them, a rare experience yesterday, a visitor—a newspaperman. They came into the visiting room elated and wisecracking, a little swaggering, as if indifferent to whether or not anyone came to see them,

BETRAY THEMSELVES

They betrayed their eagerness, however, when they had squeezed into a cubicle in a corner of the big room. Elsewhere at the long tables, convicts and their wives and mothers were making the most of the prison's ration of domestic life.

A girl came once about six years ago to see Fagans, a big, intelligent Negro, but she got married. Clark's mother came to see him once. Lawhon, no visitors; Brylke, none. The two murderers, of course, have life terms. Brylke is doing several five to life terms.

A couple of weeks ago, they came and told Brylke he had visitors. He was pretty excited. He got slicked up, shaved, combed and brushed his blond hair, which he keeps neat, and hustled to the visiting room.

"I had no idea who it was," he said. "When I saw the two gentlemen sitting at the table, I knew their occupation immediately. One of them flipped his little card case and showed me his FBI identification. They wanted to know about a friend of mine, who I have lost track of completely. I admit I was a little hostile to those two gentlemen.

"The first couple of years you want someone to come and see you. But after that you really don't give a damn. The mothers cry sometimes. That's no good. It's better that they don't come at all if it's going to be emotional. You want it and you don't want it. They call it approach avoidance. I guess, seriously, if I were to have a visitor I would like it to be my sister, whom I haven't seen in 21 years."

MOTHER'S ACTION

"Yeah, my mother is pretty emotional. She would cry all over the table," said Lawhon. "I guess, to be honest about it, I would like for it to be one of my brothers." He said, sardonically, that his wife wrote him once she'd visit him if he were in a prison in the east, but she didn't want to make the trip west. "I think it's the Rocky Mountains, or something," said Lawhon. "I think we're still married. She changed her mind about divorcing me, because she said it would be too tough on her."

"My wife lives in Berkeley. I think," said Clark. "That fare over the bridge, you know. Pretty steep."

"Oh yeah," said Sheridan Thaddeus Fagans. "Tough to make ends meet."

Fagans is taking college courses in the penitentiary, as are the other three, and he is majoring in English subjects. When he gets out, he is going to get a job on a farm and he is going to write in his spare time.

"I like to write stories," he said. "Sometimes I just get stuck, and I can't write. Then I go down to the gym and work out, and I come back to my cell and read my Bible. That's what really helps me," he said happily. Fagans looks for the bright side of things. He says his family, living in New York, "has never put me down for my activities. They always take me like I am. I have never commited a crime in New York."

SORE AT FIRST

"I was sore about it a first," admitted Clark with a laugh. "My wife living right over the bridge in Berkeley. But now I think it's funny."

"The gassy part with my wife," said Lawhon, "is if I had just gotten busted in the east, she would come to see me. That's pretty gassy, I think."

20 Volunteer For Freedom Party Work

Twenty persons volunteered last night at a meeting of members of the Marin division of the Peace and Freedom Party to train to become voter registrars for the party's attempt to gain a place on the California ballot in November 1968.

The organizational meeting of the Marin division was held at the home of Dr. John B. Harris of Larkspur. The party must have 67,000 persons registered by the end of the year as party members to be placed on the ballot, Harris expained.

Prospective registrars are trained and certified by the elections department of the Marin County Clerk's office.

Harris has stated that the party's aim is to support equality and self determination for minority peoples; expand aid programs to the poor; take the U.S. out of the Vietnam war.

The 42 persons who attended last night's meeting heard Michael Parker of Alameda, northern California party coordinator, describe the foundation of the party, Harris said.

Dr. Harris, Dr. Warren E. Levinson of Mill Valley and Dr. Thomas Pringle of San Anselmo are heading the drive in Marin to organize the party here.

The next party meeting will be at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday at the home of Dr. Pringle, 40 Entrada Drive, San Anselmo, where there will be a panel discussion on the Vietnam War in relation to U.S. foreign policy and business interests and on what Negroes can expect of the party, backers said.

CLOSED SESSION ON LAND BUYING

Tomales School Board Views Purchase Of New School Site In Private Huddle

The Tomales Joint High School District board met in closed session last night to discuss the purchase of a new school site, then voted in open session in favor of a price of $900 per acre.

The closed meeting was illegal, according to provisions of the Brown Act, which forbids private sessions except to hire, fire or hear charges against an employee.

Supt. Anthony Matulich said he believed the meeting was proper because the board discussed whether to accept the sale offer of property owner Romeo Cerini or begin condemnation proceedings.

The 35-acre site is about a mile-and-a-half east of the present high school, on Tomales-Petaluma Road.

Cerini, asked to attend the meeting, did not appear, Matulich said. The superintendent said Cerini had originally asked $1,000 per acre but later agreed to the $900 figure discussed in closed session by the board.

The purchase will include road access, Matulich said, although it is not yet known how much right-of-way will be needed.

The board passed a resolution authorizing the sale of $1,030,000 in bonds. It set a bond redemption schedule which will start at 34 cents per $100 assessed valuation next fiscal year and reach a high point of 41 and one-half cents in 1983 if there is no increase in assessed valuation, Matulich said.

The Tomales high school district board also:

BUS — Awarded a $19,200 contract to Westerp Brothers of Petaluma, lowest of three bidders, for a 76-passenger bus.

WELLS — Heard a report from Matulich that the four new wells drilled on the new school site produce 2,600 gallons of water per minute. The schools need is about 1,900, Matulich said. He ordered the well drillers not to drill any more wells, he said.

Three Runaways Are Reported

Three runaways were reported today by sheriff's officers.

Robert Isikley and Knute Youngbear, both 12 and from San Francisco, left St. Vincent's School for Boys in Marinwood Monday, the school reported Tuesday.

Isikley was described as about five feet tall, weighing 80 pounds, and wearing black pants and a blue jacket. Youngbear is five feet tall, weighs 90 pounds, and was wearing blue pants and a white jacket.

Tire Is Stolen

A spare tire and wheel valued at $45 have been stolen from a pickup truck owned by John T. Matthews of 403 East Blithedale Avenue, Mill Valley police reported today.

Tool Kit Stolen

Theft of a tire, wheel and tool kit from the car of Charles Zinn, 254 Ross Road, Sausalito, was reported today by sheriff's officers. Zinn said Tuesday that burglars forced a door of the vehicle, parked at home.

Greater Role For Marin Forecast If Congress Delays Reshuffling

Marin County, which is likely to lose a part of itself to San Francisco in a court-ordered Congressional re-districting, could become a bigger "tail on the dog" if Congress passes legislation successfully delaying re-apportionment across the country until 1970.

Assemblyman William T. Bagley suggested on the KTIM "Sounding Board" program today that Marin's population could comprise approximately half of a Marin-San Francisco Congressional district by the 1970 census, affording more political strength to the people in this country.

COURT ORDER

The state Supreme Court, in conformity with the "one man, one vote" edict of the U.S. Supreme Court, has ordered reapportionment of California's Congressional districts by Dec. 7. A portion of the central and southern Marin voters, now in the First Congressional District, would go to the San Francisco Sixth District.

The other panelists on Kitty Oppenheimer's KTIM program were State Sen. John F. McCarthy, R-San Rafael; Charles Michal, chairman of the Marin County Republican Central Committee; Joseph Forest of the Marin County Democratic Central Committee, and Supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen. The program will be re-broadcast at 9 p.m. today over KTIM-FM.

Sen. McCarthy said that he will introduce a bill to the California Legislature to "keep Marin County as intact as we possibly can." He also said the nature of Congress' attempt to delay nationwide re-apportionment until 1970 hasn't yet become clear. He will go to Washington to work on the legislation with the Senate Apportionment Committee.

Assemblyman Bagley said he thought Marin's best chance of not suffering an excessive loss of political strength would be to become a stronger part of the San Francisco district with which it combines. By 1970, he pointed out the population allowable will be more than 500,000, compared with 414,000 allowable in Congressional districts at the present time.

Supervisor Kettenhofen said Marin County might benefit in transportation and regional park matters by being combined with a San Francisco district, but it would help the county in no other way.

OWN IDENTITY

"Marin County has developed an identity of its own," said Kettenhofen. "This would again make Marin a bedroom community of San Francisco, and all the political strength would be in San Francisco."

Michal and Forest agreed that the dilemma for Marin is a politically non-partisan one. They said it is more important that the county be politically unified then it is for the Democratic and Republican parties to fish for political advantage in the situation.

Indictments In Beating At Quentin

Two San Quentin prisoners were indicted last night for battery on two correctional officers.

One of the pair, Hugo A. Pinell, serving time for a 1965 conviction for rape in San Francisco County, also was indicted for illegal possession of a stiletto-type weapon.

The Marin County Grand Jury indictment accuses him of battery Sept. 4 on Officer J. R. Phillips, and with having the weapon that day. It charges David L. Evans with assault on another officer, H. M. Paul, that day.

Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales said Pinell and Evans reportedly had been involved in some incident in the south block dining hall. Both were escorted by guards from the building, and were in the south block rotunda when Pinell was searched and the weapon found and confiscated.

The fracas with Phillips followed, Bales said, and Pinell struck and broke Phillips' nose. Evans at the same time allegedly struck Paul in the face with his fist. Paul suffered minor cuts.

They Live Without Visitors

By DON BRANNING

Pointing to a dashing blonde who was conversing with a resident at the long table, Philip Thomas Brylke, 30, a robber and forger, said, "Who would I like a visit from? I would like a visit from her."

You could say hello to her when you leave," said Walter E. Clark, a 26-year-old murderer from Oakland.

JUST A HELLO

"I said hello to her on the way in," replied Brylke.

There were four of them, Brylke, Clark, Billy Ray Lawhon, 29, a murderer from St. Joseph, Mo., and Sheridan Thaddeus Fagans, 40, Los Angeles, who is, this time, doing five to 20 years for possession of narcotics.

Nobody ever comes to see them at San Quentin.

There are perhaps 500 of the 3,600 inmates at San Quentin who seldom or never get a visitor. Each inmate is allowed 10 persons on his visiting list. People in his family may visit him four times a month, friends three times.

CLOSE INSPECTION

The visitors empty their pockets at the gates and pass through a metal detector that can be adjusted to such sensitiviy it will pick up the eyelets on shoes. The inmate fills out a questionaire about the visitor and the visitor fills out one about himself. Sometimes the answers —about how long they have known each other, whether or not the visitor has a criminal record — do not gibe, and the officials become interested.

"We don't want the inmates to keep bad company," said Associate Warden James W. L. Park. "Some of them don't know what to say to each other and they have trouble filling up the hour. Some of the others throw themselves into it. For an hour, their families become the biggest reality to them, so much so that the walls of the prison fade away. It's a jolt when they have to go back inside again."

Fagans, Brylke, Clark and Lawhon had, for them, a rare experience yesterday, a visitor—a newspaperman. They came into the visiting room elated and wisecracking, a little swaggering, as if indifferent to whether or not anyone came to see them.

BETRAY THEMSELVES

They betrayed their eagerness, however, when they had squeezed into a cubicle in a corner of the big room. Elsewhere at the long tables, convicts and their wives and mothers were making the most of the prison's ration of domestic life.

A girl came once about six years ago to see Fagans, a big, intelligent Negro, but she got married. Clark's mother came to see him once. Lawhon, no visitors; Brylke, none. The two murderers, of course, have life terms. Brylke is doing several five to life terms.

A couple of weeks ago, they came and told Brylke he had visitors. He was pretty excited. He got slicked up, shaved, combed and brushed his blond hair, which he keeps neat, and hustled to the visiting room.

"I had no idea who it was," he said. "When I saw the two gentlemen sitting at the table, I knew their occupation immediately. One of them flipped his little card case and showed me his FBI identification. They wanted to know about a friend of mine, who I have lost track of completely. I admit I was a little hostile to those two gentlemen.

"The first couple of years you want someone to come and see you. But after that you really don't give a damn. The mothers cry sometimes. That's no good. It's better that they don't come at all if it's going to be emotional. You want it and you don't want it. They call it approach avoidance. I guess, seriously, if I were to have a visitor I would like it to be my sister, whom I haven't seen in 21 years."

MOTHER'S ACTION

"Yeah, my mother is pretty emotional. She would cry all over the table," said Lawhon. "I guess, to be honest about it, I would like for it to be one of my brothers." He said, sardonically, that his wife wrote him once she'd visit him if he were in a prison in the east, but she didn't want to make the trip west. "I think it's the Rocky Mountains, or something," said Lawhon. "I think we're still married. She changed her mind about divorcing me, because she said it would be too tough on her."

"My wife lives in Berkeley. I think," said Clark. "That fare over the bridge, you know. Pretty steep."

"Oh yeah," said Sheridan Thaddeus Fagans. "Tough to make ends meet."

Fagans is taking college courses in the penitentiary, as are the other three, and he is majoring in English subjects. When he gets out, he is going to get a job on a farm and he is going to write in his spare time.

"I like to write stories," he said. "Sometimes I just get stuck, and I can't write. Then I go down to the gym and work out, and I come back to my cell and read my Bible. That's what really helps me," he said happily. Fagans looks for the bright side of things. He says his family, living in New York, "has never put me down for my activities. They always take me like I am. I have never commited a crime in New York."

SORE AT FIRST

"I was sore about it a first," admitted Clark with a laugh. "My wife living right over the bridge in Berkeley. But now I think it's funny."

"The gassy part with my wife," said Lawhon, "is if I had just gotten busted in the east, she would come to see me. That's pretty gassy, I think."

Tomales School Board Views Purchase Of New School Site In Private Huddle

The Tomales Joint High School District board met in closed session last night to discuss the purchase of a new school site, then voted in open session in favor of a price of $900 per acre.

The closed meeting was illegal, according to provisions of the Brown Act, which forbids private sessions except to hire, fire or hear charges against an employee.

Supt. Anthony Matulich said he believed the meeting was proper because the board discussed whether to accept the sale offer of property owner Romeo Cerini or begin condemnation proceedings.

The 35-acre site is about a mile-and-a-half east of the present high school, on Tomales-Petaluma Road.

Cerini, asked to attend the meeting, did not appear, Matulich said. The superintendent said Cerini had originally asked $1,000 per acre but later agreed to the $900 figure discussed in closed session by the board.

The purchase will include road access, Matulich said, although it is not yet known how much right-of-way will be needed.

The board passed a resolution authorizing the sale of $1,030,000 in bonds. It set a bond redemption schedule which will start at 34 cents per $100 assessed valuation next fiscal year and reach a high point of 41 and one-half cents in 1983 if there is no increase in assessed valuation, Matulich said.

The Tomales high school district board also:

BUS — Awarded a $19,200 contract to Westerp Brothers of Petaluma, lowest of three bidders, for a 76-passenger bus.

WELLS — Heard a report from Matulich that the four new wells drilled on the new school site produce 2,600 gallons of water per minute. The schools need is about 1,900, Matulich said. He ordered the well drillers not to drill any more wells, he said.

Greyhound's Hike Request To Be Viewed

Greyhound's application for drastic bus fare increases will be the major topic next Wednesday night at a meeting of directors of the Marin County Transit District.

The meeting, in the supervisors' chambers at Civic Center, will start at 8 p.m.

Seymour Kashin, new manager of the Marin Transit District, says that the fare increase, if approved, would have a big impact on Marin commuters in particular and on bus riders in general.

Greyhound seeks to eliminate the reduced-rate commutation fares, introduce 20-ride ticket books at 10 times the round trip fare and increase one-way fares by five cents on fares up to $1.10 and 10 cents on higher fares.

Other items on the agenda include the employment of Mrs. Elsie M. O'Leary as executive secretary to the general manager at $522 per month, consideration of a countywide transit improvement program utilizing rights of way for exclusive transit operation and second decking of the Golden Gate Bridge.

Pupils To Greet Korean Singers

Principal Robert W. Johnson of San Clemente School in Corte Madera, and several sixth graders will be at San Francisco airport tomorrow to welcome the Little Angels of Korea, a group of Korean children making a singing and dancing tour of the United States.

It will be their second meeting with the Little Angels. Last October, the 27 Koreans paid a visit to San Clemente school to put on a show for the students. This year, Johnson said they were unable to return to Corte Madera because of the lack of time.

With the principal will be Jim Troppmann, president of the student council; treasurer Martha Olney and Holly Eastman, editor of the school newspaper, San Clemente Informer.

Whippings Of Children Denied

BOSTON (AP) — A veteran member of the Boston School Committee said he had not heard of any rattan whippings of school children as Jonathan Kozol testified to in Washington yesterday.

Joseph Lee said that if children had been beaten as Kozol said "their parents would have complained by now, and I haven't heard of any rattan whippings or beatings."

Kozol testified about whippings of Negro children in Boston schools before a Senate labor subcommittee hearing on juvenile delinquency.

Greyhound's Hike Request To Be Viewed

Greyhound's application for drastic bus fare increases will be the major topic next Wednesday night at a meeting of directors of the Marin County Transit District.

The meeting, in the supervisors' chambers at Civic Center, will start at 8 p.m.

Seymour Kashin, new manager of the Marin Transit District, says that the fare increase, if approved, would have a big impact on Marin commuters in particular and on bus riders in general.

Greyhound seeks to eliminate the reduced-rate commutation fares, introduce 20-ride ticket books at 10 times the round trip fare and increase one-way fares by five cents on fares up to $1.10 and 10 cents on higher fares.

Other items on the agenda include the employment of Mrs. Elsie M. O'Leary as executive secretary to the general manager at $522 per month, consideration of a countywide transit improvement program utilizing rights of way for exclusive transit operation and second decking of the Golden Gate Bridge.

Pupils To Greet Korean Singers

Principal Robert W. Johnson of San Clemente School in Corte Madera, and several sixth graders will be at San Francisco airport tomorrow to welcome the Little Angels of Korea, a group of Korean children making a singing and dancing tour of the United States.

It will be their second meeting with the Little Angels. Last October, the 27 Koreans paid a visit to San Clemente school to put on a show for the students. This year, Johnson said they were unable to return to Corte Madera because of the lack of time.

With the principal will be Jim Troppmann, president of the student council; treasurer Martha Olney and Holly Eastman, editor of the school newspaper, San Clemente Informer.

Whippings Of Children Denied

BOSTON (AP) — A veteran member of the Boston School Committee said he had not heard of any rattan whippings of school children as Jonathan Kozol testified to in Washington yesterday.

Joseph Lee said that if children had been beaten as Kozol said "their parents would have complained by now, and I haven't heard of any rattan whippings or beatings."

Kozol testified about whippings of Negro children in Boston schools before a Senate labor subcommittee hearing on juvenile delinquency.

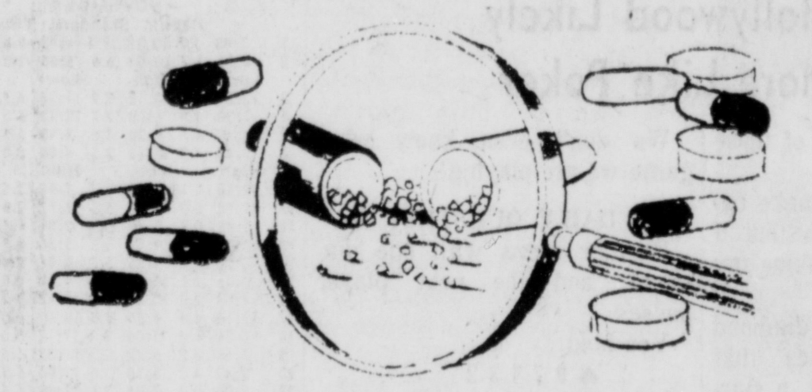
MAKE US PROVE THAT ALL PRESCRIPTION PRICES ARE NOT THE SAME!

State code prohibits a druggist from advertising prescription prices! The only way you can find out if you are paying too much is to shop and compare prices!



Is Quality The Same?

Absolutely! Every pharmacist is required by law to fill a prescription exactly as specified by the doctor. No substitution of ingredients or quality of ingredients is tolerated and this is enforced under strict penalty of the law.

Is The Pharmacist Qualified?

Absolutely! Every pharmacist is required by law to undergo 6 years of rigorous train- and then pass exacting qualifying examinations before he is permitted to fill your prescription. He must be careful, precise and professionally competent.

Then Why Do Prices Vary?

For the same reason they do in almost any business! Store policy, cost of overhead, volume purchasing . . . these are the major reasons. Some charge more because they sell less. (Perhaps that's why they sell less!). Some because of high overhead cost. (Again, probably because they sell less!). Some even build a reputation by charging more. (Strange in view of the fact that there is no difference in quality!). Some build a reputation for charging less but they really don't. (Too many prescription buyers just take price for granted!). Some do sell for less but prescription prices cannot be advertised. (It's up to you to find out!)

How To Buy A Prescription

It's really one of the easiest things to shop because you are absolutely assured of quality and that leaves price the one and only difference between quotes. You have every right to take your prescription to a pharmacy and ask him to quote his price. You don't have to have it filled until you are satisfied. If you have a standing prescription, your doctor will gladly provide you with another one. This is as good as the original. Don't "lock" yourself in . . . shop and compare!

HOW TO PLAY
WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Bridge In Hollywood Likely To Seem More Like Poker

Perhaps I shouldn't make excuses, but the fact is that I played low instead of taking my ace of clubs.

one heart more and one diamond wild Hollywood parties that columnists gossip about, a starlet minced over to our table and asked brightly, "Are you playing bridge or poker?"

For the life of us we couldn't tell her.

No. 3382 .... Oct. 26, 1967

Opening lead — ♠ 3

We had just played the hand shown today.

I led the three of spades from the West hand, and my partner's queen drove out the king.

GOOD EITHER WAY

This play was sheer poker, but it was also good bridge.

I couldn't tell that Sharif needed only one club trick; he would have maue the same play with

SWITCHES TO DIAMONDS

Sharif next led a low diamond.

No matter what he did, Sharif was sure to get five diamonds, two spades, one heart and one club.

It's important to note that Sharif had to make his bluffing play immediately.

If he developed his diamonds first, we wouldn't have let him get a club trick.

For example, if South starts by giving up a diamond, East clears the spades.

Now it is obvious to the defenders that they have three spades, one diamond and the ace of clubs.

So if your friends ask you what goes on at these Hollywood parties, you can tell them.

We don't even know what game we are playing!

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with one diamond, and the next player passes.

You hold:
♥ K J 3
♦ J 8
♣ A 7 4

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid one spade.

Any five-card suit, no matter how weak, is quite biddable in response to partner's opening bid in a lower suit.

Mississippi Due First Color ETV

JACKSON, Miss. (UPI)—Mississippi's educational television is expected to go into operation in 1968 to become the first color ETV network in the world.

The ETV center also will be the only one in the nation closely associated with a research-oriented enterprise—the Mississippi Research and Development Center, and with academic work—the State College Board.

ALMANAC

Today is Thursday, Oct. 26, the 299th day of 1967 with 66 to follow.

The moon is in its last quarter. The morning stars are Venus and Jupiter. The evening stars are Mars and Saturn.

On this day in history:

In 1920, Terence Macswiney, Lord Mayor of Cork, died after fasting for 75 days in a prison cell demanding independence for Ireland.

In 1966, President Johnson, after the Manila Conference, made a surprise and quick visit to troops in Vietnam.

A thought for the day — Poet Thomas Moore once said: "Ask a woman's advice, and, what e'er she advises, do the very reverse and you're sure to be wise."

TIME AND TIDE

Department of Commerce, United States Coast Geodetic Survey, Western District headquarters. Times and heights of tides at San Francisco (Golden Gate):

ALMANAC

Today is Thursday, Oct. 26, the 299th day of 1967 with 66 to follow.

The moon is in its last quarter. The morning stars are Venus and Jupiter. The evening stars are Mars and Saturn.

On this day in history:

In 1920, Terence Macswiney, Lord Mayor of Cork, died after fasting for 75 days in a prison cell demanding independence for Ireland.

In 1966, President Johnson, after the Manila Conference, made a surprise and quick visit to troops in Vietnam.

A thought for the day — Poet Thomas Moore once said: "Ask a woman's advice, and, what e'er she advises, do the very reverse and you're sure to be wise."

TIME AND TIDE

Department of Commerce, United States Coast Geodetic Survey, Western District headquarters. Times and heights of tides at San Francisco (Golden Gate):

HOW TO PLAY
WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Bridge In Hollywood Likely To Seem More Like Poker

Perhaps I shouldn't make excuses, but the fact is that I played low instead of taking my ace of clubs.

one heart more and one diamond wild Hollywood parties that columnists gossip about, a starlet minced over to our table and asked brightly, "Are you playing bridge or poker?"

For the life of us we couldn't tell her.

Opening lead — ♠ 3

I led the three of spades from the West hand, and my partner's queen drove out the king.

GOOD EITHER WAY

This play was sheer poker, but it was also good bridge.

I couldn't tell that Sharif needed only one club trick; he would have made the same play with

SWITCHES TO DIAMONDS

Sharif next led a low diamond.

No matter what he did, Sharif was sure to get five diamonds, two spades, one heart and one club.

It's important to note that Sharif had to make his bluffing play immediately.

If he developed his diamonds first, we wouldn't have let him get a club trick.

For example, if South starts by giving up a diamond, East clears the spades.

Now it is obvious to the defenders that they have three spades, one diamond and the ace of clubs.

So if your friends ask you what goes on at these Hollywood parties, you can tell them.

We don't even know what game we are playing!

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with one diamond, and the next player passes.

You hold:

♥ K J 3
♦ J 8
♣ A 7 4

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid one spade.

Any five-card suit, no matter how weak, is quite biddable in response to partner's opening bid in a lower suit.

Highway 17 Route To Be Discussed By Committee

Routing of Highway 17, the east-west connection from Highway 101 to West Marin, and a proposed new-type bus system will be among topics to be discussed tonight by the Marin Citizens Transportation Committee.

Committee chairman Raymond Ryason of San Anselmo announced that the meeting will start at 8 p.m. in room 413 of the Civic Center.

The new type of bus system is proposed by pool salesman Edward Marnell of 15 Balra Drive, Novato. Marnell proposes that the Greyhound Bus Service be revamped with a new route structure with improved and speeded service.

He would give special preference to commuters with monthly commute tickets, who would have exclusive use of express buses. Other buses would be available for casual riders and intra-county travelers.

Anne West, chairman of the public transit subcommittee of the main committee, said Marnell's proposal is "worthy of further consideration."

Anniversary Party Set By Council

The Sausalito Citizens Council will hold a combined 20th anniversary party and business meeting at 3 p.m. Nov. 5 at the Sausalito Women's Club.

Founders of the council will be special guests. Five directors are to be elected to two-year terms, and a documentary film, "San Francisco Bay," will be shown.

Nominees for the five directorships are George Carney, Kenneth Elkington, Mrs. Margot Gergus, Roy Kindred and Fred Sumner. Other nominations may be made from the floor.

One directorship is vacant because of the resignation of Thomas E. Oliver. Directors whose terms are expiring are Kindred, Sumner, Harvey Coverly and Elvia Farnham.

Spook Party On Ice

ART REVIEW

His Lens Artistic As Any Paintbrush

By LAURA DEVENDORF

The axiom goes that some things belong in the painter's domain while others should be left to photography. However, Edward Stanton's photography display through Nov. 4 at the Unitarian-Universalist Church of Marin in San Rafael, shows him to be an exception to the mutual-confinement rule.

There are few painters who wouldn't love to lift his ideas and copy them — as is. For when Stanton prints blow-ups from his 35mm color transparencies, they cease to be photographs. You'd swear they were gem-like abstract paintings. Or, in black and white, when he drops out everything but a dark-light pattern, they are indistinguishable from sumi drawings. In fact, Stanton has had difficulty with juries who insist they are.

EYE FOR BEAUTY

The reason for all this is Stanton's discerning eye that can ferret out the most glowing bits of beauty in the most unlikely places. Tar oozing from a crack in the pavement, shredding billboards and microscopic drops of paint become grist to his ever-perceptive lens.

Not that these subjects haven't been done before. They have. But the portions used and the way he uses them make Stanton's photos look totally unlike what they really are. He further disorients you by sometimes showing very large areas such as one which includes all of several rotting whitewashed boards. Next to this, he fills the entire photograph with hundreds of surface variations on a small portion of a single flaking billboard letter.

PERILOUS PURSUIT

Oddly, photographing such harmless material isn't minus hazards. Once, he was squatting on the sidewalk, his camera aimed at its seemingly uninteresting surface. Along came a lady who kicked him soundly and showered him with epithets, apparently convinced that anyone intent on photographing one square inch of pavement must be dangerously subversive.

Unfortunately, for him, she couldn't foresee the result. She couldn't know that in Stanton's photographs, the subject in its actual sense is of no consequence. Their intent is art.

Whether taken as photography or painting or drawing — these lush abstractions would certainly be classified as such. And the things that Stanton elicits from a camera focused on the commonplace are meat, not only for artists and photography nuts, but for anyone who cares a hoot for something beautiful.

Student Art Show Is Set

Faith Lutheran Church in Terra Linda will hold an art show for junior and senior high school students from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Nov. 11.

Exhibitors in the "Art-In" will be restricted to two entries, although any media will be excepted. Applications may be obtained from one of the three judges, Miss Rosemary West of 178 Devon Drive, Terra Linda.

Works will be offered for sale and prizes will be awarded in various categories, according to Mrs. Eilene Kirby, a member of the church.

Teener's Collarbone Broken In Collision

Haynes was treated at Marin General Hospital. Police said his bicycle and a car driven by Ian Richard Desmares, 35, of 437 Johnson Street, Sausalito, collided at 8:31 p.m. at Johnson and Bonita streets.

Workshop On The Theater Is Under Way

An 18-week theater workshop sponsored by the Mill Valley Center for the Performing Arts and Mill Valley Parks and Recreation Department started this week.

The workshop, directed by Gary Philp, meets from 7:30 to 10:30 p.m. Mondays and Wednesdays at the Edna Maguire School music room.

Then one of the plays used during the workshop will be chosen for production, sponsored by the Center for the Performing Arts. Three weeks of performance are scheduled.

Registration for the class will be taken at Monday's workshop. Philp has presented concert performances at more than 50 California colleges, and has directed at Palo Alto, Los Angeles and San Jose.

A Dog's Dream, Blocks Of Trees

SAN LEANDRO (AP) — Tammy, a Manchester terrier, is getting on in years and his master, C. R. Harer, decided to do something for man's best friend.

Harer donated $2,000 to the city to plant trees so Tammy and his old friends won't have so far to walk.

The first 20 trees—all 14-foot Russet Magnolias — already adorn the block where the Harers live at 91 Broadmoor Boulevard.

His wife said he was just going to give money for a few blocks of trees, then said: "Shoot, I might as well go a whole walk's worth—nine or ten blocks."

His Lens Artistic As Any Paintbrush

By LAURA DEVENDORF

The axiom goes that some things belong in the painter's domain while others should be left to photography. However, Edward Stanton's photography display through Nov. 4 at the Unitarian-Universalist Church of Marin in San Rafael, shows him to be an exception to the mutual-confinement rule.

There are few painters who wouldn't love to lift his ideas and copy them — as is. For when Stanton prints blow-ups from his 35mm color transparencies, they cease to be photographs. You'd swear they were gem-like abstract paintings. Or, in black and white, when he drops out everything but a dark-light pattern, they are indistinguishable from sumi drawings. In fact, Stanton has had difficulty with juries who insist they are.

EYE FOR BEAUTY

The reason for all this is Stanton's discerning eye that can ferret out the most glowing bits of beauty in the most unlikely places. Tar oozing from a crack in the pavement, shredding billboards and microscopic drops of paint become grist to his ever-perceptive lens.

Not that these subjects haven't been done before. They have. But the portions used and the way he uses them make Stanton's photos look totally unlike what they really are. He further disorients you by sometimes showing very large areas such as one which includes all of several rotting whitewashed boards. Next to this, he fills the entire photograph with hundreds of surface variations on a small portion of a single flaking billboard letter.

PERILOUS PURSUIT

Oddly, photographing such harmless material isn't minus hazards. Once, he was squatting on the sidewalk, his camera aimed at its seemingly uninteresting surface. Along came a lady who kicked him soundly and showered him with epithets, apparently convinced that anyone intent on photographing one square inch of pavement must be dangerously subversive.

Unfortunately, for him, she couldn't foresee the result. She couldn't know that in Stanton's photographs, the subject in its actual sense is of no consequence. Their intent is art.

Whether taken as photography or painting or drawing — these lush abstractions would certainly be classified as such. And the things that Stanton elicits from a camera focused on the commonplace are meat, not only for artists and photography nuts, but for anyone who cares a hoot for something beautiful.

Student Art Show Is Set

Faith Lutheran Church in Terra Linda will hold an art show for junior and senior high school students from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Nov. 11.

Exhibitors in the "Art-In" will be restricted to two entries, although any media will be excepted. Applications may be obtained from one of the three judges, Miss Rosemary West of 178 Devon Drive, Terra Linda.

Works will be offered for sale and prizes will be awarded in various categories, according to Mrs. Eilene Kirby, a member of the church.

Teener's Collarbone Broken In Collision

George Dudley Haynes, 16, of 87 San Carlos Avenue, Sausalito, suffered a broken left collarbone last night when his bicycle collided with a car at a Sausalito intersection.

Haynes was treated at Marin General Hospital. Police said his bicycle and a car driven by Ian Richard Desmares, 35, of 437 Johnson Street, Sausalito, collided at 8:31 p.m. at Johnson and Bonita streets.

Workshop On The Theater Is Under Way

An 18-week theater workshop sponsored by the Mill Valley Center for the Performing Arts and Mill Valley Parks and Recreation Department started this week.

The workshop, directed by Gary Philp, meets from 7:30 to 10:30 p.m. Mondays and Wednesdays at the Edna Maguire School music room.

Then one of the plays used during the workshop will be chosen for production, sponsored by the Center for the Performing Arts. Three weeks of performance are scheduled.

Registration for the class will be taken at Monday's workshop. Philp has presented concert performances at more than 50 California colleges, and has directed at Palo Alto, Los Angeles and San Jose.

A Dog's Dream, Blocks Of Trees

SAN LEANDRO (AP) — Tammy, a Manchester terrier, is getting on in years and his master, C. R. Harer, decided to do something for man's best friend.

Harer donated $2,000 to the city to plant trees so Tammy and his old friends won't have so far to walk.

The first 20 trees—all 14-foot Russet Magnolias — already adorn the block where the Harers live at 91 Broadmoor Boulevard.

His wife said he was just going to give money for a few blocks of trees, then said: "Shoot, I might as well go a whole walk's worth—nine or ten blocks."

Highway 17 Route To Be Discussed By Committee

Routing of Highway 17, the east-west connection from Highway 101 to West Marin, and a proposed new-type bus system will be among topics to be discussed tonight by the Marin Citizens Transportation Committee.

Committee chairman Raymond Ryason of San Anselmo announced that the meeting will start at 8 p.m. in room 413 of the Civic Center.

The new type of bus system is proposed by pool salesman Edward Marnell of 15 Balra Drive, Novato. Marnell proposes that the Greyhound Bus Service be revamped with a new route structure with improved and speeded service.

He would give special preference to commuters with monthly commute tickets, who would have exclusive use of express buses. Other buses would be available for casual riders and intra-county travelers.

Anne West, chairman of the public transit subcommittee of the main committee, said Marnell's proposal is "worthy of further consideration."

Anniversary Party Set By Council

The Sausalito Citizens Council will hold a combined 20th anniversary party and business meeting at 3 p.m. Nov. 5 at the Sausalito Women's Club.

Founders of the council will be special guests. Five directors are to be elected to two-year terms, and a documentary film, "San Francisco Bay," will be shown.

Nominees for the five directorships are George Carney, Kenneth Elkington, Mrs. Margot Gergus, Roy Kindred and Fred Sumner. Other nominations may be made from the floor.

One directorship is vacant because of the resignation of Thomas E. Oliver. Directors whose terms are expiring are Kindred, Sumner, Harvey Coverly and Elvia Farnham.

Spook Party On Ice

EDWARDIAN CHARM

The entry garden of this older home, with its trees and flowers that evoke an earlier era, casts a magic spell over the visitor, and like a time machine takes him back to the world of yesterday. Irene Castle might have taken tea on the spacious, enclosed porch, and then danced her way into the living-dining room with its wainscoting and painted brick fireplace. If you're nostalgic for a gentler time, yet want the conveniences of today, this 3 bedroom, 2 bath house is for you.

EDWARDIAN CHARM

The entry garden of this older home, with its trees and flowers that evoke an earlier era, casts a magic spell over the visitor, and like a time machine takes him back to the world of yesterday. Irene Castle might have taken tea on the spacious, enclosed porch, and then danced her way into the living-dining room with its wainscoting and painted brick fireplace. If you're nostalgic for a gentler time, yet want the conveniences of today, this 3 bedroom, 2 bath house is for you.

PARIS OFF-SEASON

Paris during its busy season is filled with tourists, sometimes so many that all there is to see seems to be other tourists. In the off-season, on the other hand, the city empties out, relaxing with a sigh till spring brings new hordes of tourists.

But from late fall to early spring Paris is for Parisians, many of whom are unnoticed by tourists during the busy season. Or if not unnoticed they stand out more clearly against their natural backgrounds, uncluttered by swarms of camera-toting outsiders come to see and flee on a whirlwind tour.

A stroll through the French capital at such a time brings to light familiar and not-so-familiar sights that often are overlooked in a typical tourist's day. Then even the looks on lovers' faces take on new beauty, and the sight of an old accordionist becomes more touching.

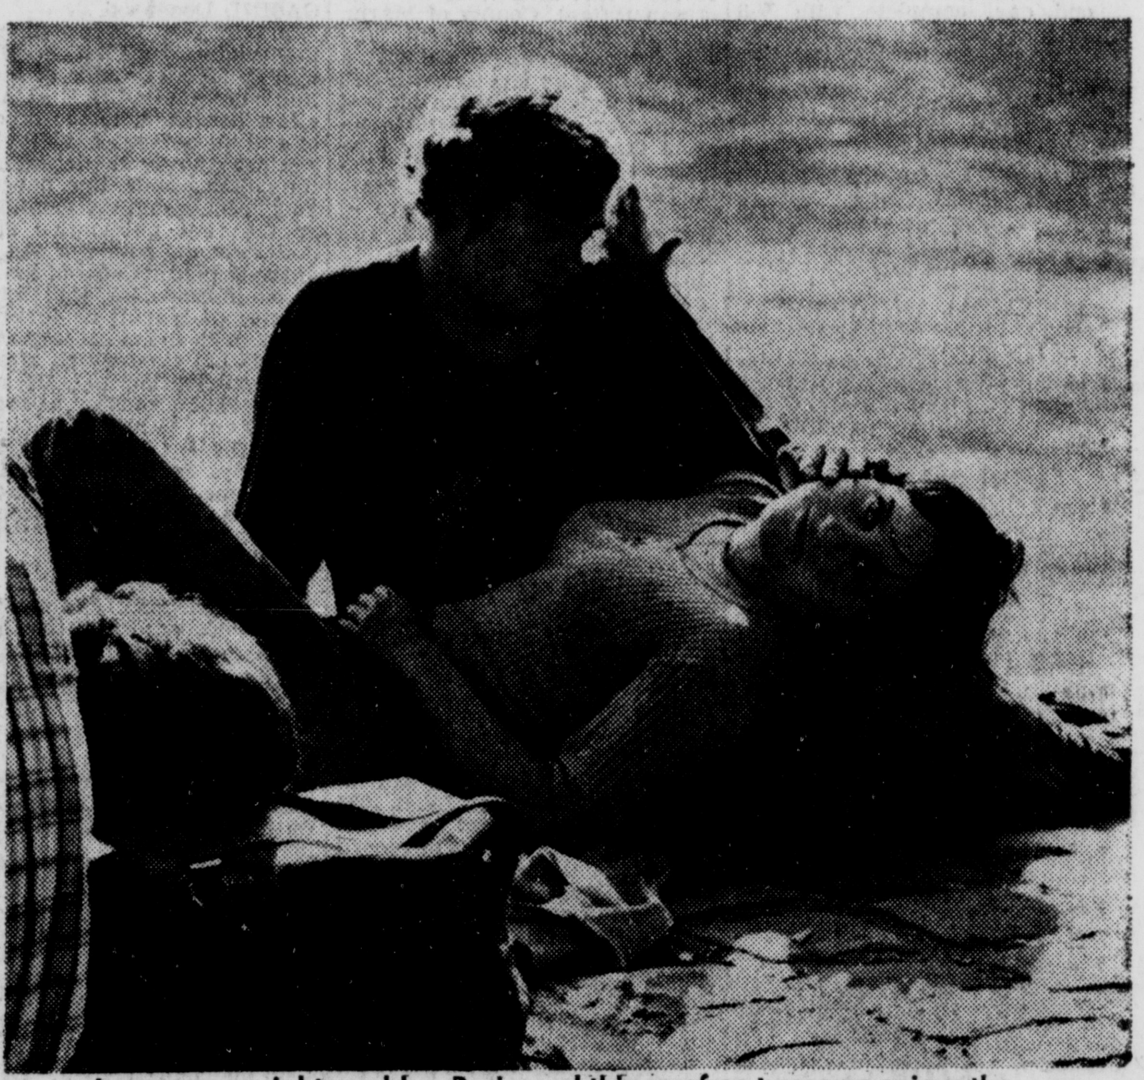
Construction causes congestion in Paris, too, as work proceeds near the Place de la Concorde on a new freeway along the banks of the Seine.



Lovers are a sight as old as Paris, and this carefree twosome enjoys the sun on a warm day. Like most beatniks, they are foreign, not French.

A policeman directing traffic on the fashionable Rue du Faubourg Saint-Honore, near the Elysee Palace, seems to indulge in a ballet with fashion models in a giant poster.

$2695

Here's a little Special Deluxe 4-Dr. that we've used here at our company during the past eight months. It was used almost exclusively as a personal car by our used car sales manager.

Just over 6,000 miles but you'd never know it had any miles at all when you look at it. Light green mist with matching full vinyl interior. Fully equipped including automatic, V-8 engine, radio, heater, power steering, etc.

Never licensed so you would be the first and only owner of record. This car carries the full 5-year or 50,000-mile General Motors new-car guarantee even though it has 6,000 miles.

Sticker price on the window is $3209. Kelly Blue Book shows a used vehicle of like model and equipment should sell for $2810 without any guarantee. We'll sell this car for only $2695 with the full new-car guarantee.

Federal Colleges Support Spiraling

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Total federal support to colleges and universities during fiscal 1966 was $3.017 billion, according to the American Council on Education.

The increased support, up from $2.287 billion during 1965, reflected increases in such payments from all but one of the departments and agencies of the government which account for more than 95 per cent of all direct federal support.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

VAN DELLEN

Several years ago we received a letter from a woman who had a large, flat birthmark on her thigh. After she married and had a child the defect disappeared but one cropped up on her son's leg in the same spot as hers. She wanted an explanation for this mysterious transfer.

This was no mystery but it was an unusual coincidence. We assume that the birthmark was a vascular nevus, perhaps a strawberry hemagioma. These lesions may occur anywhere on the skin. They vary in size from a minute fleck to a huge growth involving an entire extremity. They are present at birth or appear during the first few months of life.

BIRTHMARKS of this type have a tendency to grow rapidly for several months, and then remain stationary. Ultimately they may disappear spontaneously.

The coincidence occurred because the mother's birthmark began to regress at the same time her sons' lesion began to form. Both just happened to develop in the same area.

THERE ARE several types of hemagiomas. Portwine stains, the most common of all, are usually seen at birth. These rarely fade or disappear. Most of them are on the scalp where they are covered by hair.

There is no way to eradicate a portwine stain without leaving undesirable marks. Some dermatologists destroy the lesion with dry ice, whereas others utilize radiation, surgical excision or by tattooing with skin-colored pigment.

ALL TREATMENTS have limitations. Knowing this avoids discouragement. The newest method is to lighten the color with the laser beam.

POISONS

C. D. writes: Do whisky and cigarets harm the eyesight?

REPLY

Heavy drinkers and smokers may develop toxic neuritis of the optic nerve. Abstinence is followed by improvement, provided the nerve is not destroyed.

Nicotine also may affect the circulation of the retinal vessels. In central angiospastic retinopathy the arteries are thrown into a state of temporary spasm during which vision is affected. Tobacco aggrevates but does not cause the condition.

POOR HEALTH

A Chicagoan writes: I am a walking germ factory. I have every disease I read or hear about but my physician can't find a thing wrong with me. Is there another type of doctor who might be able to help?

REPLY

LABOR RIGOR

D. L. writes: Is it true that if a girl's mother had a difficult labor, the daughter will have the same experience when her time comes to give birth?

REPLY

No. Futhermore, the same woman may have a difficult labor with one child but not with another.

BRAIN TUMOR

M. S. writes: Please explain what an astrocytoma, grade 4 malignancy means. Can such a tumor be cured with cobalt radiation or is it fatal?

REPLY

Water User Is Leary Of Accounting Plan

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — When you talk about the water I'm diverting from this little old stream, to irrigate the south pasture, pardner, you'd better smile!

The state Water Rights Board is trying to talk about this water diversion and apparently hasn't been smiling enough or with the proper friendly light in its eyes.

A lot of water in California is used by landowners, and perhaps has been used by them and their forefathers for 60, 80 or more than 100 years, with no recorded right. The water is in a stream flowing by the property, or comes in a canal.

Sometimes there's a problem when the person wants to sell his property. The new buyer, before he shells out several hundred thousand dollars, wants to know how firm the water rights are. And, quite often, the would-be seller has no piece of paper.

That's why the board was instrumental in having a bill passed in 1965 which was signed into law. The measure provides that anyone diverting water in California, unless his diversion comes under the regulation of a watermaster or other authority, make a report on how much water he uses and what he uses it for.

But the board said the response has been somewhat less than gratifying. Kenneth Woodward, a water rights expert with the board, said this may be because of suspicion on the part of the water user.

From the state's standpoint, a complete reporting system on diversions would provide it with a much better picture of how much water is available in the thousands of little streams, and to what use it is being put.

To the landowner who diverts the water, the filing of reports could be the beginning of a record which might stand him well in the future. At present, the best a water-user can present, other than a right to the water, is some proof that he has been using it over the years.

If the landowner wants to file for a right, even though he may have been using the water for 50 years, his application is treated as a brand new one and receives priority for 1967. But, the board points out, a record of use for only one year is better than no record at all and that is the case for much of the smaller diversion of water today.

Insect Spray Said Dangerous

MIAMI, Fla. (SS) — Household use of spray pesticides is more dangerous than is generally recognized. According to Dr. William B. Deichmann of the University of Miami, persons who frequently use bug spray at home have a high concentration of residues in their bodies. Chemicals such as DDT and dieldrin are particularly dangerous.

Pesticide residues in the body may influence the effects of drugs and other chemicals by affecting enzyme action. Enzymes break down drugs so that the body can use them.

In studies of fat tissues taken at autopsy from 271 patients, Dr. Jack Radomski, also of Miami, found high levels of pesticide residue in persons who had used pesticides freely, whereas the opposite was true for persons who had used them infrequently, he told the AMA Congress on Occupational Health meeting in Atlanta.

Lung Disease

WASHINGTON (SS) — Suspected lung diseases can be diagnosed by inserting a long, hollow needle through the chest and into the lungs to extract tissue for study. In 126 such lung biopsies, all lesions were accurately identified.

Higher Education's Woes Need Study

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI)—Problems confronting administrators of higher education are so enormous, a committee of the New York Board of Regents concluded, that a major university should establish a center to study them.

After an indepth study of 180 college and university presidents in New York, the committee proposed a center that would evaluate problems facing administrators, analyze the results of administrative decisions and provide a program of professional education.

SPECIAL

Here's a little Special Deluxe 4-Dr. that we've used here at our company during the past eight months. It was used almost exclusively as a personal car by our used car sales manager.

Just over 6,000 miles but you'd never know it had any miles at all when you look at it. Light green mist with matching full vinyl interior. Fully equipped including automatic, V-8 engine, radio, heater, power steering, etc.

Never licensed so you would be the first and only owner of record. This car carries the full 5-year or 50,000-mile General Motors new-car guarantee even though it has 6,000 miles.

Sticker price on the window is $3209. Kelly Blue Book shows a used vehicle of like model and equipment should sell for $2810 without any guarantee. We'll sell this car for only $2695 with the full new-car guarantee.

Federal Colleges Support Spiraling

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Total federal support to colleges and universities during fiscal 1966 was $3.017 billion, according to the American Council on Education.

The increased support, up from $2.287 billion during 1965, reflected increases in such payments from all but one of the departments and agencies of the government which account for more than 95 per cent of all direct federal support.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

VAN DELLEN

Several years ago we received a letter from a woman who had a large, flat birthmark on her thigh. After she married and had a child the defect disappeared but one cropped up on her son's leg in the same spot as hers. She wanted an explanation for this mysterious transfer.

This was no mystery but it was an unusual coincidence. We assume that the birthmark was a vascular nevus, perhaps a strawberry hemagioma. These lesions may occur anywhere on the skin. They vary in size from a minute fleck to a huge growth involving an entire extremity. They are present at birth or appear during the first few months of life.

BIRTHMARKS of this type have a tendency to grow rapidly for several months, and then remain stationary. Ultimately they may disappear spontaneously.

The coincidence occurred because the mother's birthmark began to regress at the same time her sons' lesion began to form. Both just happened to develop in the same area.

THERE ARE several types of hemagiomas. Portwine stains, the most common of all, are usually seen at birth. These rarely fade or disappear. Most of them are on the scalp where they are covered by hair.

There is no way to eradicate a portwine stain without leaving undesirable marks. Some dermatologists destroy the lesion with dry ice, whereas others utilize radiation, surgical excision or by tattooing with skin-colored pigment.

ALL TREATMENTS have limitations. Knowing this avoids discouragement. The newest method is to lighten the color with the laser beam.

POISONS

C. D. writes: Do whisky and cigarets harm the eyesight?

REPLY

Heavy drinkers and smokers may develop toxic neuritis of the optic nerve. Abstinence is followed by improvement, provided the nerve is not destroyed.

Nicotine also may affect the circulation of the retinal vessels. In central angiospastic retinopathy the arteries are thrown into a state of temporary spasm during which vision is affected. Tobacco aggrevates but does not cause the condition.

POOR HEALTH

A Chicagoan writes: I am a walking germ factory. I have every disease I read or hear about but my physician can't find a thing wrong with me. Is there another type of doctor who might be able to help?

REPLY

LABOR RIGOR

D. L. writes: Is it true that if a girl's mother had a difficult labor, the daughter will have the same experience when her time comes to give birth?

REPLY

No. Futhermore, the same woman may have a difficult labor with one child but not with another.

BRAIN TUMOR

M. S. writes: Please explain what an astrocytoma, grade 4 malignancy means. Can such a tumor be cured with cobalt radiation or is it fatal?

REPLY

Water User Is Leary Of Accounting Plan

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — When you talk about the water I'm diverting from this little old stream, to irrigate the south pasture, pardner, you'd better smile!

The state Water Rights Board is trying to talk about this water diversion and apparently hasn't been smiling enough or with the proper friendly light in its eyes.

A lot of water in California is used by landowners, and perhaps has been used by them and their forefathers for 60, 80 or more than 100 years, with no recorded right. The water is in a stream flowing by the property, or comes in a canal.

Sometimes there's a problem when the person wants to sell his property. The new buyer, before he shells out several hundred thousand dollars, wants to know how firm the water rights are. And, quite often, the would-be seller has no piece of paper.

That's why the board was instrumental in having a bill passed in 1965 which was signed into law. The measure provides that anyone diverting water in California, unless his diversion comes under the regulation of a watermaster or other authority, make a report on how much water he uses and what he uses it for.

But the board said the response has been somewhat less than gratifying. Kenneth Woodward, a water rights expert with the board, said this may be because of suspicion on the part of the water user.

From the state's standpoint, a complete reporting system on diversions would provide it with a much better picture of how much water is available in the thousands of little streams, and to what use it is being put.

To the landowner who diverts the water, the filing of reports could be the beginning of a record which might stand him well in the future. At present, the best a water-user can present, other than a right to the water, is some proof that he has been using it over the years.

If the landowner wants to file for a right, even though he may have been using the water for 50 years, his application is treated as a brand new one and receives priority for 1967. But, the board points out, a record of use for only one year is better than no record at all and that is the case for much of the smaller diversion of water today.

Insect Spray Said Dangerous

MIAMI, Fla. (SS) — Household use of spray pesticides is more dangerous than is generally recognized. According to Dr. William B. Deichmann of the University of Miami, persons who frequently use bug spray at home have a high concentration of residues in their bodies. Chemicals such as DDT and dieldrin are particularly dangerous.

Pesticide residues in the body may influence the effects of drugs and other chemicals by affecting enzyme action. Enzymes break down drugs so that the body can use them.

In studies of fat tissues taken at autopsy from 271 patients, Dr. Jack Radomski, also of Miami, found high levels of pesticide residue in persons who had used pesticides freely, whereas the opposite was true for persons who had used them infrequently, he told the AMA Congress on Occupational Health meeting in Atlanta.

Lung Disease

WASHINGTON (SS) — Suspected lung diseases can be diagnosed by inserting a long, hollow needle through the chest and into the lungs to extract tissue for study. In 126 such lung biopsies, all lesions were accurately identified.

Higher Education's Woes Need Study

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI)—Problems confronting administrators of higher education are so enormous, a committee of the New York Board of Regents concluded, that a major university should establish a center to study them.

After an indepth study of 180 college and university presidents in New York, the committee proposed a center that would evaluate problems facing administrators, analyze the results of administrative decisions and provide a program of professional education.

PARIS OFF-SEASON

Paris during its busy season is filled with tourists, sometimes so many that all there is to see seems to be other tourists. In the off-season, on the other hand, the city empties out, relaxing with a sigh till spring brings new hordes of tourists.

But from late fall to early spring Paris is for Parisians, many of whom are unnoticed by tourists during the busy season. Or if not unnoticed they stand out more clearly against their natural backgrounds, uncluttered by swarms of camera-toting outsiders come to see and flee on a whirlwind tour.

A stroll through the French capital at such a time brings to light familiar and not-so-familiar sights that often are overlooked in a typical tourist's day. Then even the looks on lovers' faces take on new beauty, and the sight of an old accordionist becomes more touching.

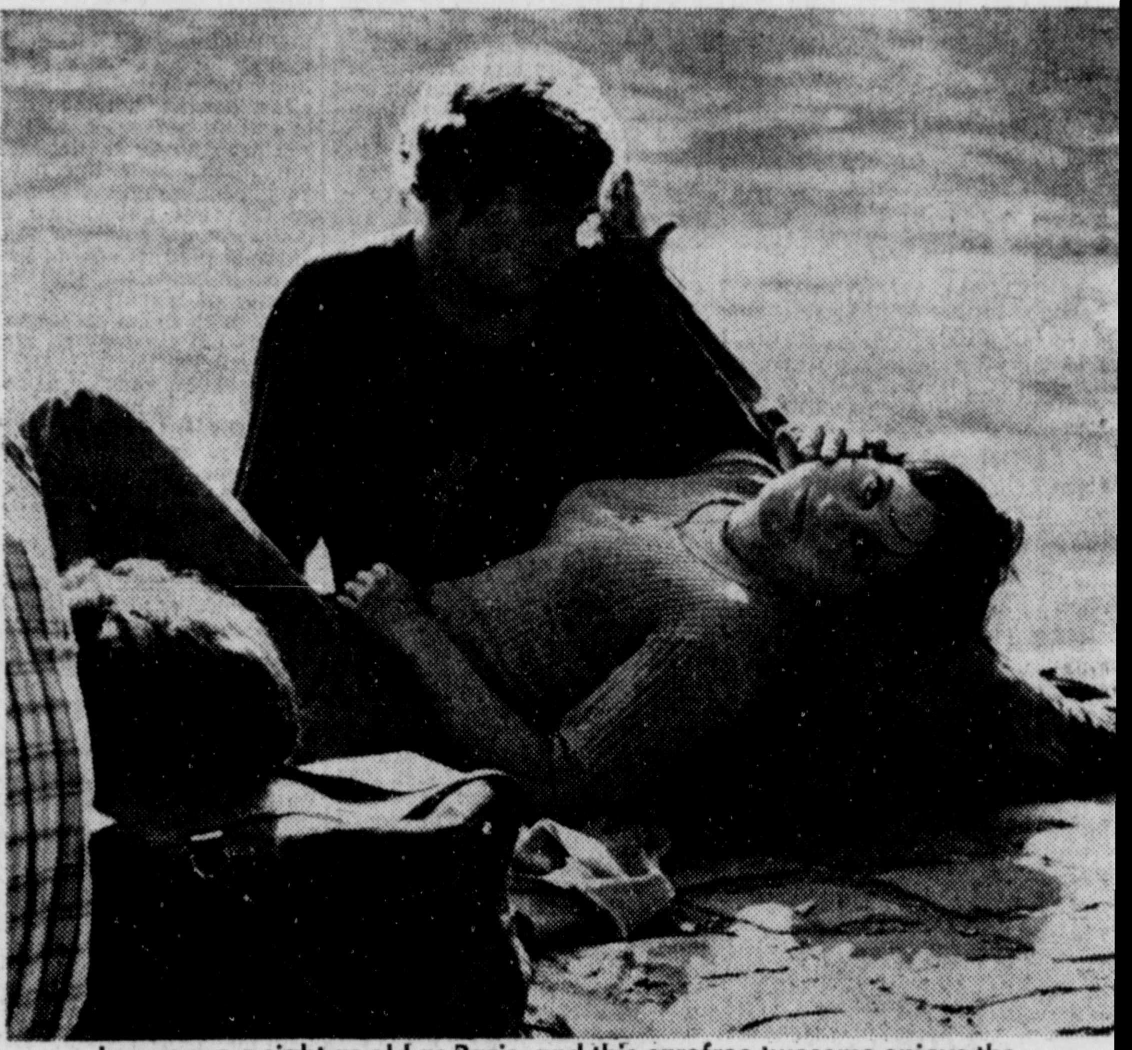
Construction causes congestion in Paris, too, as work proceeds near the Place de la Concorde on a new freeway along the banks of the Seine.



Lovers are a sight as old as Paris, and this carefree twosome enjoys the sun on a warm day. Like most beatniks, they are foreign, not French.

TELEVISION REVIEW

Series Without Big Names Getting Axed

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) —Cancellations of television series that don't have big star namest to bolster them are beginning to pile up as video movies and specials continue to pulverize regular programming.

"Dundee and the Culhane," a CBS-TV Western with John Mills, has already been marked for axing.

ANOTHER OUT

NBC-TV, meanwhile, has canceled—as of January—"Accidental Family," a half-hour series with Jerry Van Dyke as a nightclub comedian who is a widower with a son.

And it is reported that ABC-TV has also canceled "Iron Horse," a Western with Dale Robertson.

All three series are up against weekly movies.

"Iron Horse," an hour show that did all right in the ratings last season—its first—when it was seen on Mondays, and against no movie, was switched this semester to Saturdays. "Dundee and the Culhane" and "Accidental Family" are new entries.

ALSO SHAKY

It is also reported, meanwhile, that long-running series "The Man From U.N.C.L.E." is on very thin ice at NBC-TV. The question of its future is frankly being discussed at the network.

The show business trade paper "Variety" notes that "U.N.C.L.E." has probably been "the victim of too many shifts in the schedule," seeming to occupy a new program slot every year.

In addition, in its new slot this year, on Mondays, it has run up against the most powerful night of regular series programming of each week—that belonging to CBS-TV. Its direct competitors are "Gunsmoke" and Lucille Ball.

If "U.N.C.L.E." does go under, it will mean that the James Bond era of video series is officially dead. This was the series that started it all, and the others that moved in on the fad have gone, with "U.N.C.L.E." now buried low in the ratings.

MOVE FILMS

There is steady talk, meanwhile, to the effect that it is a pretty fair bet that there may soon be seven network movies every week—in short, one every night. Currently, Monday is the only night without one.

On Tuesday, NBC-TV offered television's first double feature, and the overnight New York City ratings indicated that the films—"A Hard Day's Night" and "Cinderfella"—scored heavily, each one doing well. The overnight rating also indicates that the ABC-TV adaptation of the musical "Kismet" did reasonably well too, especially considering the movie competition.

And as the network yearning for faster and faster ratings news grows and grows, it has been revealed that tests apparently are under way for a system of measurement that would offer national overnight statistics. Up to this season, the national ratings were issued every two weeks. Now it is every week. The spectre of daily national ratings must be horrifying to producers. But it will be great for the tranquilizer business.

Colony's Mysterious Fate Still Unsolved

ROANOKE ISLAND, N.C. (UPI)—North Carolina was the scene of the first attempt to colonize America by English-speaking people.

Under a charter granted to Sir Walter Raleigh by Queen Elizabeth I, a colony was begun in the 1580's on Roanoke Island. The war between England and Spain and the threat of the Spanish Armada kept supplies from reaching the colonies for several years. When they finally did come no one was found where the colony was established and to this day the mystery of "The Lost Colony" has not been solved.

Solution To Farmers' Labor Needs?

Special to the I-J

DAVIS — A mutual air program to ease California's farm labor shortage and at the same time upgrade agricultural methods in developing nations has been proposed by economist Elias H. Tuma of the University of California at Davis.

In a recent publication of the UCD Institute of Governmental Affairs, Tuma suggests bringing young people from developing countries to work and train on California farms, providing these countries with a core of experienced farmers necessary for increased productivity, and California with a standby farm labor resource.

The trainees would be recruited in numbers based partially on the expected labor shortages in California during peak harvest seasons, and would spend nine months to a year in the state.

Consistent with legislation regulating foreign labor, they would work only if there were a domestic labor shortage and would spend the remainder of the time in classroom and on-the-job training.

The trainees would be paid for their work, with a portion of the earnings, suggests Tuma, used to sustain them while here. Some financial assistance could be derived from the home countries, with the balance to come from interested agencies.

Tuma interviewed a number of farmers and farm experts and found them generally in favor of the program.

Most California farmers, he says, have experienced labor shortages and expect them to continue for a number of years until there is a rise in the domestic work force or increased mechanization, or both.

TELEVISION REVIEW

Series Without Big Names Getting Axed

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) —Cancellations of television series that don't have big star namest to bolster them are beginning to pile up as video movies and specials continue to pulverize regular programming.

"Dundee and the Culhane," a CBS-TV Western with John Mills, has already been marked for axing.

ANOTHER OUT

NBC-TV, meanwhile, has canceled—as of January—"Accidental Family," a half-hour series with Jerry Van Dyke as a nightclub comedian who is a widower with a son.

And it is reported that ABC-TV has also canceled "Iron Horse," a Western with Dale Robertson.

All three series are up against weekly movies.

"Iron Horse," an hour show that did all right in the ratings last season—its first—when it was seen on Mondays, and against no movie, was switched this semester to Saturdays. "Dundee and the Culhane" and "Accidental Family" are new entries.

ALSO SHAKY

It is also reported, meanwhile, that long-running series "The Man From U.N.C.L.E." is on very thin ice at NBC-TV. The question of its future is frankly being discussed at the network.

The show business trade paper "Variety" notes that "U.N.C.L.E." has probably been "the victim of too many shifts in the schedule," seeming to occupy a new program slot every year.

In addition, in its new slot this year, on Mondays, it has run up against the most powerful night of regular series programming of each week—that belonging to CBS-TV. Its direct competitors are "Gunsmoke" and Lucille Ball.

If "U.N.C.L.E." does go under, it will mean that the James Bond era of video series is officially dead. This was the series that started it all, and the others that moved in on the fad have gone, with "U.N.C.L.E." now buried low in the ratings.

MOVE FILMS

There is steady talk, meanwhile, to the effect that it is a pretty fair bet that there may soon be seven network movies every week—in short, one every night. Currently, Monday is the only night without one.

On Tuesday, NBC-TV offered television's first double feature, and the overnight New York City ratings indicated that the films—"A Hard Day's Night" and "Cinderfella"—scored heavily, each one doing well. The overnight rating also indicates that the ABC-TV adaptation of the musical "Kismet" did reasonably well too, especially considering the movie competition.

And as the network yearning for faster and faster ratings news grows and grows, it has been revealed that tests apparently are under way for a system of measurement that would offer national overnight statistics. Up to this season, the national ratings were issued every two weeks. Now it is every week. The spectre of daily national ratings must be horrifying to producers. But it will be great for the tranquilizer business.

Colony's Mysterious Fate Still Unsolved

ROANOKE ISLAND, N.C. (UPI)—North Carolina was the scene of the first attempt to colonize America by English-speaking people.

Under a charter granted to Sir Walter Raleigh by Queen Elizabeth I, a colony was begun in the 1580's on Roanoke Island. The war between England and Spain and the threat of the Spanish Armada kept supplies from reaching the colonies for several years. When they finally did come no one was found where the colony was established and to this day the mystery of "The Lost Colony" has not been solved.

Solution To Farmers' Labor Needs?

Special to the I-J

DAVIS — A mutual air program to ease California's farm labor shortage and at the same time upgrade agricultural methods in developing nations has been proposed by economist Elias H. Tuma of the University of California at Davis.

In a recent publication of the UCD Institute of Governmental Affairs, Tuma suggests bringing young people from developing countries to work and train on California farms, providing these countries with a core of experienced farmers necessary for increased productivity, and California with a standby farm labor resource.

The trainees would be recruited in numbers based partially on the expected labor shortages in California during peak harvest seasons, and would spend nine months to a year in the state.

Consistent with legislation regulating foreign labor, they would work only if there were a domestic labor shortage and would spend the remainder of the time in classroom and on-the-job training.

The trainees would be paid for their work, with a portion of the earnings, suggests Tuma, used to sustain them while here. Some financial assistance could be derived from the home countries, with the balance to come from interested agencies.

Tuma interviewed a number of farmers and farm experts and found them generally in favor of the program.

Most California farmers, he says, have experienced labor shortages and expect them to continue for a number of years until there is a rise in the domestic work force or increased mechanization, or both.

'New Punt Rule Adds Excitement'

ATHENS, Ga. (AP) — Vince Dooley says the new rule on punt returns has "put a little more excitement in the game," and the Georgia football coach ought to know.

"I imagine we have been hurt by it more than anybody else," Dooley added, "and sometimes it is a cheap way to get a touchdown.

"But punts have become exciting plays now, and the rule changes have livened up the game."

SOME HURT

Clemson's Frank Liberatore returned a punt 52 yards for a touchdown against Georgia, and the Bulldogs were hurt in their only loss of the year when Mississippi returned punts to the Georgia 15 and 6 yard lines.

"It's rather ironic, because I was one of the few coaches who felt we ought to give the new rule a chance," Dooley said. "And I still do.

"To my knowledge, it hasn't caused a lot of injuries like some said it would, and I believe the fans probably like it."

Dooley said that he believes Georgia is better prepared now to stop punt runbacks, and he added that his sixth-ranked Bulldogs had better be ready when they play at Kentucky Saturday night.

RETURN MAN

"Kentucky's Dicky Lyons is the greatest I've ever seen at returning kicks," Dooley said. "He's not terribly fast, but he has the moves, and the knack of going in the right direction."

Dooley pointed out that Lyons returned a kickoff from his end zone to the 50 against Louisiana State last Saturday "in an absolutely unbelievable run," and late in the game returned a kickoff 95 yards for a touchdown.

"It's probably my fault what we haven't utilized the rule as well as some of the others," Dooley said. "But as long as it makes the game more exiting and doesn't increase injuries, I think we ought to study it a full season before we decide whether to keep it."

THOMSON INCREASES LEAD IN AUSSIE GOLF

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP) — Former British Open champion Peter Thomson increased his lead to six strokes by firing his second straight 69 today in the Australian Open Golf Championship.

The second round was marked by the withdrawal of slumping Bruce Devlin (77-80), and by a fit of temper on the part of U.S. touring pro Bert Yancey who bent a six-iron over his knee.

Yancey, who had a 77 yesterday, was playing par golf until he came to the 11th hole and sent his approach shot to the back of the green. That's when he bent his club.

Tough Foes Ahead For 49er Collett

REDWOOD CITY (UPI) — Young Elmer Collett is on the spot for the next two weeks as the San Francisco 49ers try to prove their 5-1 record so far is no fluke.

Collett, Mill Valley man who starred at Tamalpais High, College of Marin and San Francisco State, is replacing all-pro guard John Thomas, out for the season with injuries to both knees.

While the running attack seemed to fall off a bit without Thomas last Sunday, Collett and his mates in the offensive line did a good job protecting passer John Brodie.

This week the 240-pound Collett faces a tiger in Detroit's Jerry Rush. The Lions were so high on this 270-pounder they were willing to trade off the great Roger Brown to Los Angeles. Collett will be an expert on the merits of that deal because he has to take on Brown the following Sunday.

Meanwhile, John David Crow was named San Francisco's offensive player of the week for his work in the 27-13 win over New Orleans. He was about the only running back to stay healthy through the whole contest, which made it quite a workout for the veteran. Ed Beard was voted best defender and speedster Doug Cunningham the top special team member.

NOT BRIGHT

The injury report for the Prospectors is not bright, but it is not too disastrous either considering the number of men who limped or were helped off the field against New Orleans.

Only special team beck Wayne Swinford is definitely out with a knee injury that could finish him off for the year. Defensive tackle Charley Krueger is a doubtful participant and won't start.

Penalties Imposed By NCAA

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The National Collegiate Athletic Association Council, governing body of the NCAA, has issued new rulings affecting several schools — including Nebraska, Mississippi State, Michigan State, Purdue and Bradley.

The council at its meeting yesterday barred the Mississippi State basketball team from postseason championship competition through 1969 for recruting and financial violations.

Nebraska was given a reprimand and censure for being involved in paymentf $600 for repairs to an auto of a prospective student-athlete.

The council said the youth was given the money by his employers, who are identified as having Nebraska athletic interests.

MILDEST

The penalty is the mildest possible. Nebraska is not barred from any kind of competition.

The council restored Michigan State, Purdue and Bradley to good standing. They had been on probation for infractions.

Michigan State had been put on probation in November 1964 for improper recruiting practices.

Purdue had been on probation since October 1966 for recruiting irregularities, and Bradley since last year for giving improper financial aid.

Mississippi State, of the Southeastern Conference, was criticized by the SEC last August for what it called "the gross negligence or laxity on the part of Mississippi State basketball coaches.

FREE RIDE

The council said Mississippi State provided two high school athletes, who were on campus to take entrance exams, free air transportation from Starkville, Miss., to the site of an all-star high school basketball game in which the two were to play.

It said Mississippi State also was guilty of permitting two prospective recruits to participate in a basketball workout, and did not provide a student-athlete with a written statement detailing the amount, duration, conditions and terms of an athletic scholarship.

The council noted that Mississippi State has since reorganized its athletic department and revised its administrative procedures. It added that excellent cooperation had been given the NCAA and the infractions committee.

On The Balcony Wins Bay Meadows Race

SAN MATEO (AP) — On The Balcony outlasted favored Army Bomber yesterday for a half length victory in the Berkeley Purse at Bay Meadows. Joe Jean finished third.

On the Balcony's time for six furlongs was 1:10 2-5. On The Balcony paid $12.00, $6.00, and $3.00. Army Bomber returned $4.00 and $3.00, and Joe Jean $2.40.

Fireworks On Tap For Oakland A's

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI)— This city's baseball fans recalled today with nostalgic amusement the many gay innovations created for Municipal Stadium by Charles O. Finley on hearing of his latest contribution to major league baseball, the "exploding scoreboard."

It probably was incredible to some, but Kansas City fans believe it.

Fancy Finley, as he is often referred to by many of this city's fans, reported to Chicago yesterday he will install the scoreboard in the stadium housing the Oakland Athletics. He was recently permitted by the American League to move the Athletics to Oakland.

After his sparkling announcement, the Chicago insurance man-baseball club owner was asked what the exploding scoreboard will do.

NO TELLING

"No telling what it will do," said Finley.

Asked why it will be installed, he replied:

Among these unique items was a toy rabbit named Harvey who, attired in an A's uniform, popped out of the ground near home plate and handed the umpire a pawful of baseballs.

And on a grassy hill in the outfield, there was a calm scene to quiet the energetic Athletics. A shepherd attended a few slow grazing goats.

EVEN A ZOO

For a time, there was a zoo at the ball park, replete with monkeys and pretty birds in cages.

Some of the tropical species were nearly as colorful as the gayly attired Kansas City baseball players, who sported green and gold uniforms and white shoes made of what Finley said was albino kangaroo leather, fresh from Australia.

A few years ago , before city officials prohibited it, fireworks brightened the sky over Kansas City whenever the A's got a home run, which was seldom. However, it was often enough to cause explosive protests from residents near the stadium.

Another Finley extra for the fans was Charlie O, a genuine Missouri mule as mascot. Charlie O, the mule, traveled with the club and was displayed for a time in hotel lobbies in league cities. But Charlie O, the mule, committed too many social errors and was barred from several hotels.

RUNNING FEUD

Finley also provided fireworks of another nature—a running feud with city officials over rent and attendance, etc.

Back to the exploding scoreboard. Finley was asked if he was thinking of scaring opposing pitchers.

"Definitely. We'll set a match to the thing only when we hit home runs, not when they hit them."

Finley commented he felt "tremendous" about the move from Kansas City, adding, "I never felt better in my life." His Oakland scoreboard probably will endure. If used only when the Athletics hit home runs—which was rare in Kansas City — it should last.

Oakland Oaks Host Indiana

OAKLAND (UPI) — The Oakland Oaks have the job of cooling off the Indiana Pacers tonight when the midwestern American Basketball Association club brings a 5-0 record to the Coliseum.

"We've got to make some changes in our game plan," says Coach Bruce Hale, whose Oaks now are 2-1. "Indiana is a quick team, much like ours, but they're bigger and really climb the boards."

Hale watched the Pacers down Dallas, 121-101 Sunday. He said that Indiana's Roger Brown could be a great star in the ABA.

Bookie Giving 300-1 Palmer Won't Win

LAS VEGAS, NEV. (AP) — The burning issue was not whether Arnold Palmer would win the $100,000 Sahara Invitational Golf Tournament but whether Arnie and his Nevada Army would fade out of the scene entirely with 36 holes yet to be played after today.

Las Vegas is renowned for its gambling and one of its prominent apostles, Jimmy "The Greek" Snyder, went so far as to bet intimate friends that Palmer was no better than 300-1 to win the thing and 2-1 to qualify for the two rounds remaining after today's second round.

U. S. Swim Team Shy Of Records

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The United States got off to a good start on the first day of swimming at the Pre-Olympics, but U.S. coaches believe few records will fall this year or next in Mexico City.

U.S. swimmers captured three of the five events last night and added four silver medals and two bronze, but no records were threatened by this group that was lowering marks every time they stepped in the water earlier this year.

"We were very pleased today," Don Gambril, men's team coach from Long Beach State College said. "But as far as records go, I don't think any of our swimmers are in top condition."

SLOWER TIMES

Lynn Vidali of Santa Clara, was a good three seconds off the world mark in winning the women's 100-meter backstroke in 1:10.3. Don Schollander, Saratoga, won the 100-meter free style in 54.5, but that was 1.9 seconds off the world record. And Debbie Meyer of Sacramento, whose 9:48.0 took a gold in the 800-meter freestyle, was 25.1 seconds off her own world mark.

Gold medalist Ada Kok of Holland came closest in the 100-meter butterfly with 1:06.7. She holds the record at 1:04.5. The other gold went to Andrey Dunaev of Russia for his 5:00.7 in the 400-meter individual medley.

Other golds of the day went to the Soviet Union in the 4,000-meter team pursuit bike race, to Belgium in tandem cycling, to Romania in rapid fire pistolry, to Switzerland for high power rifle shooting, and to Russia in epee fencing.

29 MEDALS

But swimming will be the competition which brings the largest harvest of medals—29 golds in all.

Despite the conditioning factor, Gambril and women's coach Sherman Chavoor of Sacramento expect to win their share.

"The kids have had a long season, and most of them haven't had a meet since August," Gambril said. "Besides, we've only been here four days, compared with the Russians, who have had five weeks at this altitude, and the East Germans, who have had four.

"We didn't come earlier because most of our swimmers are in school, and we brought only two national champions to the men's competition, Schollander and Peter Williams." Williams of Pittsburgh won a silver in the individual medley.

"The girls are younger, and it-s not so hard to get them out of high school, but many of the boys are in college, and you lose a lot when you're out a week," Gambril said.

SECOND, THIRD

Claudia Kolb of Santa Clara paced second and Patty Caretto of Whittier, Calif., third in the 800-meters with clockings of 10:02.3 and 10:03.4, respectively.

Ten minutes earlier, Claudia won a bronze with her 1:07.6 in the 100-meter butterfly, trailing Eleanor Daniel of Elkins Park, Pa., 1:06.6.

Kendis Moore of Phoenix, Ariz., timed in 1:11.2, got second in the backstroke. "I don't feel great yet, but a couple of more days and I'll be okay," she said after the race.

And next year, will the conditioning and times be better?

"They'll be better, all right, because we'll be pointing for this Olympics and gauge our season accordingly," said Gambril. "But as for records, there's no doubt the altitude affects swimmers. There will be records broken, but only in the shorter sprints and relays."

Competition To Get Rougher For Seals

DETROIT (AP) — The California Seals, defeated 4-1 by the Pittsburgh Penguins in a rough contest last night, meet the Detroit Red Wings tonight.

Detroit holds fourth place in the National Hockey League's Eastern Division and the Seals the same spot in the West.

Billy Hicke banged in a rebound on a power play in the second period for California's only score as the Seals took their third defeat against two wins and a tie.

Pat McDonald scored two Pittsburgh goals and Val Fonteyene and Billy Dea hit for the others. The game was tied at 1-1 until late in the second period.

First period—1, Pittsburgh, McDonald 2 (Ingarfield) 8:30. Penalties—Lemieux 2:44, McCallum 5:28, R. Harris, 7:50; McCreary 7:50, Bovin 13:09, Ehman 13:45, Douglas 14:24, Speer 17:95.

Second period—2, California, Hicke 4 (B. Harris) 3:33. 3, Pittsburgh, Fonteye 1 (Ubriaco) 14:59. Penalties—Douglas :41; Andrea 2:02; Boehm, 8:03; Bovin 8:03; Sperr 8:47; McCallum 10:56; Cahan, 13:21; Bovin 13:21.

Third period—4, Pittsburgh, McDonald 3 (Bathgate, Andrea) 12:53. 5, Pittsburgh, Dea 2 (unassisted) 14:40. Penalties—McDonald :44; Boyer 1:01.

'New Punt Rule Adds Excitement'

ATHENS, Ga. (AP) — Vince Dooley says the new rule on punt returns has "put a little more excitement in the game," and the Georgia football coach ought to know.

"I imagine we have been hurt by it more than anybody else," Dooley added, "and sometimes it is a cheap way to get a touchdown.

"But punts have become exciting plays now, and the rule changes have livened up the game."

SOME HURT

Clemson's Frank Liberatore returned a punt 52 yards for a touchdown against Georgia, and the Bulldogs were hurt in their only loss of the year when Mississippi returned punts to the Georgia 15 and 6 yard lines.

"It's rather ironic, because I was one of the few coaches who felt we ought to give the new rule a chance," Dooley said. "And I still do.

"To my knowledge, it hasn't caused a lot of injuries like some said it would, and I believe the fans probably like it."

Dooley said that he believes Georgia is better prepared now to stop punt runbacks, and he added that his sixth-ranked Bulldogs had better be ready when they play at Kentucky Saturday night.

RETURN MAN

"Kentucky's Dicky Lyons is the greatest I've ever seen at returning kicks," Dooley said. "He's not terribly fast, but he has the moves, and the knack of going in the right direction."

Dooley pointed out that Lyons returned a kickoff from his end zone to the 50 against Louisiana State last Saturday "in an absolutely unbelievable run," and late in the game returned a kickoff 95 yards for a touchdown.

"It's probably my fault what we haven't utilized the rule as well as some of the others," Dooley said. "But as long as it makes the game more exiting and doesn't increase injuries, I think we ought to study it a full season before we decide whether to keep it."

THOMSON INCREASES LEAD IN AUSSIE GOLF

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP) — Former British Open champion Peter Thomson increased his lead to six strokes by firing his second straight 69 today in the Australian Open Golf Championship.

The second round was marked by the withdrawal of slumping Bruce Devlin (77-80), and by a fit of temper on the part of U.S. touring pro Bert Yancey who bent a six-iron over his knee.

Yancey, who had a 77 yesterday, was playing par golf until he came to the 11th hole and sent his approach shot to the back of the green. That's when he bent his club.

Tough Foes Ahead For 49er Collett

REDWOOD CITY (UPI) — Young Elmer Collett is on the spot for the next two weeks as the San Francisco 49ers try to prove their 5-1 record so far is no fluke.

Collett, Mill Valley man who starred at Tamalpais High, College of Marin and San Francisco State, is replacing all-pro guard John Thomas, out for the season with injuries to both knees.

While the running attack seemed to fall off a bit without Thomas last Sunday, Collett and his mates in the offensive line did a good job protecting passer John Brodie.

This week the 240-pound Collett faces a tiger in Detroit's Jerry Rush. The Lions were so high on this 270-pounder they were willing to trade off the great Roger Brown to Los Angeles. Collett will be an expert on the merits of that deal because he has to take on Brown the following Sunday.

Meanwhile, John David Crow was named San Francisco's offensive player of the week for his work in the 27-13 win over New Orleans. He was about the only running back to stay healthy through the whole contest, which made it quite a workout for the veteran. Ed Beard was voted best defender and speedster Doug Cunningham the top special team member.

NOT BRIGHT

The injury report for the Prospectors is not bright, but it is not too disastrous either considering the number of men who limped or were helped off the field against New Orleans.

Only special team beck Wayne Swinford is definitely out with a knee injury that could finish him off for the year. Defensive tackle Charley Krueger is a doubtful participant and won't start.

Penalties Imposed By NCAA

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The National Collegiate Athletic Association Council, governing body of the NCAA, has issued new rulings affecting several schools — including Nebraska, Mississippi State, Michigan State, Purdue and Bradley.

The council at its meeting yesterday barred the Mississippi State basketball team from postseason championship competition through 1969 for recruting and financial violations.

Nebraska was given a reprimand and censure for being involved in paymentf $600 for repairs to an auto of a prospective student-athlete.

The council said the youth was given the money by his employers, who are identified as having Nebraska athletic interests.

MILDEST

The penalty is the mildest possible. Nebraska is not barred from any kind of competition.

The council restored Michigan State, Purdue and Bradley to good standing. They had been on probation for infractions.

Michigan State had been put on probation in November 1964 for improper recruiting practices.

Purdue had been on probation since October 1966 for recruiting irregularities, and Bradley since last year for giving improper financial aid.

Mississippi State, of the Southeastern Conference, was criticized by the SEC last August for what it called "the gross negligence or laxity on the part of Mississippi State basketball coaches.

FREE RIDE

The council said Mississippi State provided two high school athletes, who were on campus to take entrance exams, free air transportation from Starkville, Miss., to the site of an all-star high school basketball game in which the two were to play.

It said Mississippi State also was guilty of permitting two prospective recruits to participate in a basketball workout, and did not provide a student-athlete with a written statement detailing the amount, duration, conditions and terms of an athletic scholarship.

The council noted that Mississippi State has since reorganized its athletic department and revised its administrative procedures. It added that excellent cooperation had been given the NCAA and the infractions committee.

On the Balcony's time for six furlongs was 1:10 2-5. On The Balcony paid $12.00, $6.00, and $3.00. Army Bomber returned $4.00 and $3.00, and Joe Jean $2.40.

Fireworks On Tap For Oakland A's

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI)— This city's baseball fans recalled today with nostalgic amusement the many gay innovations created for Municipal Stadium by Charles O. Finley on hearing of his latest contribution to major league baseball, the "exploding scoreboard."

It probably was incredible to some, but Kansas City fans believe it.

Fancy Finley, as he is often referred to by many of this city's fans, reported to Chicago yesterday he will install the scoreboard in the stadium housing the Oakland Athletics. He was recently permitted by the American League to move the Athletics to Oakland.

After his sparkling announcement, the Chicago insurance man-baseball club owner was asked what the exploding scoreboard will do.

NO TELLING

"No telling what it will do," said Finley.

Asked why it will be installed, he replied:

Among these unique items was a toy rabbit named Harvey who, attired in an A's uniform, popped out of the ground near home plate and handed the umpire a pawful of baseballs.

And on a grassy hill in the outfield, there was a calm scene to quiet the energetic Athletics. A shepherd attended a few slow grazing goats.

EVEN A ZOO

For a time, there was a zoo at the ball park, replete with monkeys and pretty birds in cages.

Some of the tropical species were nearly as colorful as the gayly attired Kansas City baseball players, who sported green and gold uniforms and white shoes made of what Finley said was albino kangaroo leather, fresh from Australia.

A few years ago, before city officials prohibited it, fireworks brightened the sky over Kansas City whenever the A's got a home run, which was seldom. However, it was often enough to cause explosive protests from residents near the stadium.

Another Finley extra for the fans was Charlie O, a genuine Missouri mule as mascot. Charlie O, the mule, traveled with the club and was displayed for a time in hotel lobbies in league cities. But Charlie O, the mule, committed too many social errors and was barred from several hotels.

RUNNING FEUD

Finley also provided fireworks of another nature—a running feud with city officials over rent and attendance, etc.

Back to the exploding scoreboard. Finley was asked if he was thinking of scaring opposing pitchers.

"Definitely. We'll set a match to the thing only when we hit home runs, not when they hit them."

Finley commented he felt "tremendous" about the move from Kansas City, adding, "I never felt better in my life." His Oakland scoreboard probably will endure. If used only when the Athletics hit home runs—which was rare in Kansas City — it should last.

Oakland Oaks Host Indiana

OAKLAND (UPI) — The Oakland Oaks have the job of cooling off the Indiana Pacers tonight when the midwestern American Basketball Association club brings a 5-0 record to the Coliseum.

"We've got to make some changes in our game plan," says Coach Bruce Hale, whose Oaks now are 2-1. "Indiana is a quick team, much like ours, but they're bigger and really climb the boards."

Hale watched the Pacers down Dallas, 121-101 Sunday. He said that Indiana's Roger Brown could be a great star in the ABA.

PREP NOTES

Year For Zeros In Grid League

By GARY TISCHLER

If anybody had told me that I would go to two Marin County Athletic League football games in one day and see nary a touchdown, I would have thought they were soccer fans or something.

But it did happen Saturday. The fact that it was overcast or drizzling should have been a warning. But there it was. San Rafael 0, Novato 0; Drake 2, Terra Linda 0. For all intents and purposes, a couple of scoreless ties.

Now I know why the scoreboard didn't work the Saturday afternoon of the Drake-San Rafael game. No faith, even though San Rafael did score a phenomenal three times.

ALTHOUGH SATURDAY was, to put it mildly, unusual, it was indicative of an MCAL trend. Both in league and practice games, the losing opposition has managed more than one touchdown only five times in 27 games. There have been ten shutouts, and 12 games in which the loser scored only once. In league play, it's even worse. There have been six shutouts in nine league games. Last Friday's 19-13 victory by Redwood over Tamalpais was almost an embarrassment of riches, by normal standards.

Interesting note is that Tamalpais, potentially the league's most explosive offensive team, and statistically the top offensive team, is a dead last in the standings.

THE REAL HERO of Drake's 2-0 victory over Terra Linda may have been a foot.

At least Don Lucas, Terra Linda head coach, feels that Drake punter Glenn Corbett's foot had something to do with keeping the Trojans off balance offensively.

"That boy kept us in a hole all night," he said. "They'd get a few first downs and then he'd punt us in a hole."

Rod Powell, perhaps the best linebacker in the MCAL, did not play against Drake, and won't see action against Tamalpais, because of an arm injury. Speedy halfback Ken Murray hasn't been in action since suffering a concussion against Redwood and won't see action for the rest of the season. And the Trojans are loaded with question marks, including guards Pete Weekley (shoulder), linebacker Don Larsen (shoulder and tackle Greg Barker (shoulder). And ace halfback Keith Stirling is slowed by a sore ankle.

"Other than that," Lucas said glumly, "we're okay. Our third and fourth string are fine, I think."

PLAYS OF THE WEEK (in addition to Don Alvarado's superhuman running): Bruce Kilby mountain-climbing over three Drake pass defenders to bat down a Don Stone pass, not once but three times.

Most recently he scored three touchdowns in Redwood's win over Tamalpais, one short of the school scoring record held by teammate Larry Blackwell, who romped for four TDs against Galileo.

His teammates call him the Chicago Bull. He hails from Chicago and the bull bit is self-explanatory for the 205-pound ramrod.

REMEMBER Bill Joost, last year's all-MCAL quarterback from San Rafael High?

He's still at it.

Joost, a freshman varsity started at Pomona College in Southern California, sparked an 80-yard drive with six straight pass completions, the last two for a touchdown and a two-point pass conversion to give his team a 28-27 come-from-behind win over Redlands last week.

Pomona is joost lucky, I guess.

Fatal Stop At Tulare Lake For Thousands Of Ducks

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—For thousands of waterfowl moving south through the Pacific Flyway each winter, the Tulare Lake basin in Kings and Kern counties provides an attractive resting place.

For thousands, it is a fatal stop.

The sprawling, marshy bottomland is taking its toll in ducks again this year in a grim natural phenomenon that occurs with agonizing regularity.

The basin has a long, deadly history. It probably has killed millions of ducks in the last three decades and there apparently is no real prospect for halting the die-offs.

The killer of Tulare Lake basin is Western Duck Disease, Botulism—Clostridium Botulinum, Type C, a fatal, highly contagious bacteria which produces a toxic poison in warm, standing water.

Five square miles of water stands idle this year in the Kings County end of the basin south of Corcoran. Thousands of birds are stacked three to five feet high along a three-mile levee at the southern edge of Kings County.

State game warden Jerry Perkins and other Department of Fish and Game and U.S. Wildlife Service personnel are fighting a grim battle in the deadly water.

They are picking up about 1,000 dead and near-dead birds a day in the marsh, burning the carcasses and putting those still living into clear water of nearby Kern Waterfowl Refuge.

"The situation is critical," says Perkins. Crews already have disposed of 5,000 dead birds and the toll continues to climb. "The next few days will tell how many birds we can salvage."

Fish and Wildlife, with two airboats, and Fish and Game, with a boat of its own, race across the water trying to herd the ducks out of the area.

But that, too, is something of a losing battle.

"The area of water is so vast they just move them from one side to another," one spokesman dismayed. "But the best you can do is attempt to mitigate it by trying to keep them out of the area."

George Bayer Leads Sahara Invitational

Palmer's problem.

He was not only 10 strokes back of Bayer with a 76 yesterday, but there were almost as many people as Arnie's Army crowded in between the leaders and Mr. P.

MAGIC

Palmer, however, is a man of considerable magic. A year ago he had a first-round 71 and skied to an 80 the next afternoon.

Yet he charged back with a pair of 67s and his 285 gave him a tie for second place.

Bayer shot seven birdies and two bogeys for 34-32—66 and did it with a swollen left little finger, recently injured in an accident, and no tournament action since the Greensboro Open last April. He led off with seven straight fours, followed by five successive threes.

SIX TIED

Tied at 67 were Ken Still Terry Dill, Frank Beard, Julius Boros, Bo Wininger and Homer Blancas.

With Nicklaus at 68 were Bob Goalby, Gardner Dickinson, Butch Baird and Joe Carr.

Palmer went three over par on the first three holes and never recouped his fortunes with his 39-37—76 round.

Nicklaus finished his round with six straight one-putt greens for 36 - 32 — 68. Wininger concluded with three straight birdies and Dill lost a chance to tie or go ahead with a bogey five on the 18th hole.

More Honors For Giants' Pitcher Mike McCormick

COMBINED AP & UPI

NEW YORK — Mike McCormick of the San Francisco Giants was named the major league's comeback player of the year today by United Press International.

The southpaw pitcher who won 22 games for the Giants already been named comeback player of the year by the Associated Press in an earlier poll.

GOLF

PINEHURST, N.J. — Mrs. L. W. Smead of Orchard Lake, Mich., took the first-round lead in the Pinehurst Women's North and South Seniors Golf Championship with a 77.

MELBOURNE, Australia — Veteran Peter Thomson of Australia shot a four-under-par 69 in grabbing the first-round lead in the Australian Open.

BASEBALL

TOKYO—The Hankyu Braves won the fifth game of the Japanese World Series over the Tokyo Yomiuri Giants 6-3 yesterday. The Giants' lead in the best-of-seven series was cut to 3-2.

FOOTBALL

AUTO RACING

ROCKINGHAM, N.C. — David Pearson averaged 117 miles per hour in a 1967 Ford to win the pole position in Sunday's American Stock Car Race.

GENERAL

Long, Long Game

NEW YORK (UPI) — Timewise, the longest major league baseball game was the June 12-13, 1967, contest when the Washington Senators defeated the Chicago White Sox, 6-5, in a 22-inning marathon that lasted six hours and 38 minutes.

Last Raider Tickets Go On Sale

OAKLAND (UPI) — The Oakland Raiders will be in good shape physically and financially when they host San Diego Sunday.

General Manager Scotty Stirling announced that the last 5,000 tickets went on sale today.

And Coach Johnny Rauch said that fullback Hewritt Dixon, who sat out last Sunday's game with a bruised shoulder, will be back in action. Even though he missed the game, Dixon still leads the American Football League with 32 pass receptions.

Only Oakland linebacker Bill Fairbrand, who mainly plays on the special teams, will probably miss the game because of strained ligaments.

San Diego meanwhile has announced that guard Walt Sweeney is doubtful because of a knee injury. He's the one who usually leads the running plays.

Key men for the Raiders, who bring in a 5-1 record, may be corner backs Kent McCloughan and Willie Brown, who have to handle speedy Charger receivers Lance Alsworth and Gary Garrison.

McCloughan yesterday commented on how tough it was to guard Alsworth.

"You just have to keep varying your technique to try to keep him guessing," said McCloughan. "YOU can't really hope to stop him completely."

PREP NOTES

Year For Zeros In Grid League

By GARY TISCHLER

If anybody had told me that I would go to two Marin County Athletic League football games in one day and see nary a touchdown, I would have thought they were soccer fans or something.

But it did happen Saturday. The fact that it was overcast or drizzling should have been a warning. But there it was. San Rafael 0, Novato 0; Drake 2, Terra Linda 0. For all intents and purposes, a couple of scoreless ties.

Now I know why the scoreboard didn't work the Saturday afternoon of the Drake-San Rafael game. No faith, even though San Rafael did score a phenomenal three times.

ALTHOUGH SATURDAY was, to put it mildly, unusual, it was indicative of an MCAL trend. Both in league and practice games, the losing opposition has managed more than one touchdown only five times in 27 games. There have been ten shutouts, and 12 games in which the loser scored only once. In league play, it's even worse. There have been six shutouts in nine league games. Last Friday's 19-13 victory by Redwood over Tamalpais was almost an embarrassment of riches, by normal standards.

Interesting note is that Tamalpais, potentially the league's most explosive offensive team, and statistically the top offensive team, is a dead last in the standings.

THE REAL HERO of Drake's 2-0 victory over Terra Linda may have been a foot.

At least Don Lucas, Terra Linda head coach, feels that Drake punter Glenn Corbett's foot had something to do with keeping the Trojans off balance offensively.

"That boy kept us in a hole all night," he said. "They'd get a few first downs and then he'd punt us in a hole."

Rod Powell, perhaps the best linebacker in the MCAL, did not play against Drake, and won't see action against Tamalpais, because of an arm injury. Speedy halfback Ken Murray hasn't been in action since suffering a concussion against Redwood and won't see action for the rest of the season. And the Trojans are loaded with question marks, including guards Pete Weekley (shoulder), linebacker Don Larsen (shoulder and tackle Greg Barker (shoulder). And ace halfback Keith Stirling is slowed by a sore ankle.

"Other than that," Lucas said glumly, "we're okay. Our third and fourth string are fine, I think."

PLAYS OF THE WEEK (in addition to Don Alvarado's superhuman running): Bruce Kilby mountain-climbing over three Drake pass defenders to bat down a Don Stone pass, not once but three times.

Most recently he scored three touchdowns in Redwood's win over Tamalpais, one short of the school scoring record held by teammate Larry Blackwell, who romped for four TDs against Galileo.

His teammates call him the Chicago Bull. He hails from Chicago and the bull bit is self-explanatory for the 205-pound ramrod.

REMEMBER Bill Joost, last year's all-MCAL quarterback from San Rafael High?

He's still at it.

Joost, a freshman varsity started at Pomona College in Southern California, sparked an 80-yard drive with six straight pass completions, the last two for a touchdown and a two-point pass conversion to give his team a 28-27 come-from-behind win over Redlands last week.

Pomona is joost lucky, I guess.

Fatal Stop At Tulare Lake For Thousands Of Ducks

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—For thousands of waterfowl moving south through the Pacific Flyway each winter, the Tulare Lake basin in Kings and Kern counties provides an attractive resting place.

For thousands, it is a fatal stop.

The sprawling, marshy bottomland is taking its toll in ducks again this year in a grim natural phenomenon that occurs with agonizing regularity.

The basin has a long, deadly history. It probably has killed millions of ducks in the last three decades and there apparently is no real prospect for halting the die-offs.

The killer of Tulare Lake basin is Western Duck Disease, Botulism—Clostridium Botulinum, Type C, a fatal, highly contagious bacteria which produces a toxic poison in warm, standing water.

Five square miles of water stands idle this year in the Kings County end of the basin south of Corcoran. Thousands of birds are stacked three to five feet high along a three-mile levee at the southern edge of Kings County.

State game warden Jerry Perkins and other Department of Fish and Game and U.S. Wildlife Service personnel are fighting a grim battle in the deadly water.

They are picking up about 1,000 dead and near-dead birds a day in the marsh, burning the carcasses and putting those still living into clear water of nearby Kern Waterfowl Refuge.

"The situation is critical," says Perkins. Crews already have disposed of 5,000 dead birds and the toll continues to climb. "The next few days will tell how many birds we can salvage."

Fish and Wildlife, with two airboats, and Fish and Game, with a boat of its own, race across the water trying to herd the ducks out of the area.

But that, too, is something of a losing battle.

"The area of water is so vast they just move them from one side to another," one spokesman dismayed. "But the best you can do is attempt to mitigate it by trying to keep them out of the area."

Redwood Cagers Win

Palmer's problem.

He was not only 10 strokes back of Bayer with a 76 yesterday, but there were almost as many people as Arnie's Army crowded in between the leaders and Mr. P.

MAGIC

Palmer, however, is a man of considerable magic. A year ago he had a first-round 71 and skied to an 80 the next afternoon.

Yet he charged back with a pair of 67s and his 285 gave him a tie for second place.

Bayer shot seven birdies and two bogeys for 34-32—66 and did it with a swollen left little finger, recently injured in an accident, and no tournament action since the Greensboro Open last April. He led off with seven straight fours, followed by five successive threes.

SIX TIED

Tied at 67 were Ken Still Terry Dill, Frank Beard, Julius Boros, Bo Wininger and Homer Blancas.

Palmer went three over par on the first three holes and never recouped his fortunes with his 39-37—76 round.

Nicklaus finished his round with six straight one-putt greens for 36 - 32 — 68. Wininger concluded with three straight birdies and Dill lost a chance to tie or go ahead with a bogey five on the 18th hole.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — California heavyweight contender Jerry Quarry was a tike of five when Floyd Patterson began fighting 17 years ago, and Jerry is the first to concede he was pretty awed when he first faced the former two-time champion in the ring last June.

"When I got into the ring in the Coliseum and looked across and saw Patterson, 22-year-old Jerry says, "the first thing I thought was what was I doing there."

The pair proceeded to put on a rousing 10-round fight that ended in a draw after both had hit the canvas in separate rounds, and Saturday afternoon they'll do it again in a rematch at 12 rounds.

The match, one of a series of eliminations to name a fill-in titleholder in the absence of the real champion, Cassius Clay, will be nationally televised via ABC starting at 3 p.m. PDT.

Patterson, 10 years Jerry's senior, has been favored in pre-fight speculation but they will probably be "take your pick" at ringside in the Olympic Auditorium.

Banker Tops San Rafael Keglers With 642 Series

Bob Lollick, vice president at Crocker-Citizens Bank in San Rafael, brough home high scoring honors for the past week of league bowling at Country Club Bowl in San Rafael.

Lollick, a 171 average bowler, hit his average right on the nose in one of three games in the 670 Scratch League. But he went way over in the other two, 257 and 214 for a rousing 642 series. His 257 line was also the week's high, with Rich Curry of San Rafael next at 244 in the 900 Classic.

Fran Vieites of San Anselmo led the women's scores with 212-595 in the Ladies 600 Travel. Fay Scott and Rosalie Sloan had high games, each with a 214.

John Kenney again led the juniors, rolling a 202-559.

Salmon, Steelhead Fishing Good If You're At The Right Spot

STEVENS

Do you know where the Yolla Bollys are? I didn't until I received an advance proof of a very interesting article by Bob Behme to appear in the November issue of Field and Stream magazine.

Then I learned that this mountain range was in Tehama County — a tough-to-negotiate bit of terrain seldom visited by man, and not for at least 20 years by hunters.

The article features a horseback-foot hike to gain a spot from which to shoot bears and other big game, including some big-antlered deer. It is an interesting article and makes good reading.

AT THE PRESENT, the status quo of fishing for salmon in the ocean and in inland streams has not changed materially. Salmon and steelhead are running rampant in the middle and upper reaches of the Sacramento River, on the Trinity upsteam to the confluence of the Klamath and in the Happy Camp area of the Klamath. Salmon have been taken from the "line" at the mouth of the Klamath River, and steelhead upstream.

Regarding salmon trolling outside the Golden Gate, Betty Urbais of the Sausalito Boat and Tackle Company phoned me to report the average take has been low in quantity but high in quality. The New Merimac, with 10 rods working, boated 14 salmon to 30 pounds. A 38 pounder was taken by Chris Williams, from aboard the Annabelle.

MOST SALMON boats were scattered along the north side of the Gate. The Blue Horizon, reported Betty Urbais, had an ultra successful trip after rock cod, 21 limits of assorted rockfish (420 fish) and 9 lings to 27 pounds. The above was the score for Saturday. On Sunday the salmon catch averaged out about the same. The Blue Horizon which fishes for rockfish on Saturdays, goes after salmon on Sundays. She came to port with nine salmon for eight anglers; the New Merimac landed an even dozen salmon to 31 pounds.

Carl Bennett of the Rodeo Marina called on Tuesday to report striper striving spotty for the most part, a fair number were taken but from scattered locales. One chap will have a tall, true tale to tell for years to come; Ray Cerulla landed a striper weighing 53 pounds (Hope he registered it with the Southern Marin Kiwanis Derby, might be a winner). A 22 pound bass was landed by James Bagget the same day.

"STURGEON FISHING has slowed down to a walk," said Carl. Perhaps because 90 per cent of the anglers are using bullhead bait and not the grass shrimp. Some fish have been taken by the trollers of hardware. Hottest spot seems to have been on the Hercules Flats in about 12-15 feet of water, with a light sinker or no sinker at all.

Steelers Trade Keys

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Brady Keys, who played in the Pro Bowl last year, has been traded by the Pittsburgh Steelers after Coach Bill Austin called him the goat in two straight last-minute defeats.

Keys, a seven-year veteran, went to the Minnesota Vikings yesterday for a pair of draft choices.

Though Austin didn't say it at the time, Keys' career in Pittsburgh ended Sunday when the Steelers lost to the Dallas Cowboys 24-21 in the last half-minute A week earlier, New York beat Pittsburgh 27-24 on a 59-yard pass in the final two minutes.

"Everybody played well and it's a shame one guy had to mess it up," Austin told newsmen after the Dallas game. "It was the same guy two weeks in a row."

He never identified Keys, a defensive back, but it wasn't necessary.

Said a teammate:

"We knew who he meant. We all make mistakes but with this guy it's getting to be a habit."

Team Agrees To Take Cut

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —Members of the Sacramento Buccaneers have agreed to accept a $75-a-game salary cut and to play their next scheduled Continental League football game.

The players had threatened to walkout unless they were paid for their last two games. Most of the players receive $100-a-game.

Gene Frost, secretary-treasurer, yesterday asked the men to accept $25 a game. He said the team was having difficulty obtaining investors and had been refused a $20,000 loan by a Sacramento bank.

A smaller loan had been obtained, he said.

Six 49ers May Be Free Agents In '68

This week marks the midway mark of the 1967 pro football season and six 49ers still haven't signed contracts — George Mira, Dave Parks, Dave Kopay, Roland Lakes, Len Rohde and Dick Witcher.

Salary differences between the 49er management and the unhappy half dozen are the primary reason for the holdouts except in Mira's case. Mira announced he is playing out his option to become a free agent.

It isn't precisely correct to say Mira is "playing out" his option because his knees were damaged in the first game of the season at Minneapolis when he appeared briefly in the fourth quarter against the Vikings. He has been "sitting out" his option on the injured list.

NEVERTHELESS, Mira, now in his fourth year of pro football, wants to see more action than as John Brodie's backup quarterback. So he frankly stated he is working out his option with the 49ers.

Parks, Kopay, Lakes, Rohde and Witcher haven't mentioned the fact that they, too, in effect are playing out their options by not signing 1967 contracts. They could reach agreement with the 49er front office on formal contracts before the season ends.

WHAT HAPPENS IF all six establish free agent status? Will the 49ers lose all rights to the players? Legally, the 49ers will have no contractual claim on them. However, the 49ers will receive substantial consideration from any National Football League team signing the players as free agents.

NFL owners, reluctant to raid each other's personnel and recognizing they have player option problems of their own, reached a gentlemen's agreement in such free agent cases several years ago.

THIS AGREEMENT among owners in no way infringes the free bargaining rights of the player once he has established his free agent status. At least, that's the legal reasoning. If one owner wants to reimburse the former employer of a free agent, such generosity doesn't affect the free agent.

When Jim Taylor played out his option at Green Bay last season and signed this year as a free agent with the New Orleans Saints, the Saints gave Green Bay a couple of draft choices. Vince Lombardi announced he had traded Taylor to New Orleans but, as a lawyer, Lombardi knows that technically was not exactly correct. Green Bay had no legal claim on Taylor's future services once the option expired.

HOWEVER, THE Saints did reimburse the packers. Lombardi never announced the draft choices he received. One of them probably was New Orleans' No. 1 pick in the next draft. If the Saints, now 0-6, continue their winless ways they are going to have first choice in the upcoming draft — or, more accurately, Green Bay will have it.

It isn't difficult to pinpoint the man the Packers will pick with their No. 1 choice obtained from New Orleans. It will be O.J. Simpson of USC. Not a bad swap of an expired option by Lombardi.

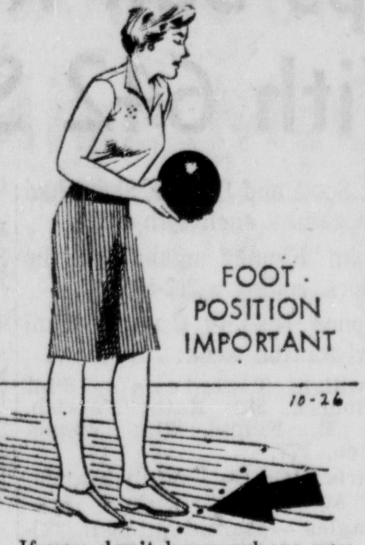
BOWLING TIPS

By MARION LADEWIG



If you don't know where you stand, you probably don't stand very high on the league average list. Always note the location of your feet before starting your delivery. Unless you do, your starting point may vary by as much as a couple of inches — inches that are magnified many times by the time the ball reaches the pins.

FIGHTS LAST NIGHT

WASIHNGTON — Bobby Foster, 178, Washington, knocked out Levan Roundtree, 178, New York, 8.

Hadl Named AFL Player Of Week

NEW YORK (AP) — San Diego's John Hadl, who weathered a wobbly start last Sunday and bombarded Denver with touchdown passes, has been selected the American Football League Offensive Player of the Week by The Associated Press.

The San Diego quarterback, a six-year AFL veteran, had two of his first three passes intercepted by the Broncos, who turned one of the thefts into a touchdown.

Thereafter, Hadl picked apart the Bronco defense, in leading the unbeaten Chargers to a 38-21 runaway victory. He passed 67 yards to Lance Alworth for one touchdown, 66 yards to Dick Post for another and five yards to Willie Frazier for a third.

Over-all, Hadl connected on 15 of 34 attempts for 345 yards and moved into the No. 2 spot among AFL passing leaders. He has hit on 52.6 per cent of his passes for 13 TDs and a league-leading 1,638 yards.

Salmon, Steelhead Fishing Good If You're At The Right Spot

STEVENS

Do you know where the Yolla Bollys are? I didn't until I received an advance proof of a very interesting article by Bob Behme to appear in the November issue of Field and Stream magazine.

Then I learned that this mountain range was in Tehama County — a tough-to-negotiate bit of terrain seldom visited by man, and not for at least 20 years by hunters.

The article features a horseback-foot hike to gain a spot from which to shoot bears and other big game, including some big-antlered deer. It is an interesting article and makes good reading.

AT THE PRESENT, the status quo of fishing for salmon in the ocean and in inland streams has not changed materially. Salmon and steelhead are running rampant in the middle and upper reaches of the Sacramento River, on the Trinity upsteam to the confluence of the Klamath and in the Happy Camp area of the Klamath. Salmon have been taken from the "line" at the mouth of the Klamath River, and steelhead upstream.

Regarding salmon trolling outside the Golden Gate, Betty Urbais of the Sausalito Boat and Tackle Company phoned me to report the average take has been low in quantity but high in quality. The New Merimac, with 10 rods working, boated 14 salmon to 30 pounds. A 38 pounder was taken by Chris Williams, from aboard the Annabelle.

MOST SALMON boats were scattered along the north side of the Gate. The Blue Horizon, reported Betty Urbais, had an ultra successful trip after rock cod, 21 limits of assorted rockfish (420 fish) and 9 lings to 27 pounds. The above was the score for Saturday. On Sunday the salmon catch averaged out about the same. The Blue Horizon which fishes for rockfish on Saturdays, goes after salmon on Sundays. She came to port with nine salmon for eight anglers; the New Merimac landed an even dozen salmon to 31 pounds.

Carl Bennett of the Rodeo Marina called on Tuesday to report striper striving spotty for the most part, a fair number were taken but from scattered locales. One chap will have a tall, true tale to tell for years to come; Ray Cerulla landed a striper weighing 53 pounds (Hope he registered it with the Southern Marin Kiwanis Derby, might be a winner). A 22 pound bass was landed by James Bagget the same day.

"STURGEON FISHING has slowed down to a walk," said Carl. Perhaps because 90 per cent of the anglers are using bullhead bait and not the grass shrimp. Some fish have been taken by the trollers of hardware. Hottest spot seems to have been on the Hercules Flats in about 12-15 feet of water, with a light sinker or no sinker at all.

Steelers Trade Keys

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Brady Keys, who played in the Pro Bowl last year, has been traded by the Pittsburgh Steelers after Coach Bill Austin called him the goat in two straight last-minute defeats.

Keys, a seven-year veteran, went to the Minnesota Vikings yesterday for a pair of draft choices.

Though Austin didn't say it at the time, Keys' career in Pittsburgh ended Sunday when the Steelers lost to the Dallas Cowboys 24-21 in the last half-minute A week earlier, New York beat Pittsburgh 27-24 on a 59-yard pass in the final two minutes.

"Everybody played well and it's a shame one guy had to mess it up," Austin told newsmen after the Dallas game. "It was the same guy two weeks in a row."

He never identified Keys, a defensive back, but it wasn't necessary.

Said a teammate:

"We knew who he meant. We all make mistakes but with this guy it's getting to be a habit."

San Rafael Wins

Team Agrees To Take Cut

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —Members of the Sacramento Buccaneers have agreed to accept a $75-a-game salary cut and to play their next scheduled Continental League football game.

The players had threatened to walkout unless they were paid for their last two games. Most of the players receive $100-a-game.

Gene Frost, secretary-treasurer, yesterday asked the men to accept $25 a game. He said the team was having difficulty obtaining investors and had been refused a $20,000 loan by a Sacramento bank.

A smaller loan had been obtained, he said.

Six 49ers May Be Free Agents In '68

This week marks the midway mark of the 1967 pro football season and six 49ers still haven't signed contracts — George Mira, Dave Parks, Dave Kopay, Roland Lakes, Len Rohde and Dick Witcher.

Salary differences between the 49er management and the unhappy half dozen are the primary reason for the holdouts except in Mira's case. Mira announced he is playing out his option to become a free agent.

It isn't precisely correct to say Mira is "playing out" his option because his knees were damaged in the first game of the season at Minneapolis when he appeared briefly in the fourth quarter against the Vikings. He has been "sitting out" his option on the injured list.

NEVERTHELESS, Mira, now in his fourth year of pro football, wants to see more action than as John Brodie's backup quarterback. So he frankly stated he is working out his option with the 49ers.

Parks, Kopay, Lakes, Rohde and Witcher haven't mentioned the fact that they, too, in effect are playing out their options by not signing 1967 contracts. They could reach agreement with the 49er front office on formal contracts before the season ends.

WHAT HAPPENS IF all six establish free agent status? Will the 49ers lose all rights to the players? Legally, the 49ers will have no contractual claim on them. However, the 49ers will receive substantial consideration from any National Football League team signing the players as free agents.

NFL owners, reluctant to raid each other's personnel and recognizing they have player option problems of their own, reached a gentlemen's agreement in such free agent cases several years ago.

THIS AGREEMENT among owners in no way infringes the free bargaining rights of the player once he has established his free agent status. At least, that's the legal reasoning. If one owner wants to reimburse the former employer of a free agent, such generosity doesn't affect the free agent.

When Jim Taylor played out his option at Green Bay last season and signed this year as a free agent with the New Orleans Saints, the Saints gave Green Bay a couple of draft choices. Vince Lombardi announced he had traded Taylor to New Orleans but, as a lawyer, Lombardi knows that technically was not exactly correct. Green Bay had no legal claim on Taylor's future services once the option expired.

HOWEVER, THE Saints did reimburse the packers. Lombardi never announced the draft choices he received. One of them probably was New Orleans' No. 1 pick in the next draft. If the Saints, now 0-6, continue their winless ways they are going to have first choice in the upcoming draft — or, more accurately, Green Bay will have it.

It isn't difficult to pinpoint the man the Packers will pick with their No. 1 choice obtained from New Orleans. It will be O.J. Simpson of USC. Not a bad swap of an expired option by Lombardi.

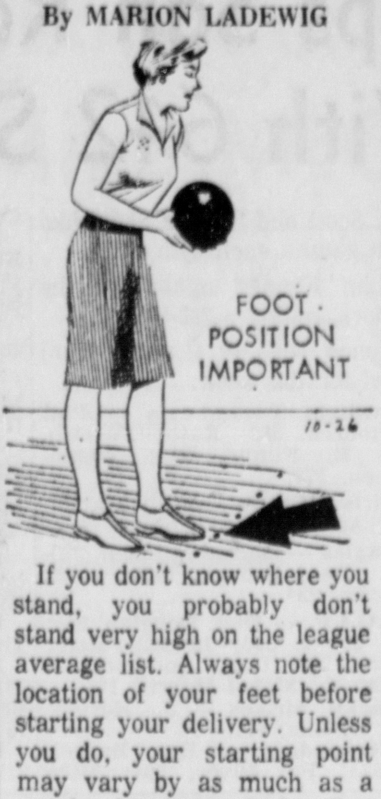
BOWLING TIPS

By MARION LADEWIG



If you don't know where you stand, you probably don't stand very high on the league average list. Always note the location of your feet before starting your delivery. Unless you do, your starting point may vary by as much as a couple of inches — inches that are magnified many times by the time the ball reaches the pins.

FIGHTS LAST NIGHT

Hadl Named AFL Player Of Week

NEW YORK (AP) — San Diego's John Hadl, who weathered a wobbly start last Sunday and bombarded Denver with touchdown passes, has been selected the American Football League Offensive Player of the Week by The Associated Press.

The San Diego quarterback, a six-year AFL veteran, had two of his first three passes intercepted by the Broncos, who turned one of the thefts into a touchdown.

Thereafter, Hadl picked apart the Bronco defense, in leading the unbeaten Chargers to a 38-21 runaway victory. He passed 67 yards to Lance Alworth for one touchdown, 66 yards to Dick Post for another and five yards to Willie Frazier for a third.

Over-all, Hadl connected on 15 of 34 attempts for 345 yards and moved into the No. 2 spot among AFL passing leaders. He has hit on 52.6 per cent of his passes for 13 TDs and a league-leading 1,638 yards.

OTHER PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

Nationally Known Innovator Opens Red Hill Drape Shop

Owner Yasha Susoev, a resident of San Anselmo, specializes in window dercoations for homes and commercial establishments. An interior decorator and manufacturer of Austrian and Roman shades for the past 12 years, he is nationally known as the originator of a special process used on Roman shades. He will continue these shade fabrications at Red Hill.

EDWARD J. GALLAGHER of San Rafael, assistant controller for the Di Giorgio Corp. in San Francisco, has become a member of the San Francisco chapter of the National Association of Accountants.

A CONFERENCE for businesswomen will be held Nov. 3 and 4 at the Fairmont Hotel, San Francisco under sponsorship of the University of California Extension.

Mary Keyserling, director of the women's bureau of the U.S. Department of Labor, will address the meeting, which is open to women in management positions. Registration fee is $75. Information may be obtained from University Extension's Berkeley campus offices.

RECENTLY RELEASED by the United States Department of Commerce is the 1967 edition of the Statistical Abstract — issued annually since 1878. It is widely used as a reference book in business offices, libraries and even homes. The new edition contains data from 104 government agencies, 103 private organizations and four international organizations. For the first time a special section of statistical information is given for major metropolitan areas.

Copies are priced at $4 and may be obtained from field offices of the U.S. Department of Commerce in major cities or from the Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, Washington, D. C., 20402.

SAN FRANCISCO'S Imported Car Show will open Tuesday, Nov. 14, for a six-day run at Brooks Hall in the Civic Center. More than 150 cars are expected to be on display fromsix foreign countries and representing 25 automobile manufacturers, including many models making their U.S. introduction.

Several are handled by Marin foreign car dealers. I understand the new twin rotary cylinder Wankel, which Henry Koch of A and E Motors, San Rafael, has been hoping to get for a demonstration here, will be on display.

A NEW LAW adopted in California is a revision of the mechanics lien law, effective Nov. 8. It will help forestall many problems for the homeowner who is building or remodeling, that were associated with the old law.

Under the old mechanics lien law, not only was the general contractor able to obtain a judgment against the property owner for his work if he was not paid, but the contractor's suppliers and subcontractors had the same privilege.

The rub to the homeowner came if the contractor failed to pay his own bills to suppliers and subcontractors. The homeowner, even if he had no knowledge of such a default, became liable for the unpaid bills.

Now, the advance publicizing of all possible lien claimants will correct this. All persons and firms contributing to the work of improvement are required to file a notice describing their services within 20 days from commencing work. The notices must go to the owner, the general contractor and to the construction lender, if there is one.

Glass Container Prices Rising

TOLEDO — Owens-Illinois, Inc., with 15 plants on the Pacific Coast, reported it is raising the prices of most of the glass containers it makes, by 5 per cent effective Dec. 1.

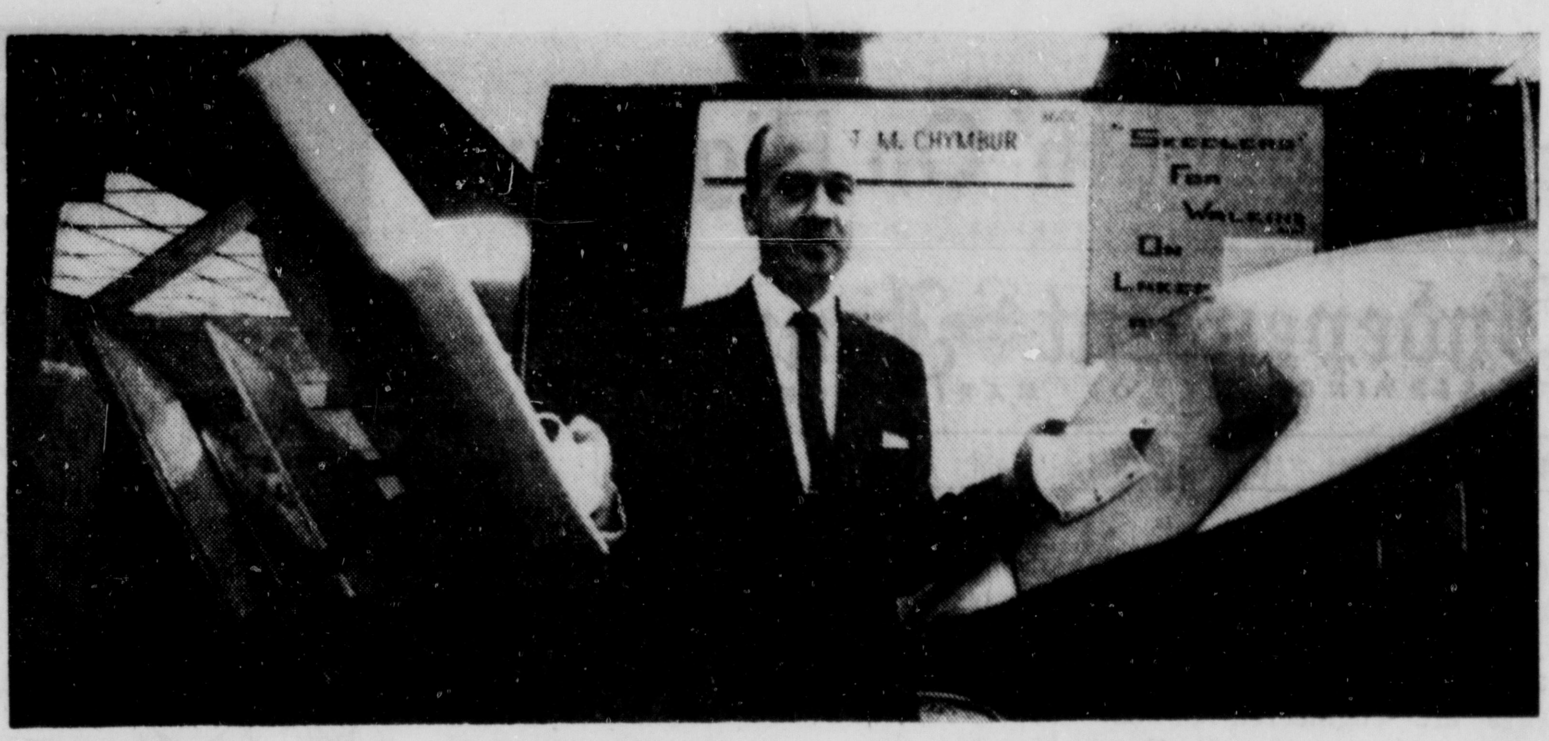
Owens-Illinois will raise its prices for beer bottles on Feb. 1, 1968, although the size of the increase has not yet been determined.



BIG FEET—Santa Monica (Los Angeles County) waiter Robert Chybur hopes to hit the big time as an inventor, with these "Skeeters" for walking on water. He showed them off at a recent inventors and new products exposition in New York City. (AP Wirephoto)

Millions Change Hands At Novel Showplace For Inventors' Ideas

NEW YORK (AP) — Robert Chymbur has a pair of shoes that are four-feet long.

They were on exhibit here recently at the third annual International Inventors and New Products Exposition. The show has drawn some 1,200 inventors from 23 countries with 15,000 products, inventions, ideas and applications, ranging from digestible safety pins made of vegetable base that dissolve if swallowed to instant splints for unexpected bone breakings.

Roger Shashoua, 27-year-old president of Patent Exhibits, Inc., of New York and originator of the exposition, estimated that 95 per cent of those participating in the show were inventors who never had invented anything before in their lives.

"They're plumbers, mailmen, carpenters, almost anything," Shashoua says, "who get an idea they think will improve things. They develop it and then they bring it here in hope of finding a manufacturer."

"At last year's show, manufacturers paid out about $8.5 million to buy various inventions and ideas," he says. "This year we're expecting the figure to hit $20 million."

Chymbur , a Santa Monica, waiter who uses his free time to invent, said he spent four years developing his water shoes. But the idea had been with him since boyhood.

Chymbur, who hopes to interest a manufacturer in his invention, said the water shoes are made of a buoyant material with louvres mounted beneath the surface to give traction "so you can slide along."

Not too far from Chymbur, Robert L. Thomas of East Point, Ga., exhibited a "personal ashtray"—a device that permits a person to smoke without having to look around for an ashtray.

The device basically is a long tube into which a cigarette is inserted after being lit. As the cigarette is consumed its ashes fall into the tube. When the smoker is done, a slide at the top of the tube is closed and the cigarette puts itself out.

The closed tube can be put into the pocket and carried about with its load of ashes until it is convenient to empty it.

A machine that will punch out three dozen cookies or doughnuts, shaped and ready for the oven, was exhibited by Charles Downing of Janesville, Wis.

"The average small baker does his shaping by hand," said Downing, a former baker. "This machine will put him in competition with the large bakeries" which use machinery.

Downing, whose "automatic baker's machine" measures four feet by four feet, said, "all a baker has to do is push this button, feed in his dough and out it comes ready for baking."

First Woman In Airlines To Bow Out

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The first woman to be employed in America's airline industry, Bernice Johnson, retires this week after more than 41 years of service with United Air Lines.

Miss Johnson started in 1926 as a secretary with Pacific Air Transport. Her last job has been with the successor company as secretary to Belford Brown, United's vice president of corporate affairs.

Back in 1926 her boss said any employee should have at least one plane ride. She got her first, clad in a fur-lined flight suit, leather helmet and goggles, in an open cockpit plane.

But this was a mistake, she said, because through a large hole in the floorboard she could see whitecaps as they skimmed over the ocean.

Truckers Again Elect Bay Area Official

CHICAGO (AP) — William G. White, president of Consolidated Freightways, Inc., of San Francisco, yesterday was re-elected vice president of the American Trucking Association.

White has headed Consolidated since 1960. He is recognized as a labor relations leader in the trucking industry and served as first chairman of Trucking Employers, Inc.

Stock Market Closes Higher; Trade Active

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market closed higher today in active trading.

Rheem sagged about 3 points as rumors of the latest tender offer were denied.

Republic Corp. advanced about 3 and McDonnell Douglas about 2.

Chrysler gained a fraction after a report of higher earnings. All the other leading auto stocks tacked on fractions. Steels were mixed with Bethlehem down more than a point following the Wednesday news of its drop in profits.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

New Club Given Advice On Good Beginning Firms

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. We are organizing an investment club and I'm suggesting the following: Allen Industries, American Cyanamid, Ramada Inns. We're interested primarily in growth. What do you think? B. D.

A. I wish you the best of luck with your new club and I will be happy to try to help you. You have picked three good stocks for investment, but I consider only one of them suitable for your objective. Allen Industries is largely a supplier for the automobile business. It has had a good earnings record, subject to cyclical variations, but it is an income rather than a growth issue. These two elements rarely go together and Allen's relatively high yield is a good indication of the market's lack of enthusiasm about future earnings expansion. American Cyanamid is a high-grade issue which has slowed down considerably due in part to price reductions in the Lederle Drug division. Earnings will probably be lower this year and I think you should look elsewhere for appreciation. I like Ramada, which is relatively young but growing in the motel business, and I recommend this stock. In place of the others, I suggest Walgren and Gillette — which have been building enviable records.

Q. I bought Xerox and it went down considerably. I was told that earnings would be down in the second half of 1967. I am in my 40s and interested in growth. I don't want to sell if there is hope of recovery. What do you advise? A. C.

A. You own a highflier, a growth issue, selling at so lofty a multiple that it is extremely sensitive to the slightest earnings change. Profits did slow down in the second quarter but Wall Street is beginning to talk about resumption of growth and the shares have rebounded. I believe they will get back to your purchase price and when they do I would switch them into Bristol-Myers — if you want fast growth with less volatility.

Second-Rank Steel Firm's Earnings Off

BETHLEHEM, Pa. (AP) — Bethlehem Steel Co. announced today its earnings for the first nine months of 1967 fell $48 million below the same period of a year ago.

Bethlehem, the nation's No. 2 steelmaker, announced three quarter earnings for 1967 were $89,202,000, or $1.94 a share, compared with $137,398,000 or $2.99 a share for the same 1966 period.

Bethlehem reported net sales for 1967's first three quarters were $1,957,664,000, compared to $2,029,954,000.

The board of directors, meeting in San Francisco, declared a dividend of 37½ cents a share on the common, payable Dec. 11 to stockholders of record Nov. 9.

Edmund Martin, board chairman, said no further dividend action would be considered until the January meeting of the board. This means the total dividend for 1967 will be $1.50 a share, compared with $1.80 paid in 1966.

OTHER PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

By HARRY CRAFT

Nationally Known Innovator Opens Red Hill Drape Shop

Owner Yasha Susoev, a resident of San Anselmo, specializes in window dercoations for homes and commercial establishments. An interior decorator and manufacturer of Austrian and Roman shades for the past 12 years, he is nationally known as the originator of a special process used on Roman shades. He will continue these shade fabrications at Red Hill.

The shop is open from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Mondays through Saturdays.

EDWARD J. GALLAGHER of San Rafael, assistant controller for the Di Giorgio Corp. in San Francisco, has become a member of the San Francisco chapter of the National Association of Accountants.

A CONFERENCE for businesswomen will be held Nov. 3 and 4 at the Fairmont Hotel, San Francisco under sponsorship of the University of California Extension.

Mary Keyserling, director of the women's bureau of the U.S. Department of Labor, will address the meeting, which is open to women in management positions. Registration fee is $75. Information may be obtained from University Extension's Berkeley campus offices.

RECENTLY RELEASED by the United States Department of Commerce is the 1967 edition of the Statistical Abstract — issued annually since 1878. It is widely used as a reference book in business offices, libraries and even homes. The new edition contains data from 104 government agencies, 103 private organizations and four international organizations. For the first time a special section of statistical information is given for major metropolitan areas.

Copies are priced at $4 and may be obtained from field offices of the U.S. Department of Commerce in major cities or from the Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, Washington, D. C., 20402.

SAN FRANCISCO'S Imported Car Show will open Tuesday, Nov. 14, for a six-day run at Brooks Hall in the Civic Center. More than 150 cars are expected to be on display fromsix foreign countries and representing 25 automobile manufacturers, including many models making their U.S. introduction.

Several are handled by Marin foreign car dealers. I understand the new twin rotary cylinder Wankel, which Henry Koch of A and E Motors, San Rafael, has been hoping to get for a demonstration here, will be on display.

A NEW LAW adopted in California is a revision of the mechanics lien law, effective Nov. 8. It will help forestall many problems for the homeowner who is building or remodeling, that were associated with the old law.

Under the old mechanics lien law, not only was the general contractor able to obtain a judgment against the property owner for his work if he was not paid, but the contractor's suppliers and subcontractors had the same privilege.

The rub to the homeowner came if the contractor failed to pay his own bills to suppliers and subcontractors. The homeowner, even if he had no knowledge of such a default, became liable for the unpaid bills.

Now, the advance publicizing of all possible lien claimants will correct this. All persons and firms contributing to the work of improvement are required to file a notice describing their services within 20 days from commencing work. The notices must go to the owner, the general contractor and to the construction lender, if there is one.

In other words, no notice — no lien.

T. M. CHYMBUR
"Skeeters" For Walking On Lakes

Glass Container Prices Rising

TOLEDO — Owens-Illinois, Inc., with 15 plants on the Pacific Coast, reported it is raising the prices of most of the glass containers it makes, by 5 per cent effective Dec. 1.

Owens-Illinois will raise its prices for beer bottles on Feb. 1, 1968, although the size of the increase has not yet been determined.

Millions Change Hands At Novel Showplace For Inventors' Ideas

NEW YORK (AP) — Robert Chymbur has a pair of shoes that are four-feet long.

Chymbur calls them "skeeters". He invented them.

They were on exhibit here recently at the third annual International Inventors and New Products Exposition. The show has drawn some 1,200 inventors from 23 countries with 15,000 products, inventions, ideas and applications, ranging from digestible safety pins made of vegetable base that dissolve if swallowed to instant splints for unexpected bone breakings.

Roger Shashoua, 27-year-old president of Patent Exhibits, Inc., of New York and originator of the exposition, estimated that 95 per cent of those participating in the show were inventors who never had invented anything before in their lives.

"They're plumbers, mailmen, carpenters, almost anything," Shashoua says, "who get an idea they think will improve things. They develop it and then they bring it here in hope of finding a manufacturer."

How many do connect?

"At last year's show, manufacturers paid out about $8.5 million to buy various inventions and ideas," he says. "This year we're expecting the figure to hit $20 million."

Chymbur , a Santa Monica, waiter who uses his free time to invent, said he spent four years developing his water shoes. But the idea had been with him since boyhood.

Chymbur, who hopes to interest a manufacturer in his invention, said the water shoes are made of a buoyant material with louvres mounted beneath the surface to give traction "so you can slide along."

Not too far from Chymbur, Robert L. Thomas of East Point, Ga., exhibited a "personal ashtray"—a device that permits a person to smoke without having to look around for an ashtray.

The device basically is a long tube into which a cigarette is inserted after being lit. As the cigarette is consumed its ashes fall into the tube. When the smoker is done, a slide at the top of the tube is closed and the cigarette puts itself out.

The closed tube can be put into the pocket and carried about with its load of ashes until it is convenient to empty it.

A machine that will punch out three dozen cookies or doughnuts, shaped and ready for the oven, was exhibited by Charles Downing of Janesville, Wis.

"The average small baker does his shaping by hand," said Downing, a former baker. "This machine will put him in competition with the large bakeries" which use machinery.

Downing, whose "automatic baker's machine" measures four feet by four feet, said, "all a baker has to do is push this button, feed in his dough and out it comes ready for baking."

First Woman In Airlines To Bow Out

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The first woman to be employed in America's airline industry, Bernice Johnson, retires this week after more than 41 years of service with United Air Lines.

Miss Johnson started in 1926 as a secretary with Pacific Air Transport. Her last job has been with the successor company as secretary to Belford Brown, United's vice president of corporate affairs.

Back in 1926 her boss said any employee should have at least one plane ride. She got her first, clad in a fur-lined flight suit, leather helmet and goggles, in an open cockpit plane.

Miss Johnson said she was petrified on the 20-minute flight and kept her head down.

But this was a mistake, she said, because through a large hole in the floorboard she could see whitecaps as they skimmed over the ocean.

Truckers Again Elect Bay Area Official

CHICAGO (AP) — William G. White, president of Consolidated Freightways, Inc., of San Francisco, yesterday was re-elected vice president of the American Trucking Association.

White has headed Consolidated since 1960. He is recognized as a labor relations leader in the trucking industry and served as first chairman of Trucking Employers, Inc.

Stock Market Closes Higher; Trade Active

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market closed higher today in active trading.

Gains exceeded losers by a fair margin and the averages made moderate gains.

The action was in glamor stocks again.

The market rose from the start and remained generally ahead, despite profit taking in some high flyers.

Sperry Rand paced the list on volume, showing a fractional loss. Other growth stocks prominent in yesterday's market took losses. Xerox lost more than 2 and Polaroid 1.

Rheem sagged about 3 points as rumors of the latest tender offer were denied.

Republic Corp. advanced about 3 and McDonnell Douglas about 2.

Chrysler gained a fraction after a report of higher earnings. All the other leading auto stocks tacked on fractions. Steels were mixed with Bethlehem down more than a point following the Wednesday news of its drop in profits.

International Telephone advanced more than 2. American Smelting was a 2-point loser.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

New Club Given Advice On Good Beginning Firms

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. We are organizing an investment club and I'm suggesting the following: Allen Industries, American Cyanamid, Ramada Inns. We're interested primarily in growth. What do you think? B. D.

A. I wish you the best of luck with your new club and I will be happy to try to help you. You have picked three good stocks for investment, but I consider only one of them suitable for your objective. Allen Industries is largely a supplier for the automobile business. It has had a good earnings record, subject to cyclical variations, but it is an income rather than a growth issue. These two elements rarely go together and Allen's relatively high yield is a good indication of the market's lack of enthusiasm about future earnings expansion. American Cyanamid is a high-grade issue which has slowed down considerably due in part to price reductions in the Lederle Drug division. Earnings will probably be lower this year and I think you should look elsewhere for appreciation. I like Ramada, which is relatively young but growing in the motel business, and I recommend this stock. In place of the others, I suggest Walgren and Gillette — which have been building enviable records.

Q. I bought Xerox and it went down considerably. I was told that earnings would be down in the second half of 1967. I am in my 40s and interested in growth. I don't want to sell if there is hope of recovery. What do you advise? A. C.

A. You own a highflier, a growth issue, selling at so lofty a multiple that it is extremely sensitive to the slightest earnings change. Profits did slow down in the second quarter but Wall Street is beginning to talk about resumption of growth and the shares have rebounded. I believe they will get back to your purchase price and when they do I would switch them into Bristol-Myers — if you want fast growth with less volatility.

Second-Rank Steel Firm's Earnings Off

BETHLEHEM, Pa. (AP) — Bethlehem Steel Co. announced today its earnings for the first nine months of 1967 fell $48 million below the same period of a year ago.

Bethlehem, the nation's No. 2 steelmaker, announced three quarter earnings for 1967 were $89,202,000, or $1.94 a share, compared with $137,398,000 or $2.99 a share for the same 1966 period.

Bethlehem reported net sales for 1967's first three quarters were $1,957,664,000, compared to $2,029,954,000.

The board of directors, meeting in San Francisco, declared a dividend of 37½ cents a share on the common, payable Dec. 11 to stockholders of record Nov. 9.

Edmund Martin, board chairman, said no further dividend action would be considered until the January meeting of the board. This means the total dividend for 1967 will be $1.50 a share, compared with $1.80 paid in 1966.

Year-Around 'Witches' Sabbath' On Highways

Halloween vandalism, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica, stems from the "witches' Sabbath" of medieval times, when worshippers of Satan greeted witches flying on broomsticks — and accompanied by black cats — to their feast on the eve of All Saints Day.

Halloween pranks, according to this tradition, are the kind of things witches and goblins would do. And the masks and costumes of youngsters out for "trick or treat" date back to those worn by practitioners of the black art of witchcraft in a time of rampant superstitution.

There have been great efforts in recent years to give Halloween a different aspect, to replace vandalism with wholesome fun. It has worked, to great extent. The youngster who shouts "trick or treat" when you answer the door next Tuesday night will be repeating an ancient formula without much meaning: he has no plan to do a destructive "trick" if you do not treat.

BUT THE DESTRUCTION by Halloween vandals, even at its worst a half century ago, never approached another kind of destruction that continues the year around: that of the automobile on streets and highways.

According to National Safety Council figures, 1,000 persons are killed each week in traffic in the United States. Each day, more than 10,000 people are injured in auto crashes.

Highways are engineered to be "safe" at greater speeds. Various safety features are incorporated into new cars—along with more powerful engines.

Politicians, rightly concerned over the loss of American lives in Vietnam, pay scant heed to the greater loss of life on highways in our own country.

A RESEARCH TEAM at Stanford Research Institute has come up with a simple — but drastic — proposal for cutting this toll in half.

The suggested action: reduce daytime speed limits by 20 per cent and nighttime speed limits by 40 per cent.

THE SRI TEAM SCOUTS the frequent contention of others who study traffic statistics that speed is not the real key to accident deaths. Quoting National Safety Council figures, SRI shows that the fatality rate per accident rises at just about the square of the rate of speed above 40 miles per hour. In other words, though accidents do not increase faster than the speed, the deaths in them do.

Goen estimates that a 20 per cent reduction in daytime speed limits and 40 per cent in nighttime limits — IF ENFORCED — would save 33,000 lives per year. That's at present highway congestion figures.

AND IF NOTHING is done, says the SRI study, the traffic death rate within 20 years will be 200,000 per year — four times the present rate.

Questions And Answers On U.S. Bombing Of North Vietnam

WASHINGTON — Question — What are the facts behind the conclusion that the bombing of North Vietnam is achieving its purposes?

The purposes are (a) to deny the enemy a sanctuary, (b) to exact a penalty for his actions against South Vietnam, (c) to limit the flow or increase the cost of infiltrating men and materiel.

ANSWER — The bombing has severely curtailed North Vietnam's industrial and agricultural production. This appreciably weakens its war-making capacity.

Examples: Now out of production are the only modern cement plant, the only metallurgical plant, the only explosives plant, and 80 per cent of the nation's central electrical power generating capacity.

Last year because of the weather and the indirect effects of the bombing, North Vietnam's rice crop dropped 300,000 metric tons and it is beginning to show up short again this year.

North Vietnam is losing crucially needed foreign exchange because the bombing has cut the production of coal in half. Phosphate exports have virtually ceased; both were previously sold abroad in quantity.

THE CONSEQUENCE is to increase radically North Vietnam's need for foreign aid to sustain her war effort and her economy at minimum levels. Imports went up 2,000 metric tons a day in 1965 and are double that this year. Hanoi has to ask the Soviet Union to increase its aid from $100 million to $700 million annually.

Bombing is continuing to divert up to 600,000 workers to defend against it or to repair and re-repair the damage — a manpower pool which would otherwise be available either for production or for the army.

It has caused the damage or destruction of about 5,000 freight cars, 8,000 trucks, and 19,000 watercraft.

It has increased substantially the number of men and tons which must be dispatched from the North to get one man and one ton into South Vietnam.

All this has been accomplished at relatively little cost in North Vietnamese civilian casualties — far fewer than the South Vietnamese civilian casualties by the Viet Cong—and with loss rates of U.S. planes many times lower than in World War II and Korea.

QUESTION — How are additional targets selected?

Answer — Except for a few which are avoided so as not to bring Red China or the Soviet Union into the war, the most lucrative targets are being bombed.

Targets are approved on the basis of these factors: new construction, new intelligence, a balancing of the military gains against the military risks (to pilots and planes), and the factor of Chinese or Soviet intervention. We refrain from bombing the dikes because it would subject civilians to starvation.

U.S. bombing is limited because U.S. objectives are limited — to preventing Communist expansion-by-force from taking over South Vietnam contrary to the Geneva accords.

The U.S. seeks no wider war. The U.S. does not seek to destroy the North Vietnamese regime, nor to unseat Ho Chi Minh. It does not intend to invade or occupy North Vietnam.

Big Charge, Small Bag In Liquor 'Crackdown'

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — There are some elements in the liquor industry in California who are grumbling that it is about time for Edward J. Kirby, director of the Department of Alcoholic Beverage Control, to put up or shut up.

They're referring to an announcement of Kirby's about four months ago that he was conducting a full-scale investigation of illegal practices in the industry. At the time, Kirby and his aides said the probe would be completed in about 30 days and some arrests could be expected.

Since then, arrests have been "imminent" or expected in a couple of weeks, but none has been made.

IT IS TRUE that Kirby filed accusations against a brewery and a large beer wholesaler in Los Angeles County, on charges of giving illegal rebates. And he filed charges against a San Francisco liquor winery on charges of giving ilwinery on chages of giving illegal discounts and illegal free goods.

But the industry, primarily the wholesalers, do not feel this quite has backed up the shotgun inference make by Kirby that there was illegal trafficking in liquor. They feel a cloud has been cast over the industry by his statements and that either some arrests should be made or Kirby should report he has been unable to find evidence of the wrong-doing.

The strongest charge Kirby made in his announcement of several months ago, and has repeated since then, is that wholesalers were bringing in liquor from Nevada or Arizona without paying the state tax. The wholesalers then would give the liquor to retailers, or their representatives, as illegal free goods in order to keep their accounts, the department indicated.

AT ONE TIME Gordon C. Luce, who is administrator of the Business and Transportation Agency, of whoch the Department of Alcoholic Beverage Control is a part, said the state may have lost from $2 to $3 million in taxes because of these illegal transactions.

The amount of liquor involved in $2 or $3 million in state taxes is considerable. At the state tax of $1.50 per gallon — it has been increased to $2 but the lower rate was in effect during the period covered by the departmental charges — this would amount to some 580,000 cases of liquor for $2 million in taxes. A total of $3 million in taxes would involve some 830,000 cases.

Wholesalers say the records of wholesale purchases in Nevada and Arizona do not begin to reflect this kind of an increase in volume.

In 1962, I was hired to do a special casework project at the Juvenile Hall which led to the formation of the Family Rehabilitation Center. I am now required to watch it die and be buried.

The only question that comes to my mind is "who cares?" I know who cares about the dollars and cents, the dirt or lack of it, the discipline and all the other superficial things. What I haven't heard is who cares about the 47 kids and their one hundred odd parents who have been in the program the past three years. Some of these kids haven't made it. Many have. But, who cares? There are those who think a family's well-being or lack of it can be written on a piece of paper and counted, and a dollar and cents value placed on it. I hope you never have the misfortune to become a statistic in a budget. If you do, who is going to care? Who cares if a program to help disturbed people is attacked? Who cares enough to see that it has an opportunity to defend itself? Who cares about the effect the attack has on 12 kids? Who cares about the civil rights of the staff members? Who cares if report after report distorts and tells half-truths? Who cares if the investigators only see one side of the story and refuse to look at the other? Who cares if an upset teenager has someone to talk to? Who cares if a distraught parent asks for help? Who cares if a group of delinquent kids want to change?

For five years I have cared and the staff at Family Rehabilitation Center have cared. For three years I have lived under the false assumption that this community cares. I have been grieviously wrong.

Our kids often say, "Don't get involved. You'll just get hurt and it ain't worth it." For five years I've tried to show them a different way. Today I think they may be right.

Muir Beach Offers Real Advantages

Editor, Independent-Journal:

At times I feel the state acquires land for recreational purposes much as a millionaire acquires money. That is, if you have more money (acres) you will be happier. The fallacy in both cases is the same — it is not how much you have, rather the meaningful use it is put to.

Muir Beach is a classic case in point. More people use this beach in one day than will use some of the state's "bargain acres" in a thousand years. Why? Because it's close and easy to get to; it's beautiful; it's the only truly safe ocean bathing beach within 50 miles, and because, well because it's just a nice place to spend a day.

And yet, for some unknown reason, the state has never shown any real interest in Muir Beach. In fact, until recently it was on their lowest acquisition priority. It was only after our local high school kids started a campaign to save it, and a very generous lady donated half of the $250,000 purchase price (if this isn't the will of the people speaking, what is?) that the state showed any desire for ownership at all. Even this was apparently not enough for they are balking now over the purchase price and we may never see Muir Beach as our own. Doesn't the state know a bargain when it sees one or don't the right people own the property?

I myself would much rather have one acre for $10,000 that I can get to and use, than 1,000 acres which cost the same but I shall never see.

Demonstrations Aid Only Communism

Editor, Independent-Journal:

"Police brutality" charges are rampant in the current demonstrations and protests against United States involvement in Vietnam at the Oakland Armed Forces Induction Center.

Let's put the show on the other foot! What about the "civil rights" of the inductees and personnel that must have ingress and egress to a building? And don't forget other citizen pedestrian and street traffic whose freedom of movement if impeded by these misfits and irresponsibles.

It is a known tactic of international communism to undermine constituted law-enforcement authorities. Communist adherents and dupes are schooled in methods of intimidating law enforcement. It is their aim to humiliate, exasperate and provoke the law-enforcement officer in an affort to prevent his judicious and calm enforcement of the laws he is to uphold.

The only purpose these demonstrations serve is to satisfy the evil forces of communism by dividing the people non-intellectual world. If a bat- and creating mob violence.

If our republic is to survive, sane citizens will choose the ballot box and/or petition Congress rather than anarchy.

Blood Donations Not For Vietnam

Editor, Independent-Journal:

We wish to thank you for the story which appeared in the Oct. 18 issue of the Independent-Journal captioned, "Blood Drive Set by Young GOP for GIs In Asia."

We would, however,like to correct the impression that our blook bank provides blood for servicememn in Vietnam. The whole blood needs of the woulded in Vietnam are adequately being met by military personnel overs3as, and our blood bank and other blood drawing facilities in the United States are not currently being called upon to procure blood for this purpose.

Our blood bank serves the blood needs of military hospitals in our area, such as the Hamilton Air Force Base, Letterman General and Travis Air Force Base Hospitals. The latter two hospitals care for some of the wounded returned from Vietnam. The blood so generously donated by the Young Republicans is being credited to the YR Blood Reserve Fund for release to the hospitals mentioned above.

Spending Control Bill Gathers Dust

By EDMOND LeBRETON

WASHINGTON (AP) —During all the recent congressional thunder about government spending and how it might be controlled, legislation with interesting possibilities — and important connections — has been slumbering unnoticed.

Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., introduced it June 5 after he expressed concern about government continuing to add new programs without studying all its undertakings to determine whether some might now be ripe for phasing out.

THE BILL WOULD create a commission of 12 private citizens to "make a full and complete study and evaluation of existing federal programs and activities, old and new, and of projected expansions." It would be directed to report on the effectiveness of each program in terms of costs, whether each should be continued, and which should have priority in assignment of federal funds.

While the commission in some ways would resemble the Hoover commissions that studied the organization of government and made recommendations for improvements, there would be a significant difference. Unlike the Hoover commissions, the proposed new one would contain no officials, from either the legislative or executive branch.

MILLS' SPEECH and introduction of the bill should have been notice to the administration that Mills, while chairman of the tax-writing Ways and Means Committee, was thinking more and more in terms of holding down spending and the general growth of government.

Yet the administration showed every evidence of surprise nearly four months later when Mills, as his committee pigeonholed the tax increase bill, said the price for a tax raise was not only an immediate spending cut but a hold-down on spending programs later.

The commission measure attracted comparatively little attention, but several members of the House and Sen. William E. Proxmire, D-Wis., chairman of the Joint Economic Committee, introduced identical or similar measures.

Proxmire has been a consistent opponent of the tax increase and advocate of reducing government outlays during the current fiscal stringency.

PROPONENTS of the commission said it offered a way out of the apparently insoluble difficulties Congress always finds itself in when it tries to make choices itself about programs to phase out or proposed new ones to encourage.

The interests involved rally around programs and the pressures mount until it is tempting to take the easy way out and add on without paring off. An impartial, strictly non-political commission would be a handy thing to lean on.

But the administration showed no interest in backing the proposal — in sharp contrast to former President Harry S. Truman's backing of the commissions headed by Hoover.

Referred to the Government Operations Committee, the bill has gathered dust. Mills has not pressed for action. He has told associates he does not want to give the impression that his stand on the tax bill is merely a plot to get a pet measure passed.

But it seems possible that if a compromise to develop a spending reduction program and revive the tax bill is ever worked out, Mills' long-range plan may figure in it.

Demonstrations Aid Only Communism

Editor, Independent-Journal:

"Police brutality" charges are rampant in the current demonstrations and protests against United States involvement in Vietnam at the Oakland Armed Forces Induction Center.

Let's put the show on the other foot! What about the "civil rights" of the inductees and personnel that must have ingress and egress to a building? And don't forget other citizen pedestrian and street traffic whose freedom of movement if impeded by these misfits and irresponsibles.

It is a known tactic of international communism to undermine constituted law-enforcement authorities. Communist adherents and dupes are schooled in methods of intimidating law enforcement. It is their aim to humiliate, exasperate and provoke the law-enforcement officer in an affort to prevent his judicious and calm enforcement of the laws he is to uphold.

The only purpose these demonstrations serve is to satisfy the evil forces of communism by dividing the people non-intellectual world. If a bat- and creating mob violence.

If our republic is to survive, sane citizens will choose the ballot box and/or petition Congress rather than anarchy.

Blood Donations Not For Vietnam

Editor, Independent-Journal:

We wish to thank you for the story which appeared in the Oct. 18 issue of the Independent-Journal captioned, "Blood Drive Set by Young GOP for GIs In Asia."

We would, however,like to correct the impression that our blook bank provides blood for servicememn in Vietnam. The whole blood needs of the woulded in Vietnam are adequately being met by military personnel overs3as, and our blood bank and other blood drawing facilities in the United States are not currently being called upon to procure blood for this purpose.

Our blood bank serves the blood needs of military hospitals in our area, such as the Hamilton Air Force Base, Letterman General and Travis Air Force Base Hospitals. The latter two hospitals care for some of the wounded returned from Vietnam. The blood so generously donated by the Young Republicans is being credited to the YR Blood Reserve Fund for release to the hospitals mentioned above.

Spending Control Bill Gathers Dust

By EDMOND LeBRETON

WASHINGTON (AP) —During all the recent congressional thunder about government spending and how it might be controlled, legislation with interesting possibilities — and important connections — has been slumbering unnoticed.

Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., introduced it June 5 after he expressed concern about government continuing to add new programs without studying all its undertakings to determine whether some might now be ripe for phasing out.

THE BILL WOULD create a commission of 12 private citizens to "make a full and complete study and evaluation of existing federal programs and activities, old and new, and of projected expansions." It would be directed to report on the effectiveness of each program in terms of costs, whether each should be continued, and which should have priority in assignment of federal funds.

Four members would be appointed each by the President, the speaker of the House and the president pro-tempore of the Senate.

While the commission in some ways would resemble the Hoover commissions that studied the organization of government and made recommendations for improvements, there would be a significant difference. Unlike the Hoover commissions, the proposed new one would contain no officials, from either the legislative or executive branch.

MILLS' SPEECH and introduction of the bill should have been notice to the administration that Mills, while chairman of the tax-writing Ways and Means Committee, was thinking more and more in terms of holding down spending and the general growth of government.

Yet the administration showed every evidence of surprise nearly four months later when Mills, as his committee pigeonholed the tax increase bill, said the price for a tax raise was not only an immediate spending cut but a hold-down on spending programs later.

The commission measure attracted comparatively little attention, but several members of the House and Sen. William E. Proxmire, D-Wis., chairman of the Joint Economic Committee, introduced identical or similar measures.

Proxmire has been a consistent opponent of the tax increase and advocate of reducing government outlays during the current fiscal stringency.

PROPONENTS of the commission said it offered a way out of the apparently insoluble difficulties Congress always finds itself in when it tries to make choices itself about programs to phase out or proposed new ones to encourage.

The interests involved rally around programs and the pressures mount until it is tempting to take the easy way out and add on without paring off. An impartial, strictly non-political commission would be a handy thing to lean on.

But the administration showed no interest in backing the proposal — in sharp contrast to former President Harry S. Truman's backing of the commissions headed by Hoover.

Referred to the Government Operations Committee, the bill has gathered dust. Mills has not pressed for action. He has told associates he does not want to give the impression that his stand on the tax bill is merely a plot to get a pet measure passed.

But it seems possible that if a compromise to develop a spending reduction program and revive the tax bill is ever worked out, Mills' long-range plan may figure in it.

Marchers On Capitol Mere Band Of Nihilist Raiders

In 1814, some 4,000 British troops marched on Washington and burnt the capitol. They then proceeded to Baltimore, where they were repulsed. And Francis Scott Key, anxiously watching the all-night shelling of Fort McHenry, saw by the dawn's early light that our flag was still flying and gave thanks in the immortal verses of "The Star-Spangled Banner."

But last Saturday, a hostile force of 50,000, some waving the banner of North Vietnam, likewise invaded Washington. And, though the capitol remained intact this time, to many it seemed that the flag had been lowered as a sign of surrender to the nihilist raiders.

Lest you think that last term a mere epithet, the dictionary defines nihilism as "a doctrine or belief that conditions in the social organization are so bad as to make destruction desirable for its own sake, independent of any constructive program."

ISN'T THAT PRECISELY what our dissidents have been preaching — and acting on — in the long, hot summers of recent years? And haven't they been backed by the self-styled elite of our colleges and churches, and even by some officeholders sworn to uphold the law? We have let them sow the wind of permissiveness — and we now reap the whirlwind.

The fatal week began ominously with a series of nation-wide riots against constitutional authority. And the news media noted that 58 Marines had died in a Viet Cong ambush that very day.

Now we have had honest and vigorous dissent about going to war before. But once our boys were in battle, we have felt it our duty, hawk or dove, to close ranks. Even conscientious objectors who cannot bring themselves to bear arms volunteer for the Medical Corps, not the safest place these days.

HERETOFORE, THE RIGHT to dissent never included the right to interfere with shipping war materiel to our troops; in World War II, there were no pleas that we stop bombing Germany lest it only stiffen Hitler's resistance; and I shudder to think what would have happened if any peaceniks — however sincere — had marched on Washington waving the flag of Japan while our men were dying in Bataan and Corregidor.

But this is a different breed, these nihilists who cite the Constitution to prove they may march anywhere, any time, in defiance of laws the rest of us obey. The Constitution also mentions insuring "domestic tranquility," but that's only in the preamble and doesn't count.

CURIOUSLY, THE PROFESSORS and students among them who feel they owe their nation nothing are the loudest of those who argue the government owes them a free education —and a good job afterward. One with tenure, of course.

Elite or not, in a demonstration they exhibit the same unreasoning characteristic of any other mob. Shakespeare depicted them superbly in the Roman mob that set out to lynch Cinna the conspirator, but settled for tearing to pieces Cinna the poet, if only for his bad verses.

For — whether or not we should be in Vietnam — it wasn't the Pentagon which sent our boys there. It was John F. Kennedy — from the seat where the buck can't be passed — who sent the first American troops. And he did so against the advice of the military, who remembered Korea. War material, advisors, money, yes; but American soldiers, no.

Reporter James Reston, a close friend of the late President, tells of asking about that decision and says that JFK felt it necessary to show Khrushchev we meant business.

AT THAT TIME, interestingly, no public outcry came from three Administration men who now urge we get out. Where were Arthur Schlesinger, Ted Sorenson, and Bobby Kennedy then?

But the martyrdom of President Kennedy has thrown an aura about him that permits not the slightest questioning of his wisdom in liberal circles. And so other whipping boys must be found.

And so they were —though they were as blameless as Cinna the poet. And so the march to Washington.

But, even as the demonstration was going on, our commander-in-chief uttered no word of reproof. Instead, the President posed for pictures in his Rose Garden together with Hubert Humphrey, Orville Freeman and Averell Harriman. "The informality," writes a reporter, "suggested the President was trying to convey that he was unconcerned."

Well, maybe he isn't concerned. But heaven knows the rest of us are.

Government Paying Higher Interest Rate

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The government is now paying the highest long-term interest rates in 46 years—5¾ per cent—and expects to pay even more unless taxes are raised.

Treasury Undersecretary Frederick L. Deming said yesterday that the government would borrow $12.2 billion by issuing a 5¾ per cent note with a seven-year maturity, and a 5⅝ per cent note maturing in 15 months.

Cycle, Car Hit; Youth Injured

A 15-year-old Marin City youth was injured last night when his motorcycle was involved in a collision with an auto on Drake Avenue near Donohue Street in Marin City.

Wayne Howard of 99 Cole Drive was reported in good condition today in Marin General Hospital with scrapes and bruises.

California Highway Patrolman Donald A. Bevins said the youth turned into the path of a vehicle driven by John F. Hill, 32, of 69 Cole Drive. The accident happened about 10 p.m.

Svetlana Will Give $250,000 To Indian Town

NEW YORK (AP) — Svetlana Alliluyeva is giving her "small paradise on earth," Kalakankar, India, $250,000 for a hospital from the proceeds of her book describing the pleasures and pains of growing up as Stalin's daughter.

She contributed another $90,000 to groups aiding needy Russians and a Russian periodical here and abroad.

She took the ashes of her husband, Brajesh Singh, to his native Kalakankar—population 5,000—last Christmas Day and after 67 days there decided not to return to the Soviet Union. She came to this country after India refused her asylum.

Marin Building Shows September Upswing

Marin County joined in a general Bay Area trend last month with a large increase in the value of construction permits issued as compared both to last August and to September, 1966, Department of Commerce officials announced.

Total valuation of permits issued in September in Marin County for all types of construction was $4,520,000 as compared to $1,816,000 in September, 1966, and $3,381,000 in August, 1967.

In the unincorporated areas of the county permits were issued for $2,199,000 worth of construction. San Rafael led the cities in value of permits, with $631,000, followed by Novato, $558,000, and Mill Valley, $401,000.

An increase of 47 per cent in permit valuation over August and 65 per cent increase compared to September, 1966, was noted in the nine-county Bay Area, officials said.

However, only Marin, Alameda and San Francisco counties showed increases in residential construction as compared to August.

Hospital Expenses

ORLANDO, Fla. (UPI)—Two-thirds of the operating cost of a hospital goes for wages and salaries of personnel, according to a survey by the Florida Hospital Association. The association said this compares with only about one-third of the operating expenses of industry going to wages and salaries.

MEN, NOT WEAPONS, GENERAL'S BIG CONCERN

Western Air Defense Boss Works Closely With His Men

Army Maj. Gen. James R. Winn, who commands one of the world's most awesome arrays of modern weapons from his headquarters at Hamilton Air Force Base, is more concerned about the welfare of the men under him than the weapons at his command.

"It's men, not machines, that concern me the most," said the commander of the Western North American Air Defense Region, whose job is the protection of the Western United States and Canada from the Mexican to the Alaskan border. This vast area has 1,330,000 square miles, taking in 11 western states and two Canadian provinces, and 30,000,000 people.

"The machines all work, from phones to missiles. It's the men who have the pressures on them," he explained.

"I can't be beside every man all the time, so I want to have every confidence in the man who might have to push that button," General Winn said yesterday.

He spends 90 per cent of his time working with the men in his command, he said.

"If a man has family trouble that is worrying him, or financial trouble then he is not working at his best," the general said.

"I go to see the men and talk to their wives and kids when I visit the various posts in my command," he said. He has more than 100 posts in his command, he said.

"I want to see their living conditions, how far they have to commute to their jobs and everything that concerns their daily lives," he said.

If a man has to commute so far to his job that the driving makes him tired, then he tries to find closer quarters for the man, he said. "If a man has to drive a mountain road to reach a Nike or radar site, I want to drive that road to see what he has to go through," he said.

The general — who retains a trace of his native Kentucky accent — is a 1934 graduate of West Point. He has spent most of his military career in the artillery. He received his master's degree in physics from the University of California at Los Angeles in 1941.

MAJ. GEN. JAMES R. WINN
Men not machines

He saw action in Normandy, Northern France, the Rhineland, Ardennes and Central Europe in World War II. He was commander of the First Cavalry Division artillery in Korea in 1961 and a year later became the senior member of the United Nations Command Military Armistice Commission in Korea.

He switched from the artillery to the air command when he was named commanding general of the Second Region, Army Air Defense Command from 1963 to 1965. He was then made chief of the Joint U.S. Military Advisory Group in the Philippines, a position he held prior to coming to Hamilton.

"When I was told that I would be transfered to the West Coast, I looked over all of the commands and knew that it would not be Hamilton because General Chapman had just been commander for six months," General Winn said.

He was mistaken, because Army Maj. Gen. E. A. Chapman was made chief of staff of NORAD, headquartered at Colorado Springs, Colo. General Winn succeeded him at Hamilton.

Winn and his wife, Eleanor, were delightfully surprised by the assignment to Hamilton. "I wouldn't ask for any better assignment. It's a wonderful place to live," he said.

"There's no difference in commands at this level: It's basically keeping the men happy and satisfied with their jobs," he said.

In addition to his command of all air defense units in the Air Force, Army, Navy and National Guard, plus the Canadian counterparts, he is also commander of the Sixth Army Region with headquarters at Fort Baker.

"It's a helluva job for a horse artilleryman," he said with a chuckle.

South Viet's Draft Age Down To 18

SAIGON (AP) — Chief of State Nguyen Van Thieu lowered South Vietnam's minimum draft age from 21 to 18 and ordered deferments from the military service tightened in a decree of "partial mobilization" made public today.

The maximum draft age of 34 was retained.

The decree, which will go into effect Jan. 1, also made technicians 34 to 45 years old subject to the draft. Deferments for education, religious reasons, foreign travel, profession and civil service will be tightened, the decree said.

Deferments for reasons of health and for service in the police force or in rural cadres will continue as before. The partial mobilization will also affect veterans of previous service who are still within the draft age.

Link River in Klamath Falls, Ore, is believed to be the world's shortest completely in the corporate limits of a town.

Missile Site Fatigue Prompts Extra Crew

WASHINGTON (AP) — A fatigue factor has prompted the Air Force to add a third crewman to launch sites for the nation's latest land-based nuclear missile, sources report.

The Minuteman II, the Air Force found, requires three men to alternate at resting and carrying on the hour-by-hour checkouts of the missile's readiness, and other activities.

The Air Force, in response to questions, officially attributed the need for the additional officer to the greater sophistication of the 6,300-mile range intercontinental ballistic missile.

As the Air Force explained it, the Minuteman II, with preset directions to hit installations in the Soviet Union and China, "has more sophisticated computer and console equipment which requires more consistent monitoring by members of the missile combat crew."

There are 200 Minuteman II missiles stationed in hardened firing silos throughout the middle and northwest United States, along with 800 older Minuteman I launch sites each controlled by two officers.

The three-man crews spend 24-hour shifts in the missile hole, one sleeping while two work. The team consists of a missile combat crew commander, a deputy and an alternate commander ranking from lieutenant colonel down to lieutenant.

Brown Claims No Obligation

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Former California Gov. Edmund G. Brown says he doesn't consider a $62,000 deficit from his re-election campaign as a "personal obligation."

"I think all Democrats should help pay it off," Brown said after disclosing the debt Wednesday.

MEN, NOT WEAPONS, GENERAL'S BIG CONCERN

MAJ. GEN. JAMES R. WINN

Army Maj. Gen. James R. Winn, who commands one of the world's most awesome arrays of modern weapons from his headquarters at Hamilton Air Force Base, is more concerned about the welfare of the men under him than the weapons at his command.

"It's men, not machines, that concern me the most," said the commander of the Western North American Air Defense Region, whose job is the protection of the Western United States and Canada from the Mexican to the Alaskan border. This vast area has 1,330,000 square miles, taking in 11 western states and two Canadian provinces, and 30,000,000 people.

"The machines all work, from phones to missiles. It's the men who have the pressures on them," he explained.

"I can't be beside every man all the time, so I want to have every confidence in the man who might have to push that button," General Winn said yesterday.

He spends 90 per cent of his time working with the men in his command, he said.

"If a man has family trouble that is worrying him, or financial trouble then he is not working at his best," the general said.

"I go to see the men and talk to their wives and kids when I visit the various posts in my command," he said. He has more than 100 posts in his command, he said.

"I want to see their living conditions, how far they have to commute to their jobs and everything that concerns their daily lives," he said.

If a man has to commute so far to his job that the driving makes him tired, then he tries to find closer quarters for the man, he said. "If a man has to drive a mountain road to reach a Nike or radar site, I want to drive that road to see what he has to go through," he said.

The general — who retains a trace of his native Kentucky accent — is a 1934 graduate of West Point. He has spent most of his military career in the artillery. He received his master's degree in physics from the University of California at Los Angeles in 1941.

He saw action in Normandy, Northern France, the Rhineland, Ardennes and Central Europe in World War II. He was commander of the First Cavalry Division artillery in Korea in 1961 and a year later became the senior member of the United Nations Command Military Armistice Commission in Korea.

He switched from the artillery to the air command when he was named commanding general of the Second Region, Army Air Defense Command from 1963 to 1965. He was then made chief of the Joint U.S. Military Advisory Group in the Philippines, a position he held prior to coming to Hamilton.

"When I was told that I would be transfered to the West Coast, I looked over all of the commands and knew that it would not be Hamilton because General Chapman had just been commander for six months," General Winn said.

He was mistaken, because Army Maj. Gen. E. A. Chapman was made chief of staff of NORAD, headquartered at Colorado Springs, Colo. General Winn succeeded him at Hamilton.

Winn and his wife, Eleanor, were delightfully surprised by the assignment to Hamilton. "I wouldn't ask for any better assignment. It's a wonderful place to live," he said.

"There's no difference in commands at this level: It's basically keeping the men happy and satisfied with their jobs," he said.

In addition to his command of all air defense units in the Air Force, Army, Navy and National Guard, plus the Canadian counterparts, he is also commander of the Sixth Army Region with headquarters at Fort Baker.

South Viet's Draft Age Down To 18

SAIGON (AP) — Chief of State Nguyen Van Thieu lowered South Vietnam's minimum draft age from 21 to 18 and ordered deferments from the military service tightened in a decree of "partial mobilization" made public today.

The maximum draft age of 34 was retained.

The decree, which will go into effect Jan. 1, also made technicians 34 to 45 years old subject to the draft. Deferments for education, religious reasons, foreign travel, profession and civil service will be tightened, the decree said.

Deferments for reasons of health and for service in the police force or in rural cadres will continue as before. The partial mobilization will also affect veterans of previous service who are still within the draft age.

Link River in Klamath Falls, Ore, is believed to be the world's shortest completely in the corporate limits of a town.

Missile Site Fatigue Prompts Extra Crew

WASHINGTON (AP) — A fatigue factor has prompted the Air Force to add a third crewman to launch sites for the nation's latest land-based nuclear missile, sources report.

The Minuteman II, the Air Force found, requires three men to alternate at resting and carrying on the hour-by-hour checkouts of the missile's readiness, and other activities.

The Air Force, in response to questions, officially attributed the need for the additional officer to the greater sophistication of the 6,300-mile range intercontinental ballistic missile.

As the Air Force explained it, the Minuteman II, with preset directions to hit installations in the Soviet Union and China, "has more sophisticated computer and console equipment which requires more consistent monitoring by members of the missile combat crew."

There are 200 Minuteman II missiles stationed in hardened firing silos throughout the middle and northwest United States, along with 800 older Minuteman I launch sites each controlled by two officers.

The three-man crews spend 24-hour shifts in the missile hole, one sleeping while two work. The team consists of a missile combat crew commander, a deputy and an alternate commander ranking from lieutenant colonel down to lieutenant.

Brown Claims No Obligation

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Former California Gov. Edmund G. Brown says he doesn't consider a $62,000 deficit from his re-election campaign as a "personal obligation."

"I think all Democrats should help pay it off," Brown said after disclosing the debt Wednesday.
